'Shop with a Cop' put smiles on little faces

'Shop With A Cop' is an annual event, which was hosted this year by the San Diego State University Police Department and the University of California San Diego Police Departments. Agencies take turns hosting this annual event. They strive to provide over 300 underprivileged children with a joyful holiday season. Most of the law enforcement agencies in the County take part. The City of El Cajon hosted about eight children. Each child spends about $100 in gifts, for themselves or for their family. Officers escort the children helping them pick out gifts. If they spend a little over their limit, the officer usually picks up the difference. Each agency raises their own funds for each child to spend. SeaWorld hosted the breakfast for the children and their law enforcement partner. After breakfast, everyone enjoyed a special SeaWorld show before heading to Target in a procession of law enforcement vehicles with full lights and sirens flashing and wailing. Target provided free gift wrapping for all of the gifts. This event is a law enforcement favorite. Pictured above is El Cajon Police officers and the children they went shopping with breakfast together at Sea World prior to shopping at Target. Photo courtesy of El Cajon Police

El Cajon highlights —

by Monica Zech,
City of El Cajon Public
Information Officer

Please note, this coming Friday, Dec. 9, El Cajon City offices will be closed. For a full calendar of operating hours and dates, please visit the City's website at www.cityofelcajon.us.

Police Chief retires

Friday, Dec. 9, will be the last official working day for El Cajon Police Chief Pat Sprecco. Literally working his way up the ranks, he has been with the City of El Cajon for 39 years as both a volunteer and an employee.

He joined the department as a cadet in 1972; in 1974, he was hired part time to maintain and wash police vehicles; and he served as an intern in communications, records, and investigations. He was hired as a Police Officer in 1976 after completing his associate degree in criminal justice administration at Grossmont College. While a student at the college, he worked as a campus security officer. Sprecco's hard work and dedication earned him the rank of Sergeant in 1982, Lieutenant in 1993, Captain in 2006, and ultimately Chief of Police in March of 2008.

Pat Sprecco has been an integral part of the design, construction, and relocation for the new state-of-the-art Police Station. He guided this department with compassion, humor, and ingenuity, and has been a true advocate for community involvement in the fight against crime.

Sprecco implemented programs for Council recognition of property managers certified for Crime Free Multi-Housing, and for residents enrolled in Neighborhood Watch. He was crucial in the development of the Cold Homicide Program, the current SWAT Team, the Special Enforcement Division and many others.

He is a recipient of the Medal of Valor, two Police Medals, and a Meritorious Unit Citation.

Sprecco has generously shared his insight and knowledge with organizations such as Communities Against Substance Abuse, San Diego County Chiefs and Sheriffs Association, ARJIS Management Committee, Toastmasters, East County Regional Gang Task Force, and Grossmont College Foundation.

Sprecco and his wife Alma have been married for 33 years and have three grown children and five grand-children. Both come from families with a long history in law enforcement. Sprecco's contributions to the City, his forward-thinking, and his can-do attitude have earned him the respect of the Department, his colleagues and the community. We are fortunate to have been under the protection of a man of his caliber and dedication. We wish him a long, happy, and healthy retirement!

El Cajon Police Holiday Storefront now open at Westfield Parkway

Take a break from shopping and visit the El Cajon Police Holiday Storefront in the Westfield Parkway Plaza mall near the entrance to Dick's Sporting Goods now through December 30. Stop by and see the

A special commendation for a special young man

At the December 13 El Cajon City Council, the City Council will be giving a certificate of commendation to recognize El Cajon resident Joshua White for his musical talent, his accomplishments, and his vast contributions in the performing arts. This past September, Joshua performed at the Thelonious Monk International Jazz Competition at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. taking second place honors and a $10,000 prize in the jazz world's most prestigious competition. White is the first San Diegan to make it to the Monk finals, a competition that has been a steppingstone for other jazz greats. He began playing the piano at a very young age of 7. He became the organist for the children's choir at Encanto Southern Baptist Church at the age of 10; and at 12, he took over as the keyboardist for the adult choir. He played in the jazz band at Granite Hills High School, and finally found the outlet for his talent at the first UCSD Jazz Camp. Congratulations to this talented young pianist!

Upcoming closures for City Offices

For those who may be planning any business with the City of El Cajon during the month of December, please note on your calendar the alternate Friday closures and the extended holiday schedule. City of El Cajon offices will be closed on Friday, Dec. 9; City offices will then observe an extended holiday closure from December 23 through January 2. This includes City Hall, the Recreation Centers, the Public Works Yard and Fire Administration offices. Regular office hours will resume on Tuesday, Jan. 3, 2012. Visit www.cityofelcajon.us for more details.

Effort to form a Countywide Arts Council underway led by Art Pulse

April Game, Executive Director of Art Pulse.

As San Diego County has grown over the past decade, so has its arts community, and there is now an effort under way to provide support. Leading the drive is April Game, Executive Director of Art Pulse. Art Pulse is a four year old arts services organization with a mission to support the health of the arts countywide. A series of public forums co-presented by directors from county arts councils around the state are taking place weekly to illuminate what county arts councils are, what they do, and to identify the services that San Diego County needs most.

Art Pulse is committed to making sure the forums reach each area of the county and that everyone has an opportunity to attend, ask questions and be heard. "The only way we will know what our cities need and want is to go there and ask them. We are not stopping at arts leaders, but including our mayors and civic leaders, and opening the conversation to the community as a whole," says Game. "What are your questions? Your hopes? What are your fears? Let's talk about them. We are in this together, let's build this together."

Ed Fosmire agrees. Fosmire is the Executive Director of the Oceanside Museum of Art and former Director of Grants and Professional Development for the Arts Council for Long Beach.

"Whether a community or municipality has a viable arts council says a lot about that community. It speaks volumes about a collective interest in promoting a major economic engine, the creative sector, as well as the relevance of the arts in contributing to the quality of life." Fosmire co-presented the Solana Beach forum held on December 1st and is a supporter of the initiative.

According to Game, there is some confusion about what arts councils do, how they are formed, how they are funded, and how they support their regions. That is the key reason she will be co-presenting the forums with arts council leaders from around the state. Arts leaders like Kristina Young, Executive Director of the Arts Council of Napa Valley.

"Arts councils provide much needed leadership, collective messaging, programming, and marketing for the artists and arts organizations in their counties," says Young. "With a mandate to support and foster all local arts, arts councils are in the unique position to do important work that no other local organizations can for their communities."

"Local Arts Agencies are the bedrock of creative communities," says Michelle Williams, Executive Director of the Cultural Council of Santa Cruz County. "They provide the critical infrastructure upon which the arts can thrive."

"An arts council can also help to develop a community's understanding of the vital role that the arts play in terms of public value and economics," says Patrick Brien, Executive Director of the Riverside Arts Council. This is crucial to building an argument for arts support in a time when some people still consider arts and culture a frill.

"Arts councils are the glue that binds the arts community together in collaborative efforts that are mutually beneficial," says Richard Stein, Executive Director of Arts Orange County. "In this rapidly changing economic and media environment, arts councils also play an increasingly vital role in getting the message out to the entire community about the wealth of arts engagement opportunities available to people of all ages and means."

According to the California Arts Council, San Diego County is one of only seven counties in the state that do not have an arts council. The others are either in sparsely populated areas in the primarily agricultural Central Valley, San Bernardino County, and the extremely poor Imperial County on the Arizona/Mexico border. "San Diego County is the second most populous county in the State and one of the most popular places for vacationers and business travelers in the world. We require and deserve the cultural infrastructure other counties already enjoy."

Game is confident. "The health of our people and our region through the arts, and the health of the arts themselves, depends on the success of an independent, nonprofit organization dedicated to this mission and fiercely committed to going the distance. An arts council is a safety net and a vehicle for stability and cultural advancement that nearly all counties in the state already enjoy. The time is coming for San Diego County to join its peers and to thrive accordingly."

Young and Williams will be co-presenting the December 8th community forum co-hosted by the City of El Cajon (El Cajon Public Library, 201 E Douglas Ave. 6-8 p.m.). Stein and Brien will be co-presenting the December 15 forum in Escondido (California Center for the Arts, 340 N. Escondido Blvd, 6-8 p.m.). For more information and to register for a forum, call April Game at (858) 205-4354 or email rsvp@artpulse.org.

Christmas tree lighting

The Christmas season officially began in Lakeside on Friday, Dec. 3 as the community Christmas tree was lit by Lakeside Firefighters. Thanks to the generosity of the Lakeside Historical Society, the Christmas Tree is on the patio of the Old Church on Maine Avenue. The 13th Annual Christmas on Maine Avenue event was put on by the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce.

The event drew record numbers with a line of people half a block long waiting to see Santa and tell him what is on their wish list.

Families strolled along Maine, where several businesses were open as well as craft and food booths. KSON provided music. The Historical society Resale Shop had steady business as shoppers found gently used and one-of-a-kind Christmas items.

The Lakeside Chamber of Commerce once again provided the community with an outstanding Christmas event. (See more photos on page 14)

Home Tour a success

Lakeside Historical Society 23rd Annual Holiday Home Tour was a big success. Chairperson Coleen Owens found some very unique homes in the Lakeside Area including one which has the old Point Loma Lighthouse on its property.

Inspiration

Whatever happened to cute?

Rev. James L. Snyder

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage had commandeered the Christmas decorating operation for yet another year. I am not quite sure how she remembers when to start all of this, because the thought had not yet entered my mind.

Here it is Christmas and I am about as prepared for Christmas this year as I was last year. One of the great things about my wife is that she keeps all of these holidays in order and on time. I am still reeling from my Thanksgiving Day turkey indulgence.

Once again, our home is in decorating mode. My great contribution to the Christmas holiday decorating plan is to keep out of my wife's way. One year I tried to help her and let's just say we will not repeat that again. I just have no decorating expertise at all. I cannot tell the difference between a wrapping bow and a Christmas tree bulb.

Before I could get out of the way of the decorating frenzy in our home, I ran across something in the back of a box. How it got there, I have no way of knowing. How I got up this morning, I have no way of knowing either. However, there was a photo album from when I was a young person.

I want to stress the fact that there was a time when I was a young person. We will not discuss how long ago that was, but just know that there was a time in my illustrious career when I was a young person.

I opened up the album and saw all of those photographs from when I was a young person. The photograph that really caught my attention was one taken before I was one year old. I had forgotten this photo. Of course, I have no recollection of when that photo was taken. I was about nine months old and I was mostly occupied with the rascal who confiscated my bottle.

I had simple concerns at that time. I was not worried for example about world affairs, politics or the economy. As long as I knew where my next bottle was coming from, I was a happy little camper in a diaper. I miss those days of naivety. I am looking forward someday returning to that state of mind.

I delighted looking at all of those pictures of what's was supposed to be me when I was very young. Then I found a picture I had completely forgotten about.

It is valuable at times to go back and relive the past. I know you cannot really relive the past, but you can look at the past and see how far you have come. Photographs are a marvelous way of reliving the past. These were the old black and white photographs, so you know how long ago that was.

The photo that really caught my attention was when I was very young. I believe this is the first photo ever taken of me. It was in the year of our Lord 1951 and I was nine months old. Looking at that picture I had to admit to myself that I really was a cute little guy.

It was a black-and-white photo but my mother had carefully colored it with crayons. She did a marvelous job but then she had a great piece of work to begin with, if I say so myself.

The important thing about this photo was it was a picture of me, but it was also a picture of the winner of the cutest baby award in our community in 1951. I had won a beauty award when barely 9 months old. How many people can boast about that?

I really do not know any of the details of that beauty contest. After all, every nine-month-old baby is cute. I really do not think I was the cutest baby but then again I won the title and I have the picture in my hand.

Unfortunately my beauty career peaked then and it has been on a downward slide ever since. I have the skid marks to prove it.

After looking at that picture for a while, I went into the bathroom and looked into the mirror. What a shock. I could not see any resemblance in the mirror to anything in the picture. It would be a stretch for anybody to say that the two pictures were of the same person.

When anybody says that beauty is in the eyes of the beholder I would like to correct them and say that beauty is in the hands of the holder of a picture of the baby who won the cutest baby award in 1951.

In the years since that picture was taken, I have lived quite a bit and Father Time has carved his initials on my face. I can honestly say I am not the same person in that photo. What innocence then. What naivety. There in that photo was a person who had not yet experienced the lumps of life yet.

The verse of Scripture that has encouraged me throughout my life has been Proverbs 3:5-6 (KJV), "Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

Life is full of ups and downs, gains and losses but in the end, those who trust Christ are marvelously guided throughout life and enjoy life of blessing to the Lord.

Dear Dr. Luauna

I'm surrounded by Christmas advertising; sales, commercials featuring the newest, "hottest" items. I'm overwhelmed with invitations to parties for work, friends and with family, which always turn into drunk fests. I can't tell anyone, especially my kids, I don't have any money. I am embarrassed and stressed out, how can I make it through the holidays? Signed, Worried About Christmas

Dear Worried About Christmas,

You can make it through the holidays. Every year, the emphasis for the holidays is increasingly shifted away from the true meaning of Christmas and is evident by the very things you described in your question. Many years ago, I discovered the spirit of Christmas is found in the birth, life, death and resurrection of Jesus. His goal was to bring peace, joy and forgiveness through his death on the Cross.

Matthew 1:20-21, "But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name Jesus, for He will save His people from their sins."

It is easy to get caught up in the buying of presents and the "commercial" side of Christmas. But the result is only emptiness, stress, and debt even when the novelty of the gifts fades fast. Your hope is to experience the love of Christ, invite Jesus into your life. Let me lead you to Christ right now, repeat this prayer with all your heart, "Jesus, I acknowledge that I am empty and I have done wrong in my life. I believe you died on the cross for my sins and rose again on the third day. I don't understand it all, I ask you to help me, forgive me, come into my heart, be me my Lord and Savior. Help me to know the true meaning of Christmas. I lay this burden that I am carrying at your feet. Help me to know you and give me strength to make it through this holiday with the right perspective, in Jesus name, Amen." Now, if you have a Bible, start in the New Testament reading the Book of John. Find yourself a good, Bible believing church that will help you grow in your new walk with the Lord. He will take the heavy burdens off of your shoulders. You can then find a peace, which is unexplainable and a joy from the Lord. When I received Jesus over 32 years ago, I taught my children the true meaning of Christmas, which is the only valuable gift the whole world needs.

Toy Safety: Purchasing safe toys for the correct age

by Paul Stab

There are thousands of toys on store shelves to choose from, but making sure a toy is safe and age appropriate for a child is well worth the search to prevent injury or even death.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, in 2010, there were an estimated 140,700 emergency room treated injuries related to toys among children. Strict safety standards are regulated through the CPSC requiring toy manufacturers to label certain toys that could be hazardous to young children, and provide a recommended age of child to be using the toy. But it is up to the purchaser to ensure the toy is safe and the correct age level for the child.

There are some guidelines that shoppers should follow to keep children safe during their playtime. Remember though; use your own judgment as you know the child's maturity level and can best decide if the toy is suitable or not.

Top toys to take into consideration

• Non-motorized scooters and riding toys – Riding toys, skateboards, and even shoes with wheels go fast and falls could easily cause injury at any age. Helmets and safety gear, including elbow and knee pads, should be worn properly at all times and be sized to fit the child.

• Small balls, coins and toys with small parts – Government regulations specify that toys for children under the age of three cannot have parts less than 1 1/4 inches in diameter and 2 1/4 inches long as these small objects can pose a choking risk. Any ball with a diameter of 1 1/4 inches or less should not be given to a young child.

• Balloons – Deflated or broken balloons are another choking risk. Deflated balloons should be kept away from children younger than eight years old and broken balloons and the balloon string should be immediately discarded.

• Art materials – Crayons, paint and other art items should not be given to children under the age of three. Make sure art supplies are non-toxic and marked ASTM D-4236 to indicate the product has been reviewed by the American Society for Testing and Materials. Products that conform to D-4236 have been tested for toxicity. However, this does not mean they are non-toxic, but rather any toxins contained within the product are listed on the packaging.

• Chargers, batteries and adapters – These items can pose electrical and burn dangers to children of all ages. Special attention should be given to instructions and warnings for these items. Some chargers also lack mechanisms to prevent overcharging so do not leave the home when charging.

• Play swords, guns and other weapons – These toys should be given only to mature, grade school age children. They should be bright colors so they are easily differentiated from real weapons and should not be sharp or come to a point.

• Flying toys – Toys that are meant to be airborne can result in serious eye or head injury if not used properly. It is recommended that children under eight not play with projectile toys.

Shopping Tips

• Be aware of the store where you are purchasing toys. Second hand stores and yard sales can be spend-savvy places, but second hand toys may be

Three sisters

Three elderly sisters, ages 92, 94 and 96, shared a house together. One evening, the 96 year old sister went upstairs to take a bath. As she put her foot into the tub, she paused. Then she yelled down to the other two sisters and asked, "Was I getting in the tub or out?"

"You dern fool," said the 94 year old. "I'll come up and see." When she got half way up the stairs she paused. "Was I going up the stairs or down?"

The 92 year old sister was sitting at the kitchen table drinking a cup of tea and thought, "I hope I never get that forgetful, knock on wood." She shook her head and called out, "I'll be up to help you both as soon as I see who's at the door."

CDPH warns against eating Gummies and Bavan Mix Goli Candy

Dr. Ron Chapman, director of the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) and state public health officer, today warned consumers not to eat Bee Sunny Day Gummies candy imported from China and BAVAN Mix Goli candy imported from India after tests conducted by CDPH found unacceptable levels of lead.

Consumers in possession of these candies should discard immediately. Recent analysis of these candies by CDPH determined that Bee Sunny Day Gummies candy contained as much as 0.18 parts per million (ppm) of lead and BAVAN Mix Goli candy contained as much as 0.22 ppm of lead. California considers candies with lead levels in excess of 0.10 ppm to be contaminated.

Bee Sunny Day Gummies candy is sold in a 3.53 ounce (100 gram) package. The package is orange and yellow with orange writing stating 'Sunny Day Gummies' on the front with pictures of various insects and flowers. The package contains 10 pieces of "gummie" candy each wrapped in plastic with the wording 'Sunny Day Gummies'.

Bavan Mix Goli candy is sold in a 14 ounce (400 gram) clear plastic package with an orange and white label. The candy is visible through the package. The candies are crescent-shaped and come in various colors (red, blue, green, yellow, orange, and white). The brand name BAVAN is at the top of the label and "Candy (Mix goli)" is in the middle of the label.

The distributors of these candies are working with CDPH to ensure the contaminated candies are removed from the marketplace. Consumers who find any of these candies for sale are encouraged to call the CDPH Complaint Hotline at 1-800-495-3232.

Pregnant women and parents of children who may have consumed this candy should consult their physician or health care provider to determine if medical testing is needed.

For more information about lead poisoning, contact your county childhood lead poisoning prevention program or public health department. Additional information is available on the CDPH Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Web page.

Check out the Toy Industry Association (TIA) guidelines for Fun Play Safe Play:

Three to Six Years – After the age of three, children begin to play actively with each other. Preschoolers and kindergartners are masters of make-believe. They like to act out grown-up roles and enjoy costumes and props to help them bring their imagination to life. It is quite common for children this age to develop strong attachments to favorite toys, expressing feelings to a special doll or teddy bear. Materials for arts and crafts are also popular with this age group, which enjoys creating things with their hands.

'Arthur Christmas' — adorable, funny and full of Christmas spirit

Review by Diana Saenger

In a flood of holiday movies Arthur Christmas floats to the top. This computer-drawn production – in 2-D or 3-D, is clever, funny and will entertain both children and adults. It's about the most exciting place of all for Christmas – the North Pole. That's where Santa lives, but in this case it's a family of Santa's and who will succeed one after the other.

The current Santa (voice of Jim Broadbent) is a bit tired and eager to end another long trip around the world. Meanwhile, his massive work place, which is like a huge Christmas control center, is busy as a beehive as thousands of little elves now incorporate 21st century technology in making sure every child gets a gift. Santa's sleigh is actually tracked by Google Earth.

But there are some hiccups on this Christmas Eve. Oldest son, Steve (Hugh Laurie) is expecting to step into his dad's shoes, but doesn't quite have the gentle insight his dad and Grampa Claus (Bill Nighy) did. In fact, Steve wants to run things by the book. So what if they discover that "one" child was missed on Christmas Eve. But little brother Arthur (James McAvoy), who has the humdrum job of answering all of the kids' letters, cannot let that happen.

Even after he brings this to light and the crew sets out in the new supersonic sleigh – that looks like something that once went to the moon – there are problems as the flight controls malfunction. But Arthur, along with probably the most trusted elf, Bryony (Ashley Jensen), pull out some tricks that bring modern day Christmas and that of Christmas Past together to work miracles.

This story is adorable and the characters are truly unique including the perky and sweet Mrs. Claus (Imelda Staunton). The Aardman Animation (Wallace & Gromit) is as adorable to see as it is funny with a wonderful feel-good spirit of Christmas.

Michelle Williams gives worthy performance as Marilyn Monroe

Review by Diana Saenger

Like her entire life, fascination for My Week With Marilyn – the new movie about Marilyn Monroe, has intrigued fans since its announcement. That the story is really only about one week in her life when she went to England to make a movie should not disappoint her fans. Although the movie is not in the outstanding category, Michelle Williams does an amazing job in her role and the film has enough true story to entertain.

Monroe and her method acting coach Paula (Zoë Wanamaker) arrive in England in 1956 to film The Prince and the Showgirl, directed by her co-star Laurence Olivier (Kenneth Branagh). She is nervous and feeling insecure even though her newest husband, Arthur Miller (Dougray Scott), is with her. He stays mostly out of sight and working on his plays. All which does not suit the needy Marilyn.

Olivier soon realizes he's out of his league with Monroe. She not only shows up when she wants to or sometimes not at all, she's difficult to work with, and pleas to Paula fall on deaf ears.

Michelle Williams in My Week With Marilyn. Photo Credit: Weinstein Company

When Olivier hires Colin Clark (Eddie Redmayne), a 23 year-old from Oxford as his assistant, Colin thinks he's the luckiest man in the world. He's got a hard crush on Monroe. Williams captures the essence of Monroe perfectly both with her timid performances, singing, dancing and sexiness that attracts all the men in the film.

Her relationship with Colin goes far beyond expectation and alarms some of the others who think they control Monroe. Redmayne is superb as the young adolescence who grows up quickly. Branagh does an excellent job as Olivier but for me, didn't seem to physically fit the role.

With some facts revealed about Monroe some may not know and a top-caliber cast, My Week with Marilyn is still a good movie to see.

Put a Sweet Spin on Holiday Celebrations

It's not Christmas until you unpack Santa's sack of goodies. So, gather all the little elves in your neighborhood and have them join you in the workshop for some cheerful holiday crafts, sweet treats and festive party favors.

Create a Delicious Holiday Centerpiece. When it comes to holiday centerpieces, all you need is a little imagination. Jars filled with holiday colored candy – like Wonka Cheery Chewy Spree – are an inexpensive alternative to fancy candlesticks and vases. Add a special touch to the jar by applying matching bows or ribbons.

Build a Sweet Gingerbread Sleigh. This is a fantastic activity for crafty kids. Gingerbread houses are a tasty Christmas classic, but why not try putting a twist on the tradition by building a gingerbread sleigh or train instead? The kids will delight in playing Santa's helpers when it comes time to decorate and load up the sleigh. Make it an impressive hostess gift – or centerpiece at your own party – by loading a few Wonka chocolate bars and bags of SweeTarts Merry Mix inside the sleigh.

Make Your Own Holiday Stocking. Embrace your artistic talent with this fun project for the whole family. Personalize each stocking by writing names with fabric pens or paint, and adhere holiday shapes cut out from fabric. Make them especially memorable by hiding Nestlé Crunch Paul Frank bars or a Wonka Fun Dip Fantastical Fun Book inside.

Prepare Edible Ornaments. Fast, frugal and totally festive, edible décor like a popcorn garland, has long been a family favorite. These homemade cookie ornament cups are fun to decorate, and are perfect for holiday cookie exchanges, too.

Cookie Ornament Cups

Makes 24 servings

1 package (16.5 ounces) Nestlé Toll House Refrigerated Chocolate Chip Cookie Bar Dough

1 container (16 ounces) prepared white frosting, divided

2 quart-size plastic food storage bags

Red food coloring

Mini pretzel twists, broken for ornament hook (24 hooks are needed)

Frosty Wonka Nerds*, various holiday sprinkles, sugars and/or decorating gels

24 Nestlé Jingles*, any flavor, unwrapped

PREHEAT oven to 350° F. Grease 24 mini-muffin cups. Place one square of cookie dough into each cup.

BAKE for 15 to 17 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely in pan(s) on wire rack. With tip of butter knife, remove cookie cups from muffin pan(s).

SPOON half of frosting into plastic bag; seal. Stir food coloring into remaining frosting in container until desired color is reached. Fill other plastic bag with colored frosting; seal. Cut 1/2-inch from corner of each bag. Squeeze bags lightly to pipe frosting on top of each cookie cup to form rounded ornament shape.

Decorate with Nerds, sprinkles, sugars and/or gels. Place Nestlé Jingle on top of each. To adhere hook, use a small amount of icing.

*Frosty Wonka Nerds and Nestlé Jingles are available through December.

broken or defective, becoming dangerous. Also, without original packaging, age guidelines and warning are not available. Examine each toy carefully looking for cracks, paint chip-pings or even leaking battery fluid.

- Be aware of what toys are made of as some products have dangerous substances that can be harmful when ingested.

- For toys that produce sound, look for toys that have a volume level to protect chil-dren's hearing. A noise rat-ing may also be listed on the product. If there is not a rating listed, you can contact the toy manufacturer and request this information. An extremely loud toy for children is 90 decibel.

Remind children to properly put away their toys because if they are left out, they can become a tripping hazard for everyone. Proper supervision of children at play will also result in a safer playtime.

Consumers can find up-to-date toy recalls and report dangerous toys and injuries caused by a toy on the CSPC website, www.cpsc.gov/.

Iams Home 4 the Holidays

Iams Home 4 the Holidays has placed its 6 millionth homeless pet a forever home.

Iams Home 4 the Holidays, one of the world's largest pet adoption programs, is thrilled to announce that it has reached the significant milestone of placing its 6 millionth homeless pet in a forever home. The landmark adoption comes in the program's 13th year as Helen Woodward Animal Center and Iams again team up with more than 3,500 animal organizations from across the globe to encourage pet adoption.

"We are incredibly proud of this achievement and are grateful to those families who have opened their hearts – and their homes – to an animal in need," said Mike Arms, founder of the adoption drive and president of Helen Woodward Animal Center. "Having reached our 6 mil-lionth adoption, we recognize that there is still plenty of work to be done in our fight against pet homelessness, which is why we're inspired to continue our work and this yearly program."

In 1999, 14 San Diego-based animal organizations participated in Iams Home for the Holidays and 2,563 animals were adopted into their forever homes. The program has grown geographically each year with participants now in 21 countries, but the roots are still strong in San Diego. Participating San Diego area organizations include El Cajon Animal Shelter, Friends of Cats (El Cajon), Borrego Animal Rescue (Borrego Springs), Camp Pendleton Animal Control, Chihuahua Rescue of San Diego, Coronado Animal Care Facility, County of San Diego Department of Animal Services, English Springer Rescue (Carlsbad), Escondido Humane Society, Foundation for the Care of Indigent Animals (Spring Valley), It's the Pits Dog Rescue, Labradors and Friends (San Diego), Loving Arms Animal Rescue (Chula Vista), San Diego Spaniel Rescue, San Diego Turtle and Tortoise Society, Second Chance Dog Rescue, Shelter Pet Partners (El Cajon), United Hope for Animals, Vizsla Club of America (Ramona) and Westie Rescue of California (El Cajon).

This year's campaign goal is to find homes for 1.5 million pets and donate 5 million meals to animals at participating adoption and rescue centers (through the Bags 4 Bowls campaign). So far, for the 2012 campaign, more than 520,000 pets have been adopted, including 270,159 dogs and 241,640 cats.

Through January 3, people can participate in Iams Home 4 the Holidays by:

- Visiting a participating animal organization in your area and give a dog or cat or rabbit or turtle a loving home this holiday season.

- Visiting Helen Woodward Animal Center's Facebook page to read heartwarming adoption stories from around the world

(www.facebook.com/Helen-WoodwardAnimalCenter)

- Supporting your favorite local animal organization by becoming their fan on Facebook or Twitter; by donating time, goods or money; and by spreading the word about the great work they do.

- Becoming a fan of the Iams Facebook page (www.facebook.com/iams) and creating a custom adoption announcement or holiday card to share with family and friends. For each card created and shared, Iams will donate a meal to pets in need.

- Purchasing specially-marked packages of Iams dog or cat food during the duration of the campaign. For every specially-marked package sold, Iams will donate one bowl of food* to a participating Iams Home 4 the Holidays animal organization.

"We are thrilled to celebrate our 6 millionth pet adoption," said Michel Brousset, Iams Marketing Director. "While we're working towards our goal of placing even more animals into loving homes this holiday season, we recognize that not everyone is in the position to adopt a pet and we encourage those animal lovers to lend a hand through our Bags 4 Bowls program. Together, we can help millions of animals in need."
