Water Authority ends shortage allocations, lifts call for mandatory use restrictions

Significant improvements in this year's weather and water storage led the San Diego County Water Authority Board of Directors today to end mandatory urban and agricultural water supply cutbacks and to lift the agency's regionwide call for mandatory water use restrictions.

The board also reinforced the need for the region to continue to use water wisely and called upon the state of California to finalize a financially viable plan to solve significant problems plaguing the Sacramento-San Joaquin Bay-Delta, the hub of See BITS AND PIECES page 31

Huge crowds attend weekend events hosted by Alpine Kiwanis at Summers Past Farm

by Kathy Foster

The Alpine Kiwanis staged their 21st Vintage Alpine event and the Alpine Challenge bike ride this past weekend with great success at Summers Past

Farms. More than 650 people from all over the county attended the event on Sunday that featured numerous wineries that offered tastings of approximately 100 different varieties of wines. Many San Diego restaurants provided specialty foods for sampling. Relaxing live music was performed by guitarist Jim Earp in the gardens at Summers Past Farms. There was also a silent auction with many one-of-a-kind items to bid on.

Vintage Alpine, began in 1990, is one of the largest events of its kind in San Diego County. Marshall and Sheryl Lozier, owners of Summer Past Farms, have hosted the event for several years. This year they allowed the Alpine Challenge to take place the day before.

The Alpine Challenge began in 2001 as a way for the Alpine Kiwanis Club to fund the Alpine Challenge Scholarship Fund that provides mentoring and scholarship funds to encourage high school students in Alpine to complete school and continue their education. The Alpine Challenge has raised more than $180,000. The goal is help at least two students to attend college every year. Some of the funds of the bike ride also go to Rady Children's Hospital.

Hard work on behalf of the Alpine Kiwanis Club members pulled off a successful event again this year. The first year in 2001 only 70 riders rode in the event. This year more than 500 riders participated from across the state and across the country and each on received a medal, T-shirt and lunch.

Awards were handed out at end of the Alpine Challenge.

FARP crew in Iraq is the 'NASCAR pit crew of aviation'

by Spc. Darriel Swatts

One thing the pilots of the 40th Combat Aviation Brigade don't have to worry about when executing a plan is fuel, thanks to the soldiers who operate the post's Forward Arming and Refueling Point (FARP).

"We are like the NASCAR pit crew of aviation," said 1st Lt. Marcellus Richardson, FARP officer in charge, and a native of Los Angeles. "Pilots fly in for a quick pit stop and we fuel them, arm them, and send them on their way."

Pilots are able to fly into the FARP at anytime to receive fuel. The FARP is run by soldiers of the 640th Aviation Support Battalion, from Los Alamitos, who are deployed to Iraq in support of Operation New Dawn.

"We run 24-hour operations here," said Richardson. "So far on this deployment I have overseen more than 200,000 gallons of fuel into more than 1,500 aircraft."

On any average day the FARP pumps more than 7,000 gallons of gas and up to 40,000 gallons a week, said Spc. Susana Lopez, a resident of San Jose, and fuel accountant at the FARP.

"When we fuel the aircraft, we've got to do it fast," said Sgt. Michael Hamlett, an aircraft refueler from El Cajon. "The pilots have a mission to do so we get them out as quickly and safely as possible."

When dealing with helicopters, safety is of the utmost of importance, commented Staff Sgt. Maritza Marquez, non-commissioned officer in charge of the FARP.

"The soldiers here take their job very seriously," said Marquez, who is from Riverside. "They love what they do and it shows in their work. They're safe, fast, professional and get the job done."

Sgt. Michael Hamlett walks away from an Iraqi Bell 407 helicopter after it has been refueled on the FARP located on Camp Taji, Iraq, April 10, 2011.

San Diego soldier receives 'Combat Patch'

First Lt. Rondolf Moreno, platoon leader with "Dominator" Troop, 6th Squadron, 9th Cavalry Regiment, 2nd Advise and Assist Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, United States Division - Center and a Valencia, Calif., native, attaches the 1st Cavalry Division shoulder sleeve insignia - former wartime service, commonly known as the combat patch, on the right sleeve of Pvt. Ekaterina Feofilaktova, a trooper with "Dominator" Troop and a San Diego, native, during a ceremony in which all members of the squadron received their combat patches at Camp Liberty, Iraq, April 10, 2011. Operation Homefront S. CA names new chairman

Operation Homefront Southern California has recently announced the selection of their next Board Chairman. Rick Nafis takes over the position from outgoing Chairman Lonnie Moore Brown, who presided over the organization for almost two years. Nafis assumes the position of chairing an organization providing emergency assistance to a possible pool of more than 150,000 service members and their families from Lemoore to San Diego.

Nafis has been a member of the board for the last 18 months.

"I can't think of anything more important than providing for the families of our enlisted service members during times of need as their loved ones serve to protect our freedom and way of life," said Nafis. "All of us on the board look forward to helping the Chapter as it continues to meet the growing service demands and work to raise the funds necessary to make it all possible."

Dedication of American Troops Intelligence Officers brings Osama Bin Laden to justice

by Danny Gonzalez

The nation's largest grassroots pro-troop organization, Move America Forward, says that US Servicemen and intelligence officers are to be praised for their dedication and credited with the killing of terrorist leader Osama bin Laden.

"President Obama spoke to the nation Monday night, bringing us the good news that Osama bin Laden had been killed by Navy SEALs in a CIA planned operation. Americans have been waiting for justice for over nine years now, and finally justice has been served," said Debbie Lee, spokesman for the group.

Debbie's son Marc A. Lee was a US Navy Seal and was killed in Iraq in 2006. "I'm so proud that it was a Navy SEAL team that killed Osama bin Laden, and I just wish Marc could be here with his fellow SEALs to share this with the country he died protecting. Marc graduated from his SEAL training shortly before 9/11 and when that heinous attack was carried out by Al Qaeda, Marc wanted more than anything to see justice done. I know he's watching with satisfaction from Heaven today."

"We want to thank all of our troops serving in Iraq and Afghanistan, as well as the intelligence community who have been hunting bin Laden for years. This is yet another victory for Americans and for justice for all the victims of radical Islamic terrorists around the world. Where would we be without our troops? They have proven that they have the dedication and patience to complete any mission, to deal with any threat and we want to thank our troops for that.

"It's also important to thank all of those American patriots who have supported and stood by our troops through all the years. They have been patient as well, for they have continued to send support to our troops even when the media and some politicians were NOT there for the troops. At Move America Forward we will be continuing our mission of supporting our troops, as they are still deployed in Iraq and Afghanistan, and until all of our troops come home we will continue sending our support and our care packages to our brave troops on the front lines. We invite all Americans to join us," concluded Lee.

Laying my Mother's Day cards on the table

I am not one given over to gambling unless you call life a gamble and then all bets are off. I do not even play the lottery because I would end up paying out $1,987.14 in order to win $10. I have a difficult time parting with my money because I am a Pennsylvania Dutchman; at least that is my excuse.

That being said, there is only one area of my life where I indulge in a certain amount of gambling. That area is Mother's Day cards. I am at a complete loss when it comes to this and knows not what I doeth.

Now part of my quandary is in the loose interpretation of Mother's Day. When we celebrate Mother's Day, who in the world are we celebrating?

I can remember when the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and Yours Truly were first married. It was so long ago that I do not have enough fingers or toes to count it. When we were first married, we bought two Mother's Day cards; one for her mother and one for my mother. Oh, how I long for those simple days.

A little over a year after we were married a little tyke came into our lowly domicile. Our first daughter was born in the month of August and I really did not understand the significance of it until the following Mother's Day.

That year we had to buy three Mother's Day cards; one for my wife's mother, one for my mother and one for my daughter to give to her mother.

Now what I want to know is how in the world was I roped into buying a Mother's Day card for my wife? After all, she is not my mother. And I do not know how many times I have reminded her of that very fact.

I was conned into buying that Mother's Day card for my wife by thinking that I was buying it for my daughter to give to her mother. I am not sure I am buying that story. I bought the card, all right, and when I gave it to my daughter; she immediately put it in her mouth. She had no idea what in the world a Mother's Day card was.

Several years later, we had a new addition to our family. Our son was born.

Now I have more Mother's Day cards to buy. One for my mother, one for my wife's mother, one for my daughter to give to her mother and one for my son to give to his mother. These Mother's Day cards are getting to be rather expensive.

You will not believe this, but a few years later, a third child became a member of our family. Our second daughter was born. And you guessed it; my Mother's Day card buying went up.

Now I need to buy a Mother's Day card for my mother, one for my wife's mother, one for my first daughter to give to her mother, one for my son to give to his mother and one for my second daughter to give to her mother.

I once suggested that I buy one Mother's Day card for my three children to give to their mother. I was quickly and soundly outvoted on that issue. And so, I begin saving up my allowance right after Christmas for my Mother's Day card extravaganza.

If this was not bad enough, each Mother's Day card has to be specifically chosen in respect to the person who is giving it. That person, not being me. How many times and how many different ways can you say "Happy Mother's Day?"

I thought I had reached the height of my Mother's Day card purchasing, but then in a few years it took on a different perspective.

Not only was I to buy all of these Mother's Day cards, but I was to take the respective children along with me and allow them to personally pick out the card they wanted to give to their mother. And of course, their mother could not be along to supervise these purchases. Taking two toddlers and one semi-toddler into a store to select appropriate Mother's Day cards is as close as I have ever come to gambling away my fortune.

Between the three of them, they had each boiled down their choice to 97 cards. Of course the youngest just grabbed as many as she possibly could. The two oldest had to look at each card and discuss the contents, meaning of course, I had to read each card to them. Not once, but over and over again.

Looking back on that time I realize that my children had an ingenious strategy all worked out. After four hours of going through all of these cards I would say to them, "If you pick a card right now I'll take you all to get some ice cream."

Now, those children are all grown up and married which has added to my long list of Mother's Day card purchases.

Solomon had it right when he wrote, "Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all. Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the LORD, she shall be praised" (Proverbs 31:29-30 KJV).

Of all the thousands of Mother's Day cards I have purchased throughout the years, I must honestly confess they have all been worth it.

Dear Dr. Luauna

Dear Readers,

In honor of Mother's Day this week I wanted to write a thank you to mothers who love and serve unconditionally; who have a heart to care for their children without thanks or recognition and give the greatest sacrifice. This kind of love is a gift from God. "No Charge" by Shirley Caesar is a song which touches my heart every year. I am moved by the lyrics because they paint a picture of a mother's love. In the song, the child writes a list of chores done along with the price owed to him by his mother. When he is finished, his mother takes a turn, making a short list of what she has done for her child; for the nine months she carried him, for the toys, food and clothes, for wiping his nose, for the nights she stayed up with him doctoring and praying for him. At the end of each duty, the mother lists her price – no charge.

Many times children do not realize all that a mother invests in her children. The Bible tells us children are a gift from God. We must train them in the ways of the Lord that when they are older they shall not depart and even though you do not always receive a thank you, on this earth I want to say thank you and your reward is great in Heaven. 1 Corinthians 15:58, "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

At the end of the song, the child realizes what his mother has done for him; he turns his price list over and writes – paid in full. In Proverbs 31:28 we read, "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her." May God bless you richly on this Mother's Day!

Laughter is the Best Medicine

The dog bowed his head

This fundamentalist Christian couple felt it important to own an equally fundamentally Christian pet. So, they went shopping. At a kennel specializing in this particular breed, they found a dog they liked quite a lot. When they asked the dog to fetch the Bible, he did it in a flash. When they instructed him to look up Psalm 23, he complied equally fast, using his paws with dexterity.

They were impressed, purchased the animal, and went home (piously, of course). That night they had friends over. They were so proud of their new fundamentalist dog and his major skills, they called the dog and showed off a little. The friends were impressed, and asked whether the dog was able to do any of the usual dog tricks, as well. This stopped the couple cold, as they hadn't thought about 'normal' tricks. "Well," they said, "let's try this out."

Once more they called out to the dog, and then clearly pronounced the command, "Heel!" Quick as a wink, the dog jumped up, put his paw on the man's forehead, closed his eyes in concentration, and bowed his head.

Stroke and Osteoporosis Screenings

Residents living in and around the El Cajon community can be screened to reduce their risk of having a stroke or bone fracture. El Cajon Valley Masonic Lodge #576 will host Life Line Screening on May 16. The site is located at 695 Ballantyne Street. Richard Bennet from Woodland Hills, participated in a Life Line Screening event in March 2008 and learned he had an abdominal aortic aneurysm. He writes, "I feel as though Life Line Screening saved my life and can't thank you enough!"

Four key points every person needs to know:

1. Stroke is the third leading cause of death and a leading cause of permanent disability; 2. 80 percent of stroke victims had no apparent warning signs prior to their stroke; 3. Preventive ultrasound screenings can help you avoid a stroke; 4. Screenings are fast, noninvasive, painless, affordable and convenient.

Screenings identify potential cardiovascular conditions such as blocked arteries and irregular heart rhythm, abdominal aortic aneurysms, and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which is a strong predictor of heart disease. A bone density screening to

Help pets beat the summer heat

Most pet owners love their animals so much they want to take them everywhere, and summer is a great time to frolic together in the backyard or to hit the road for a fun vacation.

However, even the healthiest pets can suffer from sunburn, dehydration or heat stroke if you aren't careful, say the experts at The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA).

Here are several ways you can help keep your pet safe and healthy during the dog (and cat) days of summer:

* Visit the Vet. A visit to the veterinarian for an early season check-up is a must. Make sure your pet is up-to-date on all necessary vaccinations. Pets should also be given a blood test for heartworm -- a deadly parasite that is transmitted through the bite of an infected mosquito. It's also recommended that dogs and cats be on a monthly preventive medication year-round.

- Keep Cool. Dogs and cats can become dehydrated quickly, so give your pets plenty of water when it is hot outdoors. Also make sure your pet has a shady place to escape the sun, and when the temperature is very high, don't let your dog linger on hot asphalt. Being so close to the ground, your dog's body can heat up quickly, and sensitive paw pads can burn. And never, ever leave your animal alone in a parked vehicle, even with the windows open, since potentially fatal heat-stroke can develop.

- Know the Symptoms. According to the ASPCA the symptoms of overheating in pets include excessive panting or difficulty breathing, increased heart and respiratory rate, drooling, mild weakness, seizures, and an elevated body temperature of over 104 degrees. And animals with flat faces, like pugs and Persian cats, are more susceptible to heat stroke since they cannot pant as effectively. These pets, along with the elderly, the overweight, and those with heart or lung diseases, should be kept cool in air-conditioned rooms as much as possible.

- Just Say No. Summertime is the perfect time for a backyard barbeque or party, but remember that the food and drink you serve your guests may be poisonous to pets. Keep alcoholic beverages away from pets and avoid human snacks -- especially raisins, grapes, onions, chocolate and products with the sweetener xylitol.

- Pest-Free Pets. Commonly-used flea and tick products, rodenticides (mouse and rat baits), insecticides, and herbicide lawn products can be harmful to cats and dogs if ingested, so keep them out of reach. While there are flea products that can be used safely on dogs, these same products can be deadly to cats, because of the presence of the chemical permethrin. Be sure to read directions on these products carefully. When walking your dog, steer clear of areas that you suspect have been sprayed with insecticides or herbicide lawn products. Keep citronella candles, oil products and insect coils out of pets' reach as well.

- Water Safety. Do not leave pets unsupervised around a pool, as not all dogs are good swimmers. Introduce your pets to water gradually and make sure pets wear flotation devices while on boats. Rinse your dog off after swimming to remove chlorine or salt from his fur, and try to keep your dog from drinking pool water, which contains chlorine and other chemicals that could cause stomach upset.

- No Fireworks for Fido.

Leave pets at home when you head out for fireworks celebrations, and never use fireworks around pets at home.

And be sure to keep all unscreened windows or doors in your home closed and make sure adjustable screens are tightly secured. This helps prevent pets from falling out of them.

If your dog or cat accidentally ingests a potentially toxic substance this summer, contact your local veterinarian or the ASPCA Animal Poison Control Center at (888) 426-4435 for immediate assistance. For more information on having a fun, safe summer with your pet, visit www.aspca.org.

Josh Kelley to perform in the DreamCatcher at Viejas

by Diana Saenger

New Country 95.7 presents Josh Kelley for a free show on Thursday, May 5 in the DreamCatcher at Viejas at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7 p.m.

After spending the majority of the past decade as a successful pop and adult contemporary artist, Kelley returns to the Southern sound he's loved since childhood with his March release of the MCA Nashville country release of Georgia Clay. While it may be his official debut into the country genre, Josh's previous hits, have always contained discernible country flair.

"This record is a time capsule. It's by far the best thing I've written and I've never been more proud," said Kelley, the talented singer and songwriter who wrote or co-wrote each of the album's 11 songs. "I'm finally in a genre where I can write lyrics, tell stories and be a man."

Having married, moved and adopted a baby girl in the past two years this latest project is very much autobiographical. These events created the album and the stories he tells in it.

"My life has completely changed," he said. "My wife is a very strong independent woman, she allows me my own independence and from the first time my baby girl brushed her hand against my face, my life was changed. This album reflects those changes."

Josh's MCA Nashville project not only showcases his talents as a singer and songwriter, but reveals him to be the latest definition of a true renaissance man; a man who's confident enough within his own skin to reveal a new take on sentimental themes by employing thoughtful lyrics.

"Georgia Clay," the album's lead single, reflects on the care-free summers of Kelley's youth when he and his brothers would hitch up jet skis to their Dad's '77 Chevy Silverado and head down to the lake. The album also defines a true renaissance man who's confident enough within his own skin to reveal a new take on sentimental themes by employing thoughtful lyrics.

With a modern country feel songs such as "Great Idea", "Ain't Letting Go", "Two Cups of Coffee" and "Gone Like That" embrace the familiarity of times gone by, not by idealizing the past, but by presenting unique lessons learned from it.

The sentimental and emotionally charged "Naleigh

Moon", a song written for and about his beloved baby girl, dives deep into the intense connection between a father and his daughter.

"We'd only had Naleigh for a couple of weeks when I wrote this and I think it's the best song I've ever written. The way the chords and the melody intertwine, it really tugs on your heartstrings. When I sang that song in the studio, I really meant it."

Kelley attended the University of Mississippi under a golf scholarship where he studied graphic design. He eventually landed a major label deal with Hollywood Records and in 2003 saw the release of For The Ride Home and the success of its Top 5 hit single,

"Amazing." In 2005 he released his second major label Almost Honest and its lead single, "Only You." He released four independent albums between 2006 and 2008.

Upcoming DreamCatcher at Viejas concert schedule:

May 10: 8 p.m., Latino Night – Dia de las Madres ~ Featuring: Los Solitarios and Los Angeles

May 12: 8 p.m., Merle Haggard – SOLD OUT

June 11: 8 p.m., Morris Day & The Time – Morris Day burst onto the public scene with the group's self-titled album, The Time, which included "Get It Up," "Cool," and "Girl."

Soon after the world was introduced the prolific Minneapolis music marvel, the group went on to record three more albums, including What Time Is It? (featuring the hits "777-9311," "Wild and Loose," "Walk," and "Gigolos Get Lonely Too") and Ice Cream Castle, (which included the hit "Jungle Love"). After three albums Morris Day launched his solo career, releasing three albums: The Color of Success, Daydreaming, and Guaranteed. Combined sales of Morris Day's solo work and The Time is in excess of 10 million units.

Alpine Kiwanis annual pancake breakfast sets attendance records

by Diana Saenger

The Alpine Kiwanis Club held their 57th Carmelo Manuele annual pancake breakfast on Easter Sunday. Held from 7 a.m. to noon at the Alpine Elementary School, Kiwanis members reported for duty early to prepare food for the 550 people who showed up to enjoy pancakes, eggs, sausage, coffee and juice – and all for $5.

Alpine Kiwanis Club's President Anthony Cheesman offered thanks to Charles Nelson, his committee and Pene Manale with the Cook Shack and her helpers for doing a splendid job. "I think this was one of our finest Easter Pancake Breakfasts ever," he said.

Not only was the food good and plentiful, the school auditorium looked magnificent. Rose Urdahl and her crew had delicately placed beautiful butterflies around the room and several flower vases with real flowers adorned each table.

This year the club added something new to the breakfast, a special table for kids to dye eggs and place them in colorful buckets, decorate cookies and take a picture with the life-sized Easter bunny. Sue Roff and Jan Herold were in charge of the kids' booth. "They did a great job and their activities for the little ones are very important to the success of the event," Nelson said.

Entertainment as the bunny was handled by two local enthusiasts. Ed Paskle, son of Alpine Fire Protection District Fire Chief Bill F. Paskle and his wife Dana, wore the suit for most of the time and Kathy Nelson pitched in for duty other times.

The kitchen crew worked non-stop dishing up plates. Dick Rabell, scooping out scrambles eggs, thought his job was tiring until he turned around. "There was Ken Schuettenhelm who washed every pot and pan throughout the event," Rabell said. "That took a lot of stamina."

The breakfast began 57 years ago when club member Carmelo Manuele initiated a pancake breakfast for a few members and folks in the community. He did it again the next year and again and again. The event was so successful it has grown more popular every year. Carmelo Manuele has since passed but his wife still attends the event.

"It's an honor to have her come," Nelson said. "We want the event to be a good experience for everyone and make plans with that idea in mind. The proceeds are used for our entire program to improve the quality of life in our community and help children grow and live life successfully."

Home entertainment can cut down on gas costs

Reviews by Diana Saenger

Movie fans have more to worry about than the cost of a ticket or popcorn to gripe about these days; now the exorbitant cost of gas is also a deterrent of leaving home. Not too worry as there are plenty of DVDs hitting the market every day. Here are a few new products for consideration.

But when her innocent idealism clashes with their hard-edged practicality, Roslyn must risk losing their friendship... and the only true love she's ever known. Not Rated – MGM Home Entertainment.

'No Strings Attached' – Blu Ray/DVD Combo Pack

Stars Natalie Portman and Ashton Kutcher in this hilarious comedy that explores whether sex friends can be best friends. 'Fast Five' back to basics

Review by Michael Black

Despite critics' less than favorable review of almost every sequel to Fast and The Furious (2001), the series has made nearly a billion dollars worldwide. The worst film, Tokyo Drift, still made an impressive amount of money at the box office despite being a horrible film. Nothing speaks louder to many studios than money – so here we go again.

Since the best success came when Vin Diesel was cast with Paul Walker, all that was needed was a car related heist plus scantily-dressed women surrounded by fast looking cars. Fast Five follows Fast & Furious where Dominic Toretto (Vin Diesel) is last seen boarding a prison bus to start serving a 25 year sentence. Former FBI agent Brian O'Conner (Paul Walker) leads an assault on the bus and frees Dom. They split up and agree to meet in Rio de Janeiro. Brian and Mia Toretto (Jordana Brewster) meet up with Vince (Matt Schulze) and agree to do a job with him stealing DEA confiscated cars transported on a train. The heist goes awry when it's discovered that the cars actually belong to Rio's most corrupt and dangerous businessman, Hernan Reyes (Joaquim de Almeida).

Since DEA agents are killed in the heist, Diplomatic Security Service agent Lucas "Luke" Hobbs (Dwayne Johnson) is brought in to arrest the team and bring them back to the states. Despite having Agent Luke and all of Hernan's personal army and corrupt police officers hot on their trail, the trio decide to pull off the most dangerous heist to date, steal all of Hernan's money, nearly 100 million dollars.

Unlike the previous installments, Fast Five is more like The Italian Job then a drag race movie. The story has drifted away from being all about racing fast cars. There are a few cool looking cars and sexy women but not as much as the previous movie. The cast delivers the same from previous installments and fans who liked the cast before will not be disappointed. However, fans who liked seeing super modified cars race will be. Fast Five centers on the main characters and with the addition of over-the-top acting of Dwayne Johnson and numerous mind numbing action sequences, but is actually watchable.

Fast Five

from its humble beginnings through the Golden Age to the New Hollywood of the '60s. It's a saga as exciting as any that ever appeared on the silver screen. With three discs from the 7-episode series seen on TCM these features cover everything from moguls such as Jack L. Warner and Louis B. Mayer to great movies on the big and small screens and true Hollywood celebrities. This is a must have for any classic movie fan. "Not Rated" – Warner Bros. Home Video / TCM

For Kids

'Arthur and the Invisibles 2: Arthur and the Revenge of Maltazard' – DVD Arthur (Highmore) travels back to the Minimoys world and joins forces with his old friend Max (Snoop Dogg) and the feisty Princess Selenia (Gomez) only to discover the evil Maltazard is up to his old tricks! First time on DVD, kids will enjoy the adventure of these two movies over and over again. "Rated-PG" – 20th Century Fox Home Entertainment. Saenger Syndicate

California's State Water Project system.

"While our latest drought is over, our state's water supply system is still in crisis," said Water Authority Board Chair Michael T. Hogan. "Thanks to a very wet year and outstanding water-saving efforts by our region's residents, businesses and agricultural community, we can put our drought response tools back in the toolbox – for now. But we cannot forget that ensuring a safe and reliable water supply is a long-term challenge here in semi-arid Southern California. We must solve the water supply and ecological problems in the Bay-Delta that led to cuts in water deliveries from State Water Project and contributed to our recent supply shortages."

The Water Authority has now restored full urban water deliveries to its 24 member retail water agencies, which had been required to comply with a regional 8 percent supply cut since July 2009. The board action also restores full agricultural water deliveries by the Water Authority, which had been cut 13 percent for some agricultural customers since July 2009.

The Board action deactivated the Water Authority's Water Shortage and Drought Response Plan and ended the drought response levels in its Drought Response Conservation Program Ordinance. The region had been in a Level 2 Drought Alert condition, which signaled local water agencies to enact conservation-based rates or mandatory water use restrictions to help curb demand.

In taking the action to end supply cutbacks and mandatory water use restrictions, the board reinforced the importance for residents and businesses to continue efficient water use practices in the face of ongoing supply challenges and the long-term achievement of a state-mandated 20 percent reduction in water use by 2020.

"Wise water use is our civic responsibility," Hogan said. "We need to do this to keep as much water in storage as possible to help us withstand future dry spells. We also must continue our region's long-term water supply diversification strategy to improve water supply reliability so we can withstand future supply shortages from any one source."

The Water Authority originally approved urban shortage allocations and mandatory water use restrictions in April 2009. This came after the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California – the Water Authority's largest supplier – cut water deliveries to its member agencies in response to supply challenges created by dry conditions and regulatory restrictions on water deliveries from the State Water Project.

MWD's cut to the San Diego region was 13 percent. The Water Authority was able to reduce that cut to 8 percent through supply diversification efforts. These included Colorado River water supplies it independently secured through its conservation and transfer agreement with the Imperial Irrigation District and two water-saving canal-lining projects. Supply investments made by its 24 member agencies also helped offset the MWD cuts.

Some local farmers saw their first cut to agricultural water supplies in January 2008, when MWD cut deliveries to customers participating in its agricultural water program. These customers committed to be the region's first line of defense by agreeing to take earlier – and larger – water supply cuts than urban water customers in exchange for paying a reduced rate on agricultural water.

Statewide, supply conditions have improved significantly in 2011. California snowpack conditions were nearly 80 percent above normal as of April 24, and the state Department of Water Resources recently announced the State Water Project will make 80 percent of its requested deliveries this year – up from 50 percent last year, 40 percent in 2009 and 35 percent in 2008. Many key storage reservoirs around the state are nearing their capacity. Governor Jerry Brown ended California's drought declaration on March 30, and MWD ended its supply allocations on April 13.

Agricultural and urban water use in the San Diego region also has fallen significantly. Agricultural water deliveries have decreased more than 50 percent compared to four years ago, and urban water use is down approximately 20 percent over the same period. Water Authority staff estimate improved supply conditions and reduced water use projections have reached a point where supply shortages are unlikely for at least two years.

The Water Authority, also as part of its actions, resolved that despite improved hydrological conditions, California's water supply remains in crisis because of the ecological collapse and water delivery problems that continue to persist in the Bay-Delta in Northern California. The board called upon the state of California to finalize a plan for achieving the co-equal goals of ecosystem restoration and water supply reliability in the Bay-Delta, including a viable financing plan to achieve those co-equal goals.
