AFS seeks host families

FS (formerly the American Field Service) has been a leader in the field of student exchange for more than 55 years. This year 2,500 exchange students will arrive in the U.S. to be welcomed into families, high schools, and communities. San Diego County usually hosts some 15 AFS students from Europe, Asia, and Central and South America for one school year. They now have applications for students who will be arriving in mid-August for the school year. These high school age students are interested in learning about American culture, improving their English skills, and expanding their life experiences. Hosting families also gain new experiences and make new friends.

There is some scholarship money available for high school students if there is interest in studying abroad. If you would like to learn more about the program please contact me (Jim Dooley (760) 728-5682) or visit our local website < www.afsssandiego.org > .

Free tire recycling

One day San Diego residents may drive on roads they helped to create through a tire-recycling event the city has scheduled this weekend. San Diego residents are encouraged to turn in their old tires during this free event taking place at Mira Mesa High School at 10510 Reagan Road on Saturday, April 30 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Each person can bring up to 20 tires to be recycled free of charge. If more than nine tires are brought in, a hauling waiver is needed. Call (619) 533-3688 to obtain

"Last year, almost 1,500 tires were collected and this year we are hoping to do the same or even exceed that amount," said Councilmember Carl DeMaio. "With every tire brought in, the community is doing their part for the environment, and not only keeping our city safe from the dangers and health hazards of stockpiled tires, but putting those tires to a better use because all tires will be recycled."

Tires collected from the event may end up as "RAC" or "TDA" in road paving and civil engineering projects throughout the city. Rubberized asphalt concrete (RAC) is pavement material made with shredded scrap tires that is more durable, safer and quieter than traditional asphalt. TDA, or tire-derived aggregate, helps solve a number of engineering problems where, cost-effective lightweight and free-draining materials are needed. CalRecycle's "Green Roads" program raises awareness about these materials and promotes the use of RAC and TDA throughout the state.

To learn more about "Green Roads" and CalRecycle's efforts to keep waste tires out of landfills and stockpiles, please visit www.PavingGreenRoads.com. Take Action. Help pave the way with recycled tires.

CalRecycle is the state's leading authority on recycling, waste reduction, and product reuse. CalRecycle plays an important role in the stewardship of California's vast resources and promotes innovation in technology to encourage economic and environmental sustainability. RiverFest to celebrate River Parks & Trails

Get ready to enjoy a day filled with events for the entire family at this year's San Diego RiverFest. The festival is a "Celebration of the San Diego River Trail and Parks." RiverFest opens Sunday, May 15, at 10 a.m. at the Qualcomm Stadium Practice Field. Over 5,000 outdoor enthusiasts and pet-lovers are expected to attend this free and exciting festival.

Festival vendors and displays offer great food, local artists with arts and crafts; along with exhibits on water conservation, saving energy, the environment, healthy living and outdoor recreation.

For the first time, the festival has a special treat for the kids... it's the River Kids Zone, specifically designed with children in mind, filled with hands-on activities, rock climbing wall, and circus performances by the Sophia Isadora Academy of Circus Arts . The Kids Education Stage will provide presentations from Project Wildlife, "Ms. Smarty Plants" from the Water Conservation Garden, Therapy Dogs with List Srv 4 Therapy Dogs, Abel Silvas "Running Grunion," Service Dogs with trainer Sandy Storrie and Joy, and the Sophia Isadora Academy of Circus Arts will speak about how circus is an expression of art with the physical form..

Before the opening of RiverFest, the San Diego Healthy River 5-Mile Walk for a Cause will start at 8 a.m. This year's sponsor is Civita by Sudberry Properties. Everyone who wants to raise awareness and show their support for the San Diego River trail and parks is encouraged to register now. We expect joggers, walkers, moms with their little ones in strollers, kids of all ages, and pet lovers walking their dogs. The route is from Qualcomm Stadium, through areas of Mission Valley, past the San Diego River Garden and along parts of the San Diego River Trail. This is not a competitive run... it is an enjoyable way to get together and make a difference for the future of your community.

RiverFest is hosted by The San Diego River Park Foundation, whose vision is to establish trails, parks, gardens, and education centers at points along the entire 52-mile river, saving it for future generations. Just Wing It

Alpine, California made national history when it was designated as America's FIRST Community Wildlife Habitat on May 1, 1998.

The certification, proclaimed by the National Wildlife Federation, was the result of the efforts of dozens of businesses and scores of residents who have each done a small part to provide habitats for hummingbirds, butterflies and songbirds. The project is known as "Sage & Songbirds."

Alpine gardens have been enhanced with beautiful berries, colorful sages and other nectar-rich plants to provide for the basic needs of area winged wildlife.

Each year, a "Sage & Songbirds Festival" is held the first weekend in May, and includes garden tours, educational seminars, specialty vendors, entertainment and much more. The 2011 theme is "Just Wing It!"

A highlight of the event is CHIRP's very popular butterfly release, to be held again this year at the Festival site, Viejas Outlet Center. Live native butterflies will be released at noon, both Saturday and Sunday during the Festival. Admission is free and we welcome you to join us!

The Sage & Songbirds mission is to make Alpine a town unforgettable to visitors, and endlessly enjoyable to those who live here. Sage & Songbirds is a project of CHIRP.

This year's event is set for May 6-8. (Garden Tour dates are May 6-8 and Festival dates are May 7-8.)

Tickets are currently available by credit card or mail. Ticket price is $15 each.

To order by mail — send a check for $15 per ticket, payable to CHIRP, Box 532-T, Alpine, CA 91903. Your self-addressed, stamped envelope is greatly appreciated. Ticket and map will be mailed to you.

Tickets will also be available during the Garden Tour (May 6-8) outside what was formerly The Vine, 2502 Alpine Blvd., (next to Janet's Cafe) (one mile east of the intersection of Tavern Road and Alpine Blvd.) and at the CHIRP booth at the Sage & Songbirds Festival (May 7-8) at Viejas Outlet Center.

Self-guided tour, includes map. Rain or shine event. Ticket includes admission to all 6 sites!

Most children do not appreciate or enjoy a garden tour. Well-behaved children who do, however, are welcome to participate, and do require a ticket for admission. (There is no children's rate.)

Politically Speaking ...

A freshman's first impressions

by Brian Jones 77th Assembly District

My name is Brian Jones and I have the great honor and privilege to represent the citizens of the 77th Assembly District in the State Legislature. My family and I are humbled and blessed to be given this opportunity and trust by the voters. I have been in office 4 months now, and it had been quite an experience.

I have been asked to provide a monthly column to share my thoughts of serving in Sacramento and I am going to use this inaugural issue to share some aspects of being a legislator and my First Impressions.

It's an interesting lifestyle and it is a sacrifice and a burden on my family. However, we look at it as our opportunity to serve, and besides, our sacrifice pales in comparison to the sacrifice military families make for a 9-13 month de-

As you can imagine, I get asked a lot of questions about my thoughts as a freshman. They're asked many different ways, but there are only a few themes:

How do you like it? Is it what you expected?

Well, to tell you the truth I didn't know what to expect. I'm not a Sacramento insider, in fact, prior to the Primary Election I had been to Sacramento only three times and none of those for legislative purposes.

Are you having fun? Is it exciting?

The fun and excitement is more like signing up for Military duty, not like going to Disneyland. I'm not sure serving in the legislature is supposed to be defined by being "fun". The decisions and votes we make affect people's everudau life. and unfortunately, right now, most of the time not for the better. I hope to change that.

What legislation are you running?

I purposefully have a small legislation package this year. The voters didn't send me to Sacramento to pass a bunch of new laws to burden our personal lives. However, I do have a couple of bills dealing with illegal immigration, the DMV, the labor code, and a bill to help the county streamline one of its programs.

What is your agenda? What are your priorities?

This question was asked often during the primary. I had two very well qualified competitors in the primary that both had a well-articulated agenda. If either one of them had won, our district would still be well represented. However, that question always frustrated me because I did not have a personal or lobbyist directed special interest agenda. Finally, one day in a forum, I said. "You know what. I really don't want to go to Sacramento to do anything, I want to go to Sacramento to undo some That was very well received, so the theme of my service has become "Undo

What are your goals? Two things: 1) Build a Republican majority in 2012 or 2014, but if it doesn't happen until 2016, when (if the voters let me stay till then) I am on my way out, that is okay too! 2) Fundamentally restructure the way the California Govern-

What are your frustrations? 1) We have a deceitful budget process- The budget committee is separated into six subcommittees, each specializing in a few of the State's Agencies. For example, I serve on Budget Sub-Committee 3 which deals with the parks, transportation, and natural resources. Each sub-committee conducts a series of hearings to receive reports and requests from the departments for funding. The committee then approves or denies the requests and sends the recommendations onto the full Budget Committee for

I naively was under the assumption that the recommendations of the sub-committee would be what the full budget committee would see and discuss. I was wrong. As an example, one of the issues we heard in sub-committee was for the Department of Parks and Recreation to "borrow" $5 million from the OHV (Off Highway Vehicle) fund that has a $27 million surplus. We reluctantly approved this proposal, but placed some restrictions on the process. What the full budget committee saw was a full taking of the $27 million.

2) Sacramento insiders accept and promote a slow legislative process. By the middle of March and we had not approved a budget or debated any legislation. By contrast, states with part time legislatures adjourned for the year at the end of March. That means their legislators went home for the year having completed all their budget and legislative responsibilities. The pocket books and liberties for the citizens of those states are safe for one more year.

How do you like your colleagues?

I am very encouraged and excited by the opportunity to serve with the people I do. Every single freshman Republican (there are 11 of us) are small business owners; a couple actually own large businesses. We have all come to Sacramento with an attitude of service. We like our lives at home and would rather not have to deal with the mess in Sacramento. However, situations in our lives compelled us to get involved and do our best to change the destructive course that California is currently on. I am further encouraged that there are a handful of Democrats with the same attitude.

My overall attitude about serving in Sacramento is very positive. Although the challenges are big and somewhat complex, I believe that next to the founding of the state, this is the most exciting time to be serving in the legislature. The winds of history are at our back and it is our job as pro-freedom legislators to hoist our sails and navigate our state on a new and proper course. The people of California recognize their government is broken and will, over the next couple of years, vote to keep these winds of history blowing.

I am truly grateful for all the appreciation and encouragement my family and I receive when I am home in the district. I thank you, the citizens of the 77th Assembly District, for giving me the opportunity to represent you in this truly historic time.

San Diego man wins $100,000 in Viejas Casino Poker Tournament

San Diego man took home a first place prize of A $100,000 at Viejas Casino's Poker Classic III tourna-

The Poker Classic III kicked off Saturday morning, featuring hundreds of players testing their poker skills. It all came down to the final winning hand played Sunday afternoon by 49 year old Scott H. of San Diego, who was handed a check for $100,000 after his winning hand came up pocket aces.

Scott, a native of San Diego who hails from the Point Loma area, says he had a good feeling going into the tournament. "My wife told me, 'honey, do good' and I said I was going

Scott says the only plan he and his wife have for the winnings at this point is to spend some of it on their kids, who he joked needed new shoes. After the two-day tournament, Scott was asked what he planned to do with his afternoon. "I don't know yet but I'm not going to be playing cards anymore today!" Scott said. He added that he was satisfied with just going home and hugging his wife and kids.

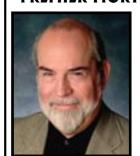

In addition to Scott, another nine players in the tournament took home winnings ranging from $10, 650 to $3,000. Viejas is the only casino in the San Diego area with a dedicated poker club and this is the third year in a row Viejas Casino has awarded this generous prize.

Viejas Casino General Manager David Williams said, "We're thrilled for Scott and his family, and all the other winners in the Poker Classic III. The tournament created a lot of excitement on the casino floor this weekend, and it will continue throughout April – with promotions in bingo, slots and table games.

Inspiration

One man's joke is another man's hug

o anybody that knows me, (and can anybody really know anybody else?), they would readily affirm that I am not addicted to hugging. Let me point out very quickly I am not allergic to it either. I just believe a good hearty handshake says everything I want to say to anybody I meet.

This is biblical. The Bible talks about extending to one another the right hand of fellowship, and nothing says it better than a firm, hearty handshake. Anyway, that's my story and I'm sticking with it.

I usually reserve my hugs for the little people in my life, like my grandchildren and their friends. The smaller they are the more they need a hug. But that is my limit. Although, I have been waylaid on occasion, none of it was my doing. I stick firm to a good handshake and leave the hugging to other people.

I do not criticize people who like to hug. I just am not one of them. I like what my grandfather used to say, "To each his own."

Recently, certain events brought me to the point of challenging my whole theory of hugology.

It all began at the end of a rather busy Sunday. My Sundays at the church begin at eight o'clock in the morning and concludes somewhere around eight o'clock in the evening. Of course, I go home for lunch and a quick nap in the afternoon, but my whole day is devoted to the church. And I like it that way. If it were up to me, there would be seven Sundays in a week.

I was driving home from church late last Sunday evening and my self said, "I sure am thirsty and could go for a nice cold diet Pepsi." Usually, I am beside my self, but this was one of those rare occasions when I was perfectly in harmony with my self.

So I said, "Self, for once I agree with you. Let's go get a soda." And on that note, I set my sights on satiating both of our thirsts.

Not far from my house is a grocery store that is open late Sunday night. I parked in the parking lot and moseyed on in to purchase a cold diet Pepsi. I thought of buying two, one for me and one for my self, but then how would I explain that to the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage. I immediately found the soda and walked up to the cashier to pay for my purchase and then saunter on home and enjoy the diet Pepsi.

Standing in line I overheard the gentleman in front of me talking to the cashier and being the astute person I am, gathered that they were married... to each other.

After paying for his purchase the cashier stepped from a behind the cashier area and they hugged and kissed right there in front of God and everybody. Being two brain cells short of an idiot, I said loud enough so everybody could hear me, "I guess I got in the right line tonight."

Everybody looked at me and we all shared a wonderful and hearty laugh. I love it when a joke comes together. I cannot tell you how many times I have been on the backend of a joke that backfired. I hate it when a joke backfires, but when it is well timed and wondrously articulated, it is a joy forever.

I turned and talked to the person behind me who thoroughly enjoyed the humor of the moment. I have found that humor brings more people together than anything else. And there is nothing like a good laugh to cheer a spirit that may be sagging for a moment. It seems everybody has problems these days, and a smile goes a long way.

And in this, I am in complete harmony with the Bible. "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones" (Proverbs 17:22 KJV). And from some of the people I have encountered recently, there is a great need for this kind of medicine.

Finally, it was my turn with the cashier. She greeted me warmly and then processed my purchase. We exchanged some pleasantries and then I was about to leave the store with my diet Pepsi.

It was then that I was caught by surprise. The cashier stepped from behind her cashier's post and said to me, "Sir, here's your hug for tonight." And before my two brain cells could get their act together, I was in the middle of a hug.

When the aforementioned brain cells recovered, I finally thought, "I hope she's not going to kiss me."

Thankfully, she didn't. But the rest of the customers clapped rather heartily. Too heartily if you ask me.

We often judge people according to our own personal preference. If we like something, we assume everybody else likes the same thing. If, on the other hand, we think something is wrong we believe everybody should have that same conviction.

The apostle Paul dealt with this kind of thing in the days of the early church. "All things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not" (1 Corinthians 10:23 KJV).

Sometimes we need to be careful what we say and what we do.

Dear Dr. Luauna

What is Easter really all about?

Signed: Celebrating Easter

Dear Celebrating Easter,

I'm glad you asked that question. Although, over time Easter has become about colored eggs, bunnies and baskets, Easter is the greatest love story of all. It's about the cross of Calvary. Sin had separated man from God (Genesis 3), and Satan's number one plan was to destroy mankind who God had created in His image. But God loved us so much that He sent Jesus as the perfect Lamb who would take away the sins of the world.

The cross is a place of freedom, redemption, peace, joy, healing and victory for those who would accept the gift of salvation through Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior. Satan thought he had won when Jesus was crucified, but Jesus conquered death, hell and the grave. Read the whole chapter, Matthew 27. When Jesus hung on that cross with nails in His hands and feet, the crown of thorns placed upon His head, the spear in His side and 39 lashes upon His back, it was punishment he bore willingly for the sins of mankind, He paid it all.

They laid his body in a tomb, but three days later, Matthew 28:2, "And behold there was a great earthquake, for an angel of the Lord descended from Heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it." When that stone was rolled away and Jesus walked among them, it was proof that Jesus rose from the dead. He is alive today and thousands of years later, still changes the hearts of men. To those who believe He is alive, He is the King of Kings; the Lord of Lords; the Alpha and Omega; the Beginning and the End; He is the Living God!

What is Easter all about? It is not about colored eggs, bunnies and baskets. It's about the Cross of Calvary, and like yesteryear when Satan tried to kill Jesus, today, he still tries to hide the powerful message of the cross. But it's not hidden for Jesus said in John 19:30, "It is finished." John 14:6, "He is the way, the truth and the life."

Please celebrate Resurrection Sunday with us: Sunrise Service at 6:30 a.m. at the Prayer Mountain, 16145 Hwy 67 in Ramona. Afterwards at a 10 a.m. Service at 9^{th} Avenue & J Street in Downtown San Diego.

Amway awards $10,000 to Positivity Project grand-prize winner

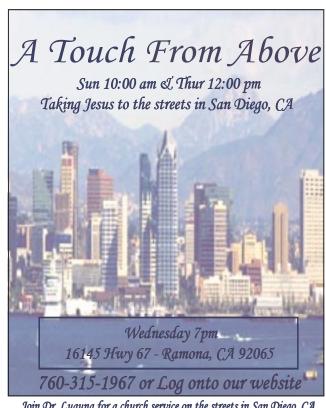

In an effort to recognize the importance of making a positive impact, Amway launched The Positivity Project contest. The contest invited people to share stories online about how the power of positive has changed their life or the life of someone they know.

Twenty-five semifinalists were identified by judges and a public vote decided the top 10 finalists and, ultimately, the grand-prize winner: Caitlin Boyle, founder of Operation Beautiful. Operation Beautiful is a movement dedicated to ending negative self-talk by women, leaving anonymous and inspirational notes for other women in public places, such as the gym or at work.

Boyle plans to use the $10,000 to pay it forward to Girls on the Run International, which encourages preteen girls to develop self-respect and healthy lifestyles through running.

"The Positivity Project is a great example of how thousands of people can come together to do something positive," said Boyle.

Amway encourages you to share stories about the power of positive online, in its Living Library of positivity. Visit www. yourpositivityproject.com to view stories or to share your positive story.

Doggie contest

Three handsome male dogs are walking down the street when they see a beautiful, enticing, female Poodle. The three male dogs fall all over themselves in an effort to be the one to reach her first, but end up arriving in front of her at the same time. The males are speechless before her beauty, slobbering on themselves and hoping for just a glance from her in return.

Aware of her charms and her obvious effect on the three suitors, she decides to be kind and tells them "The first one who can use the words "liver" and "cheese" together in an imaginative, intelligent sentence can go out with me."

The sturdy, muscular black Lab speaks up quickly and says "I love liver and cheese." "Oh, how childish," said the Poodle. "That shows no imagination or intelligence whatsoever."

She turned to the tall, shiny Golden Retriever and said "How well can you do?" Um. I HATE liver and cheese," blurts the Golden Retriever.

My, my," said the Poodle. "I guess it's hopeless. That's just as dumb as the Lab's sentence." She then turns to the last of the three dogs and says, "How about you, little guy?"

The last of the three, tiny in stature, but big in fame and finesse, is the Taco Bell Chihuahua. He gives her a smile, a sly wink, turns to the Golden Retriever and the Lab and says, "Liver alone. Cheese mine."

2011 Lexus CT200h

by Dave Stall

nother hybrid has jumped into the Green Pond, the Lexus CT200h. This is the smallest car Lexus makes, but when drivers take the CT200 for a spin they get the feeling this car may be it. It fits five people, a bunch of groceries, looks good, has tons of features technically and comfort wise. The best thing is the fuel mileage, 43 MPG city and 40 on the open road. My tester gave me a combined fuel economy of 38.5 miles per gallon.

The Lexus looks good too. It has very stylish lines, and the blue Lexus emblem relates this is a Hybrid. There are four driving modes to choose from, Normal, Sport, Eco, and EV. Depending on the mode there is instrumentation back lighting, blue when driving environmentally and red when throwing the economy out the window and standing on the foot peddle.

The comfort level is all Lexus with leather wrapped seating with accents on the shifter and dash area. In fact Lexus has thrown a little wood into the interior treatment to give the car a luxury feel. There is a great center stack console with all the controls at easy reach. The sound system has all the features, AM/FM/CD/Satellite Radio and connectivity for other electronic devices.

Another feature worth mentioning is the back seat. Surprisingly it's big, comfortable and when the back door is open it's wide enough for any large package. Need a little extra storage? Drop the second row seats, split them as well, the result is a nice flat floor area for all that stuff! There are two models to choose from, the CT200h and the CT200h Premium, (see your local dealer for more information on the Premium).

Power is from an efficient 1.8-liter inline four cylinder that produces 134 horsepower at 5200 rpm and 142 pound foot of torque. The transmission available is a CTV, (Continuously Variable Transmission). I'm not a fan of this technology but I found this transmission to work just fine.

The safety features are abundant including air bags, crumple zones and impact beams all to keep everyone safe. Anyone who thinks they can't afford a Lexus might be surprised as to how affordable the Lexus CT200h is; and look at the factory warranty. The base warranty is 48 months or 50,000 miles with a power-train warranty of 72 months and 70,000 miles.

The best news is the Lexus CT200 can be purchased for under $30,000 plus tax, license and freight. I have really enjoyed this car and feel it would be a wise choice for a young working family trying to make an imprint in the environment.

Revamped Padres team has new players

by Chuck Karazsia

From my observation the 2011 San Diego Padres are a different team with newer names and new faces playing mediocre baseball in the early season. One similarity between this current Padres team and the one from last year is fans don't quite know what they're going to get.

The 2010 Padres were a surprising squad that came within a whisker of winning the National League Western Division. With playoff contention on the line it came down to the last game of the regular season – only to lose to the San Francisco Giants who eventually went on to win the World Series.

This season brings a revamped Padres team with new players built around a returning nucleus. Remaining are the coaches and staff from last year. After successfully battling cancer Dave Roberts is coaching at first base. Renterria has moved from that bag to inside the dugout helping Bud Black manage the team. Darren Balsley – one of the best in the business in my opinion – is still the pitching coach.

Local hometown favorite first baseman Adrian Gonzales left for a higher salary from the Boston Red Sox. Catcher Yorvit Torealba went to the Texas Rangers. Pitchers Jon Garland and Chris Young are gone. All left as free agents. The middle of the Padres bullpen has been replaced with pitchers Chad Qualls, Cory Luebke, and Pat Neshek.

Returning is the Padres' starting pitcher tandem of Matt Latos and Clayton Richards. Joining them is former Patrick Henry High and SDSU alumnus Aaron Harang who has come home to flip the rock. The 6'7" 261-pound veteran of 237 major league starts was one of the National League's best pitchers in 2006 and 2007. Having struggled the last few season's with the Cincinnati Reds; a change of environment was hopefully in the best interest for this cagy

Under the tutelage of Balsley, the Padres pitching coach noticed some quirks in Harang's delivery. With help he added speed to his fastball (low 90's), and is locating his pitches very well. Unbeaten in three starts this season. Harang is a good mentor for the young players with his leadership and calm composure, especially in tight pitching situations.

"When you're pitching well it doesn't matter where you're pitching," said Padres skipper and former major league pitcher Bud Black. "If you make your pitches you get good results. That's what we're seeing out of Aaron."

Anchored by Luke Gregerson, Mike Adams, and closer Heath Bell, the Padres' relief pitching staff remains intact. Bell has already etched his way into the Padres record book recording his fourth save of the season in four attempts. This is his 38th consecutive save, second-longest in club history.

It appears Padres GM Jed

Hoyer constructed the 2011 lineup utilizing an old baseball strategy of strong up the middle. The strength starts behind the plate with returning third-year catcher Nick Hundley – now a starter at that position. Hundley began the season on a tear, ripping up the opponent's pitches with regularity. He's leading the club in hitting with a batting average around .350 and hitting a solid .417 OBA with three home runs.

Rob Johnson is adept at handling the pitchers well, and calls a good game. He had three hits in four attempts on Sunday. Improvements in the middle of the infield diamond were made with the Padres off-season acquisitions of shortstop Jason Bartlett and Orlando Hudson at second base. This veteran combination has strengthened the defense as evidenced by four double plays in the season opener against St. Louis. That's the most ever by the club on opening day.

Speedy outfielder Cameron Maybin's defensive skills are exhibited by his range and diving catches. His live bat (11 hits, 2 home runs) and base-running skills are a welcome addition to the Padres lineup. Veterans Brad Hawpe and Jorge Cantu should shore up the hole at first base created by the Gonzales' departure. Cantu can also play third base.

Returning veteran Chase Headley who anchors third base is hitting hard and with a .250 average. Will Venable and Ryan Ludwick man the corner outfield positions. Chris Denorfia, again the backup outfielder, got a little banged up (wrist and knee contusions) after crashing into the wall but making a great catch against the Astros on Sunday.

The Padres left Houston splitting the series 2-2 on the first leg of a seven-game road trip. It took their best comeback effort of the season to achieve that with an 8-6 Padres win. The Friar's bats collected a season high of 11-hits Sunday scoring five runs in the seventh and eighth innings.

A lot of work remains to be done to improve the Padres bats after an anemic .211 batting average going into the third week of the season. Five of the Padres regulars were batting under .200. In the recent series against the Astros, the team appeared to be coming out of their slump. Chris Denorfia and Nick Hundley went yard, as did Cantu hitting a bomb that hit the wall. Venable had a game-winning hit Sunday, and former All Star Ludwick stroked the ball well all weekend.

"All in all, we saw some offensive contributions," Black said. "It was good to see Ludwick get a big base hit."

After a three-game series with the Cubs at Wrigley Field early this week, the Padres will be home to play the team with the best pitching staff in baseball, the Philadelphia Phillies. The four-game series starts Thursday at Petco Park. After that, the Atlanta Braves come to town.

Remake of 'Arthur' hits big screen

Review by James Colt Harrison

any movie fans may be too young to have seen the original Arthur in 1981 starring Dudley Moore and Liza Minnelli. If so, then the new version starring young British renegade comic Russell Brand will be fresh and new. For those who remember the original, and I emphasize original, there will be a tendency to compare the two films.

The truth is, there is no comparison between the two films. The Dudley Moore version was the first and the most innovative. Writer Steve Gordon wrote a funny, sweet, irascible character for Moore's Arthur, and audiences fell in love with him. He was a drunk, but it was in the days when one didn't have to be so politically correct about it.

The Arthur remake was written by Peter Baynham, who more or less followed the outlines of the original script, but took out most of the hilarious lines and turned Arthur into a more brash character. He's still drunk, but he has been "cleaned up" by having to attend an AA meeting. Not much humor there but Brand milks it for all it's worth.

Arthur is a grown up spoiled brat who will inherit nearly a billion dollars from his wealthy mother (played imperiously well by Geraldine James) if he will only marry society girl Susan (Jennifer Garner). She's rather aggressive and ambitious. Garner has been sabotaged by the makeup artist because she looks like a Russian clown doll with bright red spots on her cheeks. It's probably the most ghastly makeup job on a star since Heath Ledger as The Joker. In fact, he looked better.

Arthur has other plans when he meets ordinary, down to earth gal Naomi (Greta Gerwig) who is a tour guide at Grand Central Station. Gerwig wears no makeup, barely combs her hair, is plain and poor, but she turns him on. Go figure!

Helen Mirren, despite all her Oscars and Golden Globes, has the thankless role of playing the butler/nanny part that Sir John Guilgud played so stiffly and hilariously in the first film that won him an Oscar. Mirren is given a couple of funny lines, but is soon whisked off the screen. To her credit – or to her detriment, depending on how you look at it – she's a little tenderer as the female nanny and doesn't try to duplicate Guilgud's style.

Fledgling director Jason Winer should have practiced on a few more films before tackling such a formidable performer as Russell Brand. He's the type of actor who needs a strong director to reign in his naturally ebullient nature and take-charge comedy style. Brand runs amok, as usual, but he does get in a few funny shots as the loveable alcoholic. Brand is, of course, a loveable creature himself and a very funny man, but he needs shaping and editing so that his comedy bursts are funnier. With the correct director and the right script, this man could take over Hollywood's other comics.

The new Arthur isn't a dreadful picture. Taking on a classic comedy is a risky task at best. Don't mess with a classic is my motto. An original film does not need to be remade, re-imagined, or re-shot. It's fine the way it is. Hollywood should take some advice and make originals but not copy them. The bonehead executive at the studio who green-lighted this picture should be given a job in the commissary scullery peeling potatoes.

A profound true story of our nation's sad misjudgement

Review by Diana Saenger

I can see an engaging film with good performances that is also based on a bit of history I knew nothing about. The Conspirator, set in 1865, goes beyond the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln to look into all the possible schemers who might have been involved in the plot to kill Lincoln.

The film begins on the Civil War battleground where it's clear Union soldier Capt. Frederick Aiken (James McAvoy) is not only seriously injured himself, but struggling to save other injured solders as well. Shortly the film moves a few years forward in time to just moments before Lincoln is shot at the Ford Theatre. It's not long after he dies that officials are on the trail of those connected with John Wilkes Booth and the murder. They quickly learn that he and his comrades resided in a boarding house run by Mary Surratt (Robin Wright Penn). They go to the house actually looking for Mary's son John (Johnny Simmons) who is allegedly one of the co-conspirators.

John is no where to be found which only points a stronger finger to his guilt. They question Mary and her daughter Anna (Evan Rachel Wood) about John's whereabouts but both women deny knowing anything.

Since they can't find John, officials arrest Mary on charges of conspiracy to murder the President. In a twist of fate Aiken's superior Reverdy Johnson (Tom Wilkinson) insists Aiken represent Mary in court. Aiken is both surprised and indignant that he, a staunch Union solider, should be commanded to defend a woman he's sure had something to do with the plot.

After spending some time in the Sutter home with Anna and time with Mary in prison, Aiken comes to believe that Mary is actually not involved in the conspiracy. But time and time again every point he brings up in the Federal trial gets shot down and at times General Hunter (Colm Meaney) and his wartime tribunal even change the law on the spot to suit their case.

While the story unfolds at a leisurely pace, I was never bored or distracted from the events taking place. Director Robert Redford keeps each new incident of the film moving along. He's helped by outstanding performances by Wright Penn, McAvoy, Wilkinson and Meaney

I would highly recommend this film, however I think like me, most viewers will be appalled and ashamed of our country's lack of fairness at the final outcome of The Conspirator.

Veterinarian reveals how stress and diet can affect your pet by Paul McCutcheon, DVM et owners might not realize it, but if Fluffy or Skippy are listless, disobedient and getting sick all the time, chances are that they don't have some mysterious disease - he or she may simply be stressed out.

"A lot of people think that stress is something that only affects humans, but it's a very real threat to the health and happiness of their pets, too," said Dr. Paul McCutcheon, a veterinarian with more than 45 years experience and co-author of The New Holistic Way for Dogs and Cats from Random House (www.newholisticway.com). "Better pet care will result when pet lovers and veterinarians understand that stress is the underlying cause of every form of health problem a dog or cat can have.

Dr. McCutcheon believes that stress, combined with diet and other environmental concerns, can present serious but unspecific – symptoms that can worry both the pet and the pet owner.

"It is important to distinguish between acute stress, immediate and intense, versus chronic stress, a real drag on wellness that results from a long-standing cause of stress," he said. "The best way to support your pet's present and future wellness is through stress prevention. Tune into the kinds of stress that affect your pet and stress-proof the ways you look after their daily needs. For instance, boredom and loneliness are probably the most damaging stress factors in a pet's life.'

Dr. McCutcheon's tips for pet owners who want healthier. happier pets include:

Think before you sdopt — It's critical to ask yourself serious questions about your lifestyle and future before you adopt a pet. In that sense, you can better choose an animal whose needs are similar to your own. By being honest with yourself about your personal circumstance, you can ensure that your pet won't face a stressful future and inevitable health problems.

Establish your role — You need to see your role and your veterinarian's role in a different way. While you are in the best position to influence your dog or cat, your veterinarian can be a good coach who provides you opinions and advice that help you make better choices regarding the care and feeding of your pet.

Watch their diet — Just as processed foods are being blamed for an increase in obesity for people, causing a wide variety of health problems, processed food is a danger for pets, as well. Look into switching over to a new trend in pet food, raw foods. They can be found in pet specialty shops and grocery stores in the refrigerated section. They are also known as "fresh" foods for pets, so ask your store managers about them. They provide a balanced diet with none of the dangers associated with processed food, which makes up the majority of the pet foods available at pet stores and supermarkets today.

"There is a new holistic way of caring for your pet that incorporates a combination of many different approaches to health care — traditional. indigenous, energy-based, and recent developments in Western science all contribute to this new method. There is a direct relationship between the emotional health of a pet and that pet's physical health, just as there is in humans. When we're stressed out from work or family issues, our immune systems suffer. We lose sleep, and we are far more susceptible to the bug that's always going around. We're mammals, and so are dogs and cats. What makes us think they are any different? The truth is, when we're stressed out, so are our pets. Just as pets can sense anger, fear or illness in us - which explains why pets try to comfort us when we're sick – they can also sense our stress. By addressing free and prevent many of the common illnesses that plague them, making them happy and healthy companions for a long time to come.
