Santa visits 'Jingle Paws'

Santa Claus was last seen in El Cajon this past weekend when he made a stop at Jingle Paws Walk at Wells Park. This event was sponsored by the ACES Foundation and benefits the El Cajon Animal Shelter. Pictured with Santa are Patti Claassen and her dog "Jazzi." Claassen owns a business called Golden Paws Bakery, offering bakery items for our canine companions. Claassen was one of many vendors that attended the Jingle Paws holiday event." For more information visit www.acesfoundation.org. Keep an eye on the Gazette for "Santa Watch" as we will let our readers know where Santa has been spotted in East County. Photo credit: Monica Zech

Local artists a good resource for holiday gift giving

by Diana Saenger

For those looking for unique holiday gifts three local artists might be a place to start. Roberta Henson, Joann Sandlin and Gallatin Warfield, are three such artists that exhibited their work at a recent art show at Westfield Parkway Plaza.

Henson is a native of San Diego. She was initially interested in art in junior high school but was told her by her teacher he'd give her an A if she never did any more. That didn't stop Henson's creative mind as an adult, nor did raising a huge family including 17 adopted children or 54 surgeries. Henson took classes, did a lot of doodling and sewing and eventually earned a college degree in commercial graphic design. But her work lends itself more to fine art, said Henson who loves to get kids involved in creating and works with a lot of local groups including the Girl Scouts. Her work was a finalist for the Smithsonian National Postage Stamp Contest.

Her work has been shown at the La Jolla Art Association, Spanish Village, WOW Art Show, Carlsbad/Coal Gallery, Del Mar/San Diego County Fair and in a variety of local businesses and shops. She's a member of several local art associations.

Henson's work is unique – combining drawings, mats, and actual material or other elements to create one-of-a-kind pieces. Masks are a large part of her work. Her ideas, she said, come from, "Everywhere. Sometimes I'm just sitting around the house and get an idea and go with it."

The appeal of her work has summoned lots of positive response. "Everywhere I go I get invited to show my work," Henson said. "I love being my own boss and being able to do what I want to do without being judged. I am really out-of-the-box and happy with the end product."

Henson's work is currently on display at St Clair Gallery in El Cajon and she has some smaller pieces there priced at $50 that are perfect for holiday gifts. For more about Henson visit her website at www.queen-of-arts.org or email her at rlerol@msm.com

Joann Sandlin began a serious pursuit of art after retiring as a professor from San Diego State University. Her artwork extends from soft, realistic oil paintings to bold, non-representational mixed media. Her oil painting technique reflects admiration of the French impressionists while her subject matter shows her love of people from around the world. Her primary themes are Southwest, Native American, people of the world, and expressions of African art. All her work is characterized by close color harmony and a strong sense of composition.

Dr. Sandlin's artwork includes paintings, masks, jewelry and has received numerous local awards. Her work has been displayed by galleries in California and Arizona. The Smoki Museum in Prescott, Arizona owns eleven pieces in their permanent collection. Joann's artwork can be found in private collections throughout the U.S. and parts of Europe.

Sandlin said about creating her different forms of art, "It's wonderful after retirement to find another creative venue I can pursue full time. I enjoy the compliments when people buy my art or just stop to pause and pay me a nice compliment."

Sandlin's jewelry will be available starting next week at Glamour Girls Boutique, 124 East Main Street, El Cajon. For more info or to see Sandlin's work visit <http://www.joannsandlin.com/> several notable careers into others he finds equally if not more satisfying. Born in Baltimore, Maryland, he graduated from Princeton University and flew fighter jets with the Maryland National Guard for eight years. After graduating from the University of Maryland School of Law he was appointed Assistant Attorney General in the Maryland Attorney General's Office, and was later appointed Chief Felony Prosecutor where he served for 13 years.

After a stint as a private attorney, Warfield authored three legal thrillers published by Warner Books: State v. Justice, Silent Son and Raising Cane. Warfield then moved to Alpine and began writing screenplays receiving numerous credits including the CBS series Feds, and the Cable hit show Pensacola Wings of Gold. Warfield has traveled extensively throughout the world where an entire new hobby developed. He began capturing photos through his unique vision and perspective. Today his art is an outpouring of creativity combining photo images with verse engendering one thought - one presence - one reality - in each of his fine art presentations.

Warfield came about his unique and creative art by accident. "When I asked my wife, Judy, what she wanted on one special occasion, she replied something written by me especially for her," Warfield explained. "So I created a poem for her, and then afterward did a creative approach to one of my photos along with a verse. Then I started doing it for friends and now make them for sale."

His knack for combining visual art with literacy was instinctive and has opened new doors for Warfield. His work is requested in several unique areas in San Diego and he plans several exhibits in the new year. At his last showing he was voted Favorite Artist at a St Clair Gallery exhibit.

Warfield's work ranges from $39- $495 for signed limited editions. For the holiday he's offering customized art and verse for a family member, pet or someone special and has hundreds of artwork to choose from including subjects of nature, people, architectural, nautical and more. To contact Warfield email him at reflectionsbygallatinwarfield@yahoo.com

December Holiday Closures for the City Of El Cajon

The City of El Cajon has scheduled an extended holiday closure for December into the New Year's weekend. The closure is planned for City offices from Dec. 23, 2010, through Jan. 2, 2011, which includes City Hall, the Recreation Centers, the Public Works Yard and Fire Administration offices. Regular office hours will resume on Monday, January 3, 2011. In a cost saving measure, the City Council has requested and employees have agreed to use personal leave in conjunction with the previously approved City holidays. This will reduce compensated leave by approximately $125,000 while also reducing energy costs. Activity in neighborhood parks is relatively busy during the winter school break. To accommodate community needs, all neighborhood parks will remain accessible including outdoor restrooms (closed Dec. 25 and Jan. 1, 11). For those wishing to try out their new skates or skateboards - Kennedy Skatepark will also be open on Dec. 23, 26 through Dec. 30 and Jan. 2, 11 from 1 to 7 p.m. Wells Dog Park will be closed on Dec. 25 and Jan. 1, 11.

*These closures will not impact emergency services, such as police, fire and public works.

In an emergency, call 9-1-1. For all non-life threatening emergency needs, please call (619) 579-3311. Business itself is generally light during this time; however if you were planning to conduct City business during the holiday week, please plan ahead to conduct your business prior to December 23. We look forward to serving you in the New Year when City offices reopen on Monday, January 3, 2011!

Avoid holiday spending hangover

by Jason Alderman
At this time of year, many people over-indulge, whether it's overeating or drinking too much at holiday parties or spending too much on gifts and decorations. You'll regret the former the next morning; but with overspending you may not feel the hangover effect until the bills come due in January.

Here are a few tips for managing holiday expenses to avoid a holiday spending hangover:

Budgeting: Before spending a dime on holiday expenses, calculate how much you can afford relative to your overall budget. Many financial planners recommend spending no more than 1.5 percent of annual income on holiday expenses. Consider:

- Will your savings cover a few months' expenses in case of a layoff, unexpected medical bills or another financial emergency?

- Can you pay off all holiday-related bills within a couple of months?

- Do you already struggle to pay your monthly bills?

- Would you need to suspend retirement savings to buy gifts?

Scale back: Examine how much you've spent in past years and look for areas to trim. Consider: gifts for family, friends and coworkers; decorations; new clothes/accessories; gift wrap and cards; special meals; year-end gratuities; and travel-related expenses. A few tips:

- Review old credit card and bank statements to jog your memory.

- Arrange gift lotteries with family, friends and coworkers so you each buy fewer, nicer gifts.

- Suggest pooling resources to make a sizeable group charitable contribution rather than individual gifts to each other.

Get organized: Once you've determined your overall holiday budget, make a list or spreadsheet with columns for:

- Everyone you need to shop for – relatives, friends, coworkers, service providers, etc.

- Spending limits and gift alternatives for each person.

- How much you actually spend on each gift. (Overspending on one present means trimming somewhere else.)

- What you gave each person – to avoid giving them the same thing next year.

- What each person gave you. That way, you won't accidentally "re-gift" something to the same person.

- Other expenses (decorations, etc.)

Gift cards: If you give gift cards, several changes were made to laws governing these cards. For gift cards sold on or after August 22, 2010, the Credit Card Accountability, Responsibility and Disclosure (CARD) Act of 2009 requires that:

- Money loaded on gift cards must not expire for at least five years from date of purchase or after funds were last added.

- If the card expires but the funds haven't, you can request a free replacement card.

Assembly member Brian Jones takes oath of office

Assembly Member Brian Jones, R-Santee, took the oath of office as the new representative for the 77th Assembly District in Sacramento, pledging to work hard for his constituents in the State Capitol.

"I'm honored to have taken the oath to represent East County residents and to have the opportunity to work for real change at the State Capitol," said Jones. "As I did on the Santee City Council, I will fight hard on your behalf to make government work for the people, not the other way around."

Prior to his election to the State Assembly, Jones served on the Santee City Council for eight years. Under his leadership, Santee has become one of the safest, most family-oriented communities in San Diego County. As a Vice Mayor and City Councilman, he led the city's planning and approval of new retail projects, the Town Center Corporate Campus, long awaited move-up housing and the new YMCA Aquatic Center and Santee Sports Park. An active community volunteer, he also serves on the board of the directors of the local Boys and Girls Club. Jones and his wife, Heather, have three children.

Assembly Member Jones today said that job creation would be one of his top priorities in the State Assembly.

"I am pleased to hear that Speaker Pérez said in his address today that job creation would be one of the most important issues in the new legislative session, as it will be my focus as well" said Jones. "Bringing back private-sector jobs to California is vital not only to get people working, but also to help the state solve its ongoing budget problems. It is my hope that we can work together across party lines to jumpstart our economy and get our state moving again."

MOTOR AND SPORTS

Tough day at the 'Q' for the Chargers

San Diego Chargers kickoff return man Darren Sproles (43) fumbles 2 kickoffs, turning the first one over to the Raiders as the Chargers special teams literally dropped the ball again as the San Diego Chargers lose at home 28-13 to the Oakland Raiders at Qualcomm Stadium. Photo credit: Tom Walko

by Chuck Karaszia

On an overcast Sunday afternoon the sun broke through only once to shine on the Bolts alumni honored before the game. A gray sky set the tone for the day and the game at hand. The San Diego Chargers current four-game winning streak was snapped, beaten down by the Oakland Raiders 28-13 at Qualcomm Stadium.

Previously undefeated in 18 contests in the month of December. The Chargers in this game on December 5 never got untracked.

An opening miscue from the special teams, early first-half misfires from their quarterback, and a late defensive meltdown, kept San Diego behind the eight-ball.

Tied for second place with Oakland at (6-6). Both the Chargers and Raiders are two games behind the (8-4) Kansas City Chiefs in the AFC West.

Raiders fans were noticeably seen and heard especially in the view level of the packed stadium (68,183). They deservedly celebrated the thrashing the black-and-silver laid upon the powder-blue-and-gold in all three phases of the game.

An Oakland Raiders team that before this season had been beaten by San Diego 12-straight times, have now swept the Chargers in the regular season. They are running the table in the AFC West, unbeaten in 4 divisional games this year.

San Diego was unable to overcome two critical first quarter turnovers, (a muffed punt by Darren Sproles, and a overthrown Philip Rivers pass that was intercepted). Both of these miscues led to Raiders touchdowns, putting the Chargers in a deep hole early. One they could not climb out of.

"It's obviously disappointing. We've been playing at a high level. We turned the ball over and set them up," explained Chargers head coach Norv Turner.

"They (Raiders) played awfully well. They were very physical. They ran the ball. They converted third downs. (OAK 8-of-15, SD 3-of 10). They did a good job of keeping the ball and obviously were able to pressure Philip. We had been doing a good job of protecting him. Everyone knows (when) a quarterback

(is) under pressure, you're not going to be as accurate as otherwise. I thought they had outstanding coverage. I give Oakland credit."

A two-touchdown underdog, the Oakland Raiders literally ran away with this game incredibly out-gaining the Chargers 251-to-21 yards on the ground, a whopping plus 230 in the run game.

After a 21-3 halftime lead, the Raiders offense was able to control the clock by running a multitude of draws, runs, and screen passes effectively keeping the Chargers offense on the sideline. Nearly doubling the Chargers in time-of-possession 38.29 to 21.21.

Coach Turner emphasized, "Once they got up 14-3, they did a great job of keeping the ball. We weren't in a position where we could have the patience and mix the run, and do the things we were doing the last month."

Oakland quarterback Jason Campbell outplayed Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers much in the same manner as the previous week when Rivers outplayed Peyton Manning.

Rivers completed 23-of-39 passes for 280-yards, 1 touch

2010 Cadillac CTS-V

by Dave Stall

For anyone who has always wanted to own a Corvette but didn't think there was enough room, the 2010 Cadillac CTS-V might be a big surprise. What a car! It has everything anyone could want from a Corvette but with the addition of two very comfortable bucket seats in the rear. There's styling, performance and handling all wrapped up in a four passenger vehicle.

The interior screams luxury with a hint of ruggedness. The Recaro driver and passenger seats have 14 adjustments and heat and cool features for added comfort. The addition of a set of metal pedals for non-slip acceleration aids in mountain driving.

When it comes to a sound system Cadillac has picked a fabulous partner—Bose sound systems with a 10 speaker 5.1

surround sound system with a hard drive for loading tunes and information. Passengers can listen to a choice of AM/FM/RDS4/MP3/DVD with a USB audio connectivity and steering wheel controls.

The steering wheel is very elegant and functional as well.

2010 Cadillac CTS-V

The in-dash navigation system is truly in dash; when not in use it drops down into the dash with just enough showing to offer radio stations to choose from. There is an 8-inch screen with voice activation. The wood trim in this Cadillac does not disappoint, using Midnight Sapele real wood trim on the instrument panel, doors and center console.

New video game encourages teamwork

When you teach children teamwork, education experts say, you help them do better in school and in life.

Why Foster Teamwork?

According to a paper released by experts on child care at Sonoma State University, it's important for kids to learn teamwork because it can help "promote respect, responsibility...creativity, exploration and experimentation." In addition, teamwork can "improve communication and self-confidence."

Teamwork and family fun

Fortunately, the whole family can work as a team and have fun doing it in a new game for Wii.

Players can now experience the fun and creativity of the snow-covered online playground of Club Penguin on a video game console for the first time.

Based on the popular virtual world that's captivated millions in more than 190 countries around the globe, "Club Penguin Game Day!" features a collection of exclusive new minigames that will challenge and engage the whole family. Players create a penguin, join a team and participate in a series of events, including Sumo Smash, Puffle Paddle, Dance Off and Sled & Slide. Each time players complete a series of events and beat a challenge, they conquer a zone on the island. The ultimate goal is to work together with their team and conquer as much territory as possible.

down (4-yard pass to Gates in third quarter) and the costly interception. He did face a fierce Raiders pass rush, getting sacked 4 times, finishing with a 79.0 quarterback rating.

By dominating the rushing game, McFadden 19 rushes, 97-yards, Bush 23 carries, 95-yards (both had 7-yard TD runs), Raiders quarterback Jason Campbell did not throw much. He completed 10-of 16 passes for 107-yards, 1 touchdown (4-yard pass to Ford) with no interceptions. He also scored the first touchdown on an excellent play fake 9-yard scamper around the left side.

Although penalized 13 times for 105-yards, the Raiders dominated the line of scrimmage with their mammoth interior lineman.

With four more games left in the regular season. It would seem the Bolts would almost certainly have to win out, and hope Kansas City would falter along the way.

The Chargers play the Chiefs this Sunday in a 'must-win' game at Qualcomm Stadium. Kickoff is 1:15 p.m.

Under the CTS-V hood is a 6.2-liter Supercharged V8 producing 556 earth-shattering horsepower at 6100 RPM and a torque reading of 551 foot pound at a neck-snapping 3800 RPM. My tester came with an automatic transmission which worked very well, but I would opt for the 6-speed manual transmission. I have driven the stick shift, and it's a dream to drive. The rear gear ratio is 4.15, sport tuned suspension with the ability to switch from touring to sport with the flick of a switch. Other features include four wheel disc brakes, stability control and traction control (I recommend leaving this feature in the on position). Standing on this beast leaves two very long strips of burnt rubber on the asphalt. And when it comes to safety Cadillac has it all.

Would I put this car in my garage? Without a doubt. Driving should put a smile on anyone's face. Pricing starts at $63,465 plus tax-license-shipping but I recommend going to www.cadillac.com to build your own vehicle. There you can also check out the prices, and read about even more features in the CTS-V. This is a car a driver has to drive to understand the value; five minutes behind the wheel and any car nut will be hooked.

For Health's Sake

UCSD Health System Holiday health check

UC San Diego Health System experts recommend a Cup of Reason for sampling the season.

From overeating to exercise and alcohol, UC San Diego Health System nutritionists, trauma specialists and poison experts offer insights for a healthy holiday.

The holidays make it so easy to over-eat. Hanukkah celebrations kick off with Auntie's latkes. Grandma's sweet potatoes are a Christmas tradition. And then we wash it all down with one of Dad's annual eggnog creations. Sound familiar? UC San Diego Health System nutrition experts say "Savor the seasonal offerings - just do it sensibly."

"Being healthy doesn't have to be boring," said Cheryl Rock, PhD, RD, professor of Family and Preventive Medicine at UCSD School of Medicine. "Include seasonal veggies in your meals and holiday dishes. Items such as squash, pumpkin and apples add flavor and interest to salads and baked goods, and they're good for you."

Santiago Horgan, MD, director for the Center for the Treatment of Obesity points out that using time off from work during the holidays to exercise is a great way to get a head start on New Year resolutions. "Gyms are usually not crowded this time of year."

Plan ahead before you go to a party. Eat a sensible snack, such as an apple, to curb your hunger so that you are not overly hungry when faced with fattening food.

Sip sparkling water- it's filling and hydrating.

Keep emotional eating in check. Are you really hungry, or did you grab that handful of cookies because shopping is stressful?

Think about and control your portions by using a salad-sized plate for your entree and side dishes. Eat a salad on an entree-sized plate before the main meal.

Recognize when you're full. It takes a good 20 minutes before your stomach signals you brain that it's full, so eat slowly, and the second you start feeling satisfied, stop eating.

Reduce the amount of fat in holiday meals. For example, use fat-free chicken broth or low-fat milk instead of butter when you prepare mashed potatoes. When sautéing celery and onions for the stuffing, use non-stick spray in the pan.

Designate a driver

If you are planning to drink alcohol, plan to have a responsible adult driver who has committed to NOT drinking. Many holiday accidents can be completely avoided by designating a driver.

"Our trauma center admits more than 2,400 patients a year who require a Trauma Team Activation and often, those accidents can be prevented, including drunk driving," explained Raul Coimbra, MD, PhD, professor of surgery and director, UC San Diego Division of Trauma, Burns and Critical Care. "Unintentional injury kills more people between the ages of one and 44 than any other disease or illness. Education is the key to stopping the spread of the disease known as trauma."

Seasonal plants

The season is also filled with gorgeous decorations, plants and products usually not seen or available during the first 10 months of the year. "Unfortunately, this accounts for many problems during the holiday season," said Lee Cantrell, PharmD, director of the California Poison Control System, San Diego Division, at UC San Diego Medical Center. "These unusual additions may pose a problem for curious pets and young children. For example, most people don't know that all parts of mistletoe are toxic, and the berries may cause poisoning in children."

Mistletoe is toxic.

The leaves, and especially the berries, of English Holly are toxic. Ingestion of 20 or 30 berries can cause very serious poisoning.

Some seasonal nontoxic plants include Pyracantha, Eucalyptus and California Holly.

Poinsettias are essentially nontoxic, but can cause stomach upset if ingested, and the milky sap can cause skin irritation.

Christmas cactus and pine cones are also nontoxic.

Christmas trees such as pines, spruces and junipers may cause stomach upset if large amounts are ingested. Ingestion of small amounts may cause a localized irritation of the mouth.

Dos & dont's of decorating

Some holiday decorations may be dangerous. Carefully hang glass bulbs and light bulbs high on the tree to prevent accidents.

Angel hair, or spun glass, is very irritating to the skin and eyes.

Ornaments imported from other countries may be painted with a lead paint and could be toxic if ingested.

Tinsel manufactured prior to 1972 also contains lead; however, the major problem with ingestion of large amounts of tinsel is obstruction of the gastrointestinal tract.

Toys and tots

Toy related injuries peak during the holidays. Parents should carefully review the toys on their child's wish-list and consider the responsibility level of the child.

Small toys which break easily may be swallowed by small children and pets and cause serious injuries.

Potentially dangerous items such as darts, slingshots and BB guns can cause injury and loss of sight, especially during the excitement of holidays.

Additionally, small batteries - used in watches, cameras and calculators - can be quite dangerous if swallowed. They may cause burns or may leak chemicals that cause poisoning.

Decking the Halls with Alcohol?

In addition to designating a driver, Cantrell pointed out that alcohol poisoning - though common in children throughout the year - increases during the holidays. "Children are very sensitive to alcohol, especially to its ability to lower blood sugar."

Adults should make sure alcoholic drinks are cleaned up and out of reach during and after a party.

Colognes, perfumes and after-shave contain heavy concentrations of alcohol. Small children might ingest these products by mistake if they are attractively packaged.

If an ingestion of a questionable product occurs or you have questions about the potential toxicity of anything in your home, call the California Poison Control System, San Diego Division, at UC San Diego Medical Center, toll free at 1-800-222-1222. The Poison Control System offers a 24-hour-a-day information service on the toxicology, clinical signs and symptoms, assessment and treatment of exposures to toxic substances.

Dead Dog

A man runs into the vet's office carrying his dog, screaming for help. The vet rushes him back to an examination room and has him put his dog down on the examination table. The vet examines the still, limp body and after a few moments, tells the man that his dog, regrettably, is dead. The man, clearly agitated and not willing to accept this, demands a second opinion.

The vet goes into the back room and comes out with a cat and puts the cat down next to the dog's body. The cat sniffs the body, walks from head to tail, poking and sniffing the dog's body and finally looks at the vet and meows.

The vet looks at the man and says, "I'm sorry, but the cat thinks that you're dog is dead, too." The man is still unwilling to accept that his dog is dead. So the vet brings in a black Labrador retriever. The lab sniffs the body, walks from head to tail, and finally looks at the vet and barks. The vet looks at the man and says, "I'm sorry, but the lab thinks your dog is dead too."

The man, finally resigned to the diagnosis, thanks the vet and asks how much he owes. The vet answers, "$650."

"$650 to tell me my dog is dead?" exclaims the man.

"Well," the vet replies, "I would only have charged you $50 for my initial diagnosis. The additional $600 was for the cat scan and lab tests."

Text GIFT to 90999 and help the Red Cross

Cell phone users can text the word GIFT to 90999 from now through December 31 to make a $25 donation to the American Red Cross.

Donations will support the work of the Red Cross, including disaster response, collecting lifesaving blood, teaching skills that can save a life, or assisting military members and their families.

This new mobile giving program, which runs through December 31, is the first to be done with a number of wireless carriers with a holiday-themed keyword and a $25 amount.

"Over three million people made a $10 donation via text to help the people of Haiti last January. We are now asking them to help the work of the American Red Cross down the street, across the country, and around the world by making a holiday gift of $25 by text," said Joe Craver, Chief Executive Officer of American Red Cross San Diego/Imperial Counties Chapter. "A few finger taps on a cell phone can be the gift that saves the day for a person affected by disaster."

The pilot program is being done with mGive, which partnered with the Red Cross on the highly successful Haiti mobile giving effort, which raised nearly $33 million for Haiti relief and recovery through $10 text donations. Many leading wireless carriers are participating.

"The American Red Cross

has truly embraced the power of mobile giving," said Brian Leamy, Executive Vice President of mGive. "Through the introduction of this new $25 donation level, the American Red Cross will play a vital role in continuing to expand and broaden the mobile donation market. mGive is proud to be the American Red Cross' partner of choice for mobile donations and will continue to support them in their expanding mobile efforts."

People who make a $25 text donation will be sent a link to download a badge for their Facebook pages. Donations will appear on customers' monthly bills or be debited from prepaid account balances. Message and data rates may apply. The Red Cross is working with mGive to process and facilitate the mobile donations.

The text donation program is another part of the Red Cross holiday giving campaign, which also features an online holiday giving catalog, www.redcross.org/gifts. The Red Cross has more than 20 gift ideas — such as assisting someone in the military with a phone card or supplies, providing food and shelter to a disaster victim, covering the costs of snacks at a blood drive, or giving basic necessities to a family in another country.

The purchase of each gift item through the online catalog is a tax-deductible contribution to the overall mission of the American Red Cross. On the rare occasion when donations exceed the need in a particular area, the Red Cross will use the contribution to help others where the need is greatest.

About the American Red Cross San Diego and Imperial Counties Chapter

The San Diego/Imperial Counties Chapter of the American Red Cross is leading the effort to make San Diego and Imperial Valley Counties "America's Most Prepared Community." As a charitable organization and not a government agency, the Red Cross depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission. The Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies nearly half of the nation's blood; teaches lifesaving skills; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The local chapter also provides nutritional counseling through the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program. For more information, please call (858) 309-1200 or visit www.sdarcc.org.

Make wishes come true

This holiday season, you can help Santa grant special wishes just by writing him a letter.

To bring a smile to the face of a child with a life-threatening medical condition, simply go into any Macy's store before December 25 and write a letter to Santa at the Believe Station or drop off a stamped letter, already addressed to Santa. For each letter mailed at Macy's, the famous department store will donate a dollar, up to $1 million, to the Make-A-Wish Foundation®. You can download a letter template at www.macys.com/believe or write one of your own.

Macy's Believe Campaign is inspired by The New York Sun's famous "Yes, Virginia, There Is a Santa Claus" editorial from 1897, in reply to a little girl's question about Santa's existence. An animated television special about this heartwarming holiday story, called "Yes, Virginia," is newly available as a DVD and children's book, with 10 percent of the purchase price of those sold at Macy's donated to the Make-A-Wish Foundation, too.

Santa says helping others this holiday season can be easy for those who believe.

Dear Dr. Luauna

I am a successful businessman at 36 years old, I started my own company out of college which has flourished. I work hard and play hard, there is nothing I cannot buy, yet there is a nagging feeling deep inside that something is missing, how do I find it? Signed Everything Money Can Buy

Dear Everything Can Buy,

Your soul longs to be filled with one thing which will make you complete; a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Jesus promised us an abundant life; which has been mistaken to be material possessions; true abundant life consists of valuable treasures which money cannot buy: love, joy, peace, healing, comfort, and the promise of Heaven! These are God's true riches which he freely gives; available to all. Jesus loved us so much he died on the cross for our sins, the most beautiful gift He would give us was His life. Romans 6:23, "For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord."

We are programmed to believe that money will bring happiness; or the perfect mate, the high paying job; the party scene; etc. As you know, worldly success only brings temporary satisfaction; leaving only emptiness and a thirst for more.

Jesus told the woman at the well in John 4:13, "Every one who drinks of this water will thirst again, but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst; the water that I shall give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life."

I would be honored to help you find your personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Many years ago, I asked the same question; I had everything the world could offer me; except for the missing piece to the puzzle in my heart and soul: Jesus! I simply cried out to God for help in my own words and the next day, I went to church for the first time and fully committed my life to Christ. Through it all; I can say I have found the true riches and satisfaction in serving the Lord, I have never been thirsty again!

I want to personally invite you to our church service, Jesus loves you and has a plan for your life!

The Holiday Gift that keeps on giving to pets and pet lovers

This year's holiday shopping season is in full swing with retailers helping consumers plan their gift lists for friends, family and pets. According to the American Pet Products Association, 62 percent of U.S. households own a pet and nearly 80 percent of dog owners purchase gifts for their pet. One gift that keeps on giving is gaining popularity this year – the California Pet Lover's License Plate (www.petloversplate.org).

"Traditionally, pet lovers have looked for gifts that provide instant gratification for their pets – toys, treats, and accessories like beds, collars, and sweaters," said Executive Director of Found Animals Foundation Aimee Gilbreath. "In 2010, we're encouraging pet lovers to add more gifts that keep giving all year long to their selections, from a promise to head to the dog park each week to visible expressions of love for a pet."

This holiday season, pet lovers and their friends and family can make a difference by giving the California Pet Lover's License Plate, a one-of-a-kind gift that never goes out of style or gets "used up," and that keeps on giving year after year: The whimsical license plate, which can be personalized with a beloved pet's name (or other words), features original artwork created and donated by international actor, artist and animal lover Pierce Brosnan showing two of the animals Mr. Brosnan and his wife Keely adopted: Shilo the dog and Angel Baby the cat.

Purchasing the California Pet Lover's License Plate helps provide free or low-cost spay and neuter surgeries, and displays a person's love for pets. Additionally, it will help raise awareness about the overwhelming number of homeless and unwanted dogs and cats in California and the importance of spaying and neutering pets to save animal lives.

Unique gift ideas for pets

This season, consider something unique to wrap up for pets. Below are 10 ideas that are sure to please the pickiest pet and pet lover.

stray and unwanted animals across the country. According to figures available from the California Department of Public Health, the total number of dogs and cats euthanized (killed) in public shelters rose from 378,445 in 2004 to 432,512 in 2008. When the State's private shelters are included, it is estimated that one million pets enter California's shelters each year, with over half (500,000) of them euthanized. The simplest and most responsible act that a pet owner can take to help alleviate this crisis is to spay or neuter their pets.

Through April 3 Traveling exhibition—San Diego Natural History Museum, 1788 El Prado in Balboa Park. Lizards & Snakes: Alive! Small and shy, or big and fierce? Bright as a jewel, or hardly visible? Four legs? Two legs? No legs at all? When you're talking about lizards and snakes—the squamates—the answer is usually... Yes! This ancient group, whose scientific name is Latin for "scaled," is more diverse than mammals, as old as dinosaurs. And they're almost everywhere: harsh desert to lush rainforest, high in the treetops, beneath the ground. We share the planet, but we often overlook these quiet neighbors. So welcome to the world of squamates, and get ready to be surprised! Created in collaboration with the American Museum of Natural History and Fernbank Museum of Natural History, this fascinating exhibition features a mix of live animals and interactive displays that reveal the secret lives of a group more diverse than mammals and as old as dinosaurs. Lizards and Snakes: Alive is funded by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors at the recommendations of Chairwoman Pam Slater-Price, Supervisor Ron Roberts, and Supervisor Greg Cox. Additional financial support provided by the City of San Diego Commission for Arts and Culture. 'Plaid Tidings' — a must see this season

by Diana Saenger

Many San Diegans fondly recall Stuart Ross' Forever Plaid that played in Old Town and at the Globe. But if you think you've basically seen the show, Plaid Tidings - A Special Holiday Edition of Forever Plaid will prove you wrong.

This hilarious musical entertains from beginning to end. The Plaids - David Brannen (Globe's Grinch, Big River, A Chorus Line) as Sparky; Leo Dagnault (originated the role of Jinx in Plaid Tidings, Avenue Q, The Scarlet Pimpernel, Forever Plaid) as Jinx; Jason Heil (Cabaret, The Taming of the Shrew, Shivago) as Smudge; and Michael Winther (The Boys from Syracuse, Songs from an Unmade Bed, Damn Yankees, Forever Plaid) as Frankie, are funny, have perfect timing and sing wonderfully.

Audiences are immediately drawn to the story about how a singing group of four teens lost their lives in a tragic accident. But then they get a heavenly phone call from the boys' idol, Rosemary Clooney. She's found a way for the boys to return to Earth and entertain fans.

From the first tune to the last, songs such as "Hey There," "Fever," "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas," "The Dreidel Song," "Bésame Mucho" and "Let It Snow" keep everyone in the audience humming along and laughing at the silly antics of the guys.

"Plaid Tidings, which has a cornucopia of holiday songs and other standards performed with that "Plaid" twist is simply perfect for the season," said Louis G. Spisto, the Globe's Executive Producer.

The Tidings design team includes Sean Fanning (Scenic Design), Charlotte Devaux (Costume Design), Chris Rynne (Lighting Design), Paul Peterson (Sound Design), Don LeMaster (Music Director), Steven Withers (Associate Music Director) and Liz Stephens (Stage Manager).

Writer, director Ross has thrown in a little of everything to connect to real life and fantasy as well. And since the show has sold out around the world, and he's recently written a version for a glee club, he knows what works.

"This show is for everyone from parents taking their kids to preteens and seniors," Ross said. "It's also a perfect holiday date night. With all the different dance numbers and wide range of songs, it's just a great mix of entertainment."

'Harry Potter' not as fulfilling as the previous ones

Review by Michael Black

Harry Potter and The Deathly Hallows: Part 1 is a mind boggling 146 minutes. I was hoping there was enough content to keep me entertained for the full time. I was wrong.

The Deathly Hallows starts off really strong with an exciting chase scene. Alastor 'Mad-Eye' Moody (Brendan Gleeson) turns most of Harry Potter's (Daniel Radcliffe) closest friends into copies of Potter to help confuse Lord Voldemort's (Ralph Fiennes) Death Eaters from capturing the real Harry. Once Harry reaches safety, thanks to his friend Rubeus Hagrid (Robbie Coltrane), the excitement ends. One thing that bothered me was the death of one of the more interesting characters of the franchise during the chase scene and nobody seemed to care. There wasn't a scene explaining how the character died and little remorse from other the characters afterwards.

The Death Eaters eventually find Harry at the wedding of Bill Weasley (Domhnall Gleeson) and Fleur Delacour (Clémence Poésy,) and most of Harry's friends, except for Ron (Rupert Grint) and Herminone (Emma Watson), disappear never to be seen again for the rest of the film.

The remaining story is dedicated to finding the one of the six Horcruxes that gives Voldemort his immortality. A good portion of the movie involves Harry, Ron and Herminone traveling and bickering about where one Horcrux is hiding. There are a few interesting scenes that interrupt the boredom like their infiltration into the Ministry to get the Horcrux from Dolores Umbridge (Imelda Staunton), and the end scene with Bellatrix Lestrange (Helena Bonham Carter) facing off with Dobby (Tobey Jones), the house elf that hasn't been seen since Chamber of Secrets.

Despite the long drawn out plot, the cinematography is well done. Acting by all characters is satisfactory at best. However, this version of Harry Potter is dark and overall depressing, unlike how the series began. This is becoming less and less a kid movie and more of a dark drama with nothing new to offer in terms of magic. The kids are now young adults running for their lives and casting a spell every now and then. Having no Dumbledore is detrimental to this franchise and was one of the more enduring characters of the series who will be missed.

Instead of ending the Harry Potter movie franchise in style, the last book is split into two parts with the final film arriving in 2011. Dedicated Harry Potter fans of the movies and books will no doubt stand in line for a ticket – not once but twice – but the magic is lost on the very young because of the newer films' darker tone.

'Black Swan' is disappointingly creepy and tedious

by Diana Saenger

Black Swan appears to focus on a dedicated ballerina whose obsession for perfection drives her beyond reason. While billed as a psychological thriller, Black Swan comes across instead as a dark overindulgence by director Darren Aronofsky. It's basically a distraught mess.

Nina Sayers (Natalie Portman), an insecure ballerina who somehow ended up in a New York City ballet company, longs to play the lead dancer in "Swan Lake." Even though the company's prima ballerina, Beth Macintyre (Winnona Ryder), seems more than adequate to play the role of the Black Swan, artistic director Thomas Leroy (Vincent Cassel) plays a game of who can please the director more to land the role. Teasing his young ballerinas with indecent proposals, he holds their future in his hands – and only the ones daring to cross inappropriate lines have a chance to compete for the coveted role.

With Beth cast aside, Leroy has his eye on the delicate and beautiful Nina, until new sexy and talented Lily (Mila Kunis) joins the company. Lily seems determined to take the Black Swan role away from Nina. If the pressure to hold her own isn't enough, Nina is also dealing with a domineering mother (Barbara Hershey) – one so officious I asked myself many times why Nina would stay with her. She hinders and berates Nina at every turn, treating her like a five-year-old, which soon has Nina suffering hallucinations. How could any professional excel under these circumstances?

Because Lily is so resolute about taking Nina's role, she befriends her, even going so far as to get her doped up, drunk and then seducing her. Or is this just another of Nina's many hallucinations in which the audience must decide whether it's "truth" or "fiction."

Aronofsky's films seem to thrive on traumatized lives and the dark paths those lives take. Most of his films I refer to as therapy rather than as movies to watch, especially for viewers who prefer entertaining films. I do think he did well with The Wrestler by motivating Mickey Rourke to go the distance in his portrayal of a troubled washed-up wrestler. But I can't buy Aronofsky's comparison of that film to Black Swan. "The two films are tied together by themes of bodily extremes, souls in turmoil and by a filmmaking style that pulls the audience inside the characters' fascinating inner worlds," he states in the production notes. Frankly, Nina's inner world is a train wreck, and I was pulled in the opposite direction while watching it.

By the third act of the Black Swan, the story becomes so dark – as well as predictable – that I felt sorry Portman had to endure such a physical ordeal to get ready for this role. No doubt she's put her heart and soul into portraying Nina. However, watching the horror undertones of this movie involves choosing to watch something akin to the drug-crazed world of Requiem for a Dream (also an Aronofsky film) vs. Robert Altman's ballet movie The Company. I choose the latter.

What smart consumers should know about warranties

When buying electronics and appliances, we've all had salespeople ask, "Would you like to buy an extended warranty?"

"Many consumers today do a lot of research online before they buy products, but don't know much about warranties before entering the store," says Jamie Breneman, contributor to TheSavvyShopperBlog.com and spokesperson for N.E.W. Customer Service Companies Inc. "The challenge is that there's a lot of misinformation out there about warranties and extended service plans."

Here's what you need to know to make an informed decision:

Limited or extended?

Most electronic goods come with limited manufacturers' warranties, but coverage is minimal, mostly for defects in manufacturing or workmanship. If accidents happen, you're out of luck. Moreover, coverage may be split between parts and labor. For example, coverage for parts may be for one year, but labor for 90 days.

Extended "warranties," more appropriately called extended service plans, go beyond defects in parts or workmanship. They often cover normal wear and tear, damage due to power surges or environmental factors like dust and heat.

Many such plans, primarily on portable electronics, also cover accidental damage. Some will help you troubleshoot technical problems even if repair isn't needed, giving you experts to contact any time of day or night when most manufacturers are closed. This is especially helpful if your children think gum is a good substitute for glue!

Cost

While limited warranties come free with the purchase of any electronic, extended service contracts usually cost between 10 and 20 percent of the product's retail price since it adds additional value for longer periods of time. They're often good investments when buying products that are expensive to repair, like plasma TVs, computers, appliances and video game consoles. You can probably forego the extended warranty on a $10 toaster.

Convenience

These days, time is money. Purchasing a service plan can be a huge time-saver. Not only do many offer 24/7 access to customer service representatives online or by phone, you can get many issues resolved on the first call through technical troubleshooting. This can

Read the contract

Before purchasing an extended service contract, there are several things to check, according to the experts at N.E.W., the leading independent administrator of buyer protection services. First, understand it isn't the same as insurance. Nobody will replace your purchase if it's lost, stolen or has excessive physical damage. And don't purchase an extended service contract if the retailer doesn't provide a copy of the terms prior to purchase.

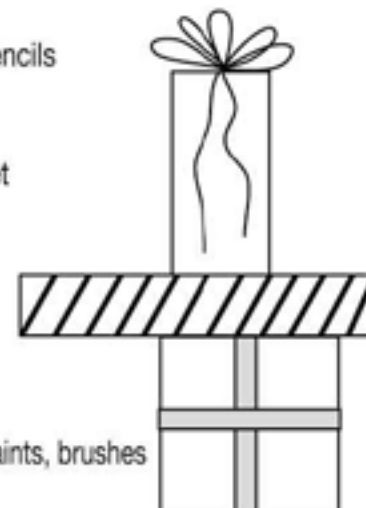

Once you are clear on the terms, make sure the name and contact of the contract provider is stated on the document. Keep the service contract paperwork, original receipt(s) and all maintenance records in an easy-to-access location. And register with the plan provider online if you can.

Put-Together Gifts

Not everyone likes to make their gifts for giving. Sometimes we just run out of time or our budgets are not as large as we would like. Here are some gifts that you can "put together." Think about some things that go well together – for example, a movie rental coupon and popcorn – and buy or gather them together. Next, find a box, bag, basket, tin or other container to put your gift into. Add a bow or card and you have a neat gift!
