29th Annual Invitational Meet made winners of everyone

by Cynthia Robertson

West Hills High School in Santee was the host on March 10, 2012 for the East County Kiwanis Invitational Sports Meet, formerly titled the East County Special Olympics. The 29th annual event celebrated the abilities of athletes who have varying degrees of mental and physical challenges.

Kiwanis Division 31, part of the global organization of volunteers, has been a champion of the event. According to Gary Montoya, event coordinator for the Kiwanis Clubs of Division 31, their goal is to change the world one child and one community at a time.

Coach Nancy Jones led the athletes of Sweetwater Special Track in warm-up exercises before opening ceremonies.

"Mrs. Jones is awesome," said parent Aracelly Valverde. "My daughter has been on her team for 17 years. She still gets cards and letters from Mrs. Jones encouraging her to keep competing."

At 9 a.m. Master of Ceremonies and Fletcher Hills Kiwanian Ray Bello announced for everyone to pause as Eagle Scout Troop 950 advanced with the Color Guard. Fletcher Hills Kiwanian Adam Locke gave the invocation. A group of athletes, Kiwanis volunteers and pageant ambassadors sang the National anthem.

"I'll play with pride," athlete Marisol Valdez said into the microphone, "and now the games begin."

The Parade of Athletes wound around the track to the different field and track events.

At the Running Long Jump, Angela Donais jumped 2.7 meters, earning First Place in her division. "It feels like flying in the air when I jump," she said. "I've been jumping since I was 9-years-old. But it always takes me awhile to get used to the track because I have vision problems. I just do the best I can."

Her mother, Vicki Bakki, said that the Games were a terrific opportunity for her daughter to get exercise and make friends. "We look for those opportunities," Bakki said. "And Angela has an album full of medals."

Leaping to victory runs in the family. Donais' husband, Michael – whom she met 21 years ago in a math class – also competed in the Running Long Jump. He won a 2nd Place for his Division. He was very proud to hold up his ribbon.

Andy Fedoriouk, a volunteer working alongside Angela and Michael Donais, gave them both a high-five. The 17-year-old Granite Hills High School student felt good about helping others. "It's a humbling experience to serve," Fedoriouk said.

Over at the Long Jump Kenneth Johnson placed First Place in his division and shared his victory with two new friends, Miss El Cajon 2012 Stephanie Schauer and Miss Teen South Bay 2011 Erin Weaver.

"This day has not only been about us touching the competitor's lives, but our lives touched by them," Schauer said.

The overall event required volunteers from Key Club, Builders Club, local schools, churches, the Builders and Kiwanis Clubs, and Kyds and Knights of Columbus Club. Volunteer Mary Powell, a member of the Valhalla High School Key Club, also enjoyed the experience. "I enjoy seeing the athletes smile. I'm in this for their joy," she said.

All the athletes and volunteers enjoyed a lunch of hamburgers, hot dogs, chips, cookies and soda. Sponsors included Costco, Sysco, Keil's Market, Pepsi, Frito-Lay, Sycuan Casino and D.Z. Akins and was cooked and served by local Kiwanians.

"It's always a good feeling to see the athletes get their medals and ribbons and how proud they are of their accomplishments," said La Mesa Kiwanian Gary Montoya who brought the event to East County in 1983. "Some participants remember us from last year and that's special too."

An elegant garden party and wacky frogs to benefit St. Madeleine Sophie's

by Cynthia Robertson

Nearly 500 people are expected to attend the St. Madeleine Sophie's Center (STMC) 14th Annual Morning Glory Brunch in the organic garden on April 14. A favorite East County tradition, this year's event will be a country style garden party.

"Think of country style like at the Gingham Restaurant in La Mesa," said Debra Turner-Emerson, executive editor of STMC. "I like to call it Industrial Cowboy. The brunch is one of my favorite events because it shows our beautiful garden and the aquatics."

The annual brunch is well known for its frog races in the Center's pool. The purchase of a rubber frog for $100 or two for $150 will land it in the race that's held towards the end of the event.

"The race is fun and can be a lot of suspense for those who bought a frog," Auxiliary board member Alison Cummings said. "It's purely random which frog wins. But sometimes we have to help the frogs along with some wind, so we put the fan on. Sometimes Debra has to get into the pool to help move the frogs along."

The first prize for the winning frog is $7,500; second and third place winners also garner cash prizes. The wacky fun of the frog race and the elegant garden party raise funds supporting the organic garden and aquatic program for students. The organic garden blooms year round thanks to the students who learned their skills from hands-on training they receive at St. Madeleine Sophie's. The aquatic program is an important part of the students' weekly exercise program.

St. Madeleine Sophie's Center serves developmentally disabled adults and began as the vision of a mother's group in conjunction with the work of the Religious of the Sacred Heart that facilitated the opening of the school in 1966. At the time it had one classroom. That same year, the Auxiliary was formed to give SMSC assistance and financial support through fund raising and personal efforts.

Several members present at the Auxiliary meeting last week talked about their memories of the old days. "We used to do things the old-fashioned way," said Bebie Norris, a member for more than 40 years. "We would set up an event for 400 people, do most of the cooking, and then we'd clean up after it was all done."

Norris will be honored at SMSC's Brunch of the Bay in October for her long-time commitment.

She and other Auxiliary members – Liz Ravenis, Susie Halstead and Auxiliary President Mercy Belasquez – are still busy as bees behind the scenes. The Auxiliary is a $5,000 sponsor for this year's Morning Glory Brunch.

"We all wear different hats," said Sharon Esche-Irving, publicity chair for the Auxiliary. "I wish we could clone what we have here at the center. There's no other place like it in the country; it's like family."

Event Coordinator Jeff Redondo hopes to raise $70K for St. Madeleine Sophie's Center through ticket purchases for the brunch. "We can't do it without our supporters," he said.

The 14th Annual Morning Glory Brunch will be held April 14, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., 2119 E. Madison Avenue, El Cajon. To purchase tickets or frogs, visit www.MorningGloryBrunch.com.

Inspiration

The financial experts are around the world in 90 minutes

by Rev. James L. Snyder

I was snuggling down in my easy chair with a riveting book in hand when the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage shared with me an observation.

"I just was thinking," she began very seriously, "that we have not taken a trip lately."

We once went to Thailand for several weeks, which was wonderful. One of the delightful things of that trip was visiting the elephant ranch and riding the elephants.

As we were in line to ride the elephants the person in charge took one look at me and said, "No, no." He said something in some language I could not understand and then proceeded to pair my wife up with another woman and insisted I ride the elephant alone. From what I got out of his gestures and tone of voice was he thought I was too heavy to ride an elephant. Being compared with an elephant and being on the losing side of the comparison, is not something I enjoyed experiencing.

I have been insulted quite a bit throughout my life, and this certainly was one of them. Being the congenial gentleman that I am, I submitted to his evaluation and rode the elephant by myself. I did a lot of bouncing, deliberately, on my elephant ride. I hope that elephant remembers me.

We have had other trips and have enjoyed ourselves tremendously. But when she asked about the last trip we took, I could not bring into focus our last trip.

Not world travelers, of course, but we do like to take little jaunts here and there just to get away from the rat race. To participate in the "rat race" I suppose you have to be a rat.

It is good to get away from other rats and associate with rats you do not know.

Nothing really came of my wife's observation. She just mentioned it, then the subject was dropped, and we went on to what we were doing.

Several days later I was about to take the trip of my life.

I bought some ink cartridges for my printer and happened to buy the wrong kind. The way the world operates today is that you cannot make a mistake and then take the product back and exchange it for the right one. The only way I could get any satisfaction about this was to call the company and put in a request to have this ink exchanged for the right cartridge.

I got the number and called the company. That was the beginning of my trip around the world.

The first stage of this trip was punching in numbers. I am not sure of the purpose for punching in numbers in order to get to somebody that can help you. What happened to the good old days where you actually talked to a person you could understand what they were saying?

For about 15 minutes, I punched in number after number after number. I thought for a moment that I was reading the book of Numbers in the Old Testament. I do not mind numbers when they add up. However, what I really do not like are arbitrary numbers that absolutely make no sense to me. Of course, many things do not make any sense to me.

Finally, after punching numbers until my fingers began to bleed, I got an actual human voice. Ah, the great satisfaction of actually encountering a living, breathing human being on the telephone. I took a moment to enjoy the moment. It was not to last long.

As I began listening to the voice on the other end of the phone, I became a little puzzled. I heard the voice, she came through loud and clear but I had no idea what she was saying. I said quite a few times when the conversation warranted, "Huh."

After a few minutes of this, I realized the person I was talking to was in the Philippines. How I got to the Philippines, I will never know. I am not saying that the young woman's English was bad, just that my ears were not able to catch the nuances of her phrases.

Not getting any satisfaction from this young woman in the Philippines, she transferred me to someone in India. I had just got accustomed, or so I thought, to the Filipino accent and now I was hearing someone talk to me from India with a completely different accent.

I spent a few minutes in India and what we talked about I have no idea. I just wanted to exchange my ink cartridges for the correct ones. I am not sure what somebody in India has to do with my problem.

Not getting any satisfaction from the chap in India, I was transferred to someone in Idaho. I wanted cartridges not potatoes.

After some quasi-delightful minutes in Idaho, I came to the excruciating conclusion that it would be worth my while, not to mention the cash involved, to just forget the whole thing and throw those cartridges away and buy new ones.

On my way to buy a new cartridge, I thought of a verse of Scripture. "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known" (1 Corinthians 13:12 KJV).

I am looking forward to that final trip where I will see Him face to face, no misunderstanding then.

Dear Dr. Luauna

Dear Readers,

When I got saved 33 years ago, I wanted to witness to my mother right away. She stood with her hands on her waist very defiant, in anger and declared, "I am a Christian. We have always been Christians." I was shocked. Why? My mother's lifestyle was totally opposite of Christianity. Her life is perfect example of why my spirit is deeply troubled about the state of Christianity today.

When I was a child, my father did not want me, and then my mother placed me and my other sister in an orphanage at a young age. Later on, she picked me up and dropped me on the doorstep of my father's home; a shock to him, his wife and child. None of them wanted me around. Then my mother picked me up and took me home, she had four daughters from four different fathers, I was the second oldest. My mother was strikingly beautiful and a man magnet. She was married and divorced eight times not counting the boyfriends in between. The welfare of her children was the last thing on her mind – we were an inconvenience.

My sisters and I were always in danger from the sexual predator boyfriends, the physically and emotionally abusive stepfathers. My sisters could not help but copy our mother; the list of destruction includes teenage prostitution, children out of wedlock from multiple fathers, multiple marriages with divorces, several attempted suicides, drug and alcohol addictions, and victims of attempted murder. By God's grace I did not follow in her footsteps because I was disgusted with her lifestyle. I was filled with anger and hatred, a time bomb ready to explode at any minute. By the age of 11, I was in detention because I ran away from home after my stepfather beat me up.

I kept exploding, which led to being locked up in foster homes, detention centers, a place similar to a women's prison for minor girls. I was released at the age of 15 to my mother, she was in between boyfriends and I was in the way even though I tried to stay out of her hair. I went to school fulltime and held a fulltime job at a Mexican restaurant. She threatened to call my probation officer and send me back to lock up. I made a dumb decision and got married, my back was against the wall and I didn't know what to do.

A few years later, my husband was murdered while having an affair with a married woman. Her husband came home and killed my husband. I had a toddler son and was pregnant with my daughter. There are more details in my book, "A Mother's Story." I received Christ as my Savior 33 years ago when Jesus broke the curse of generations off of me, my son and daughter. Yet my mother's bad choices only left a path of destruction upon her four daughters reaching down to her 38 grandchildren.

The reason I wrote this letter is to encourage you, if you are a Christian then let Christ make the change in your life today. Don't wait until you leave a trail of destruction in the lives that you touch. 2 Corinthians 5:17, "Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new."

The dirt on antibacterial soap

by Amy Mathews Amos

When my sister and I were kids, we giggled upon learning that 60 percent of the human body is comprised of water. We wiggled and wobbled and moved our bodies in mushy wave-like motions, mimicking the sloshy mess one would expect of something made largely of liquid. It turns out we should have been pretending we were covered in bugs.

Scientific studies now reveal that nine out of 10 cells in our bodies are not actually us, they're microbes. Yes, we're crawling with microscopic creatures, including bacteria, viruses, and fungi.

And in fact, the overwhelming majority of these creatures are not bad, but good. These puny partners, having evolved with us for eons, aren't just hitching a ride. They're earning their keep with hefty tasks – helping digest food, absorb nutrients, and attacking disease-causing invaders.

So if they're good, and we need them, then why are we working so hard to kill them? And by harming them, are we also unknowingly harming ourselves?

Sales of antibacterial consumer products – including multiple brands of antibacterial hand soap, body soap, dishwashing liquid, sponges and more – have mushroomed recently, fed by our growing fears of germs and nasty “superbugs” that no longer respond to antibiotics. Up to 75 percent of hand soap now sold in the U.S. is antibacterial.

I even bought antibacterial cotton swabs recently by mistake, not noticing the antimicrobial claim until I got home. Which begs the question: do I really need to worry about microbes in healthy ears?

In truth, most of these products aren't needed. Washing hands with regular soap and warm water removes harmful germs just as effectively as antibacterial soap, says the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Soap binds with bacteria, picks them up off the skin, and allows them to be whisked away with warm water. People with compromised immune systems from chronic disease or chemotherapy may want added protection, but most of us don't need it.

In fact, antimicrobial products may be bad for you. Most antibacterial items are treated with a pesticide called triclosan. Studies suggest that triclosan disrupts thyroid and sex hormones in animals. It also gets washed down drains into waterways, where sunlight converts it into a poisonous dioxin that hurts fish and wildlife.

Also, remember that triclosan kills all bacteria, which means it can kill those good bugs on your body that help prevent disease by keeping harmful bacteria, viruses and fungi in check. Some scientists worry that excessive use of antibacterial soap could actually make infectious bacteria worse by accelerating their resistance to antibiotics.

But it's not just about infection. Many scientists believe good microbes play a critical role in regulating our metabolism, guiding brain development, influencing behavior and regulating health. For example, microbes in the gut have been shown to alter brain chemistry in mice, affecting anxiety and depression, and they may influence inflammatory responses that contribute to cancer and heart disease.

The National Institute of Health is currently examining the trillions of microbes found in the human mouth, nose, esophagus, gut, skin and urogenital tract to identify which are found in healthy people, and which are missing in those who aren't. Related research is exploring whether microbes can help treat chronic digestive and autoimmune disorders such as Crohn's disease and multiple sclerosis.

Scientists are also studying whether modern medical practices such as C-sections (in which newborns bypass healthy bacteria in the birth canal), and excessive antibiotic use are contributing to escalating health problems such as asthma, food allergies, and obesity.

So save your creepy crawlies for Halloween. Most of those trillions of tiny creatures on your body help maintain a very complicated and miraculous system: you. Wash the truly scary bugs away with simple soap and water and ignore the marketers trying to trick you into buying something you don't need.

Your microbes, and the remaining 10 percent of human cells in your body, just may thank you.

Laughter is the Best Medicine

A woman's week at the gym

Dear Diary, for my birthday this year, my husband purchased a week of personal training at the local health club.

Although I am still in great shape since being a high school football cheerleader 43 years ago, I decided it would be a good idea to go ahead and give it a try.

I called the club and made my reservations with a personal trainer named Christo, who identified himself as a 26-year-old aerobics instructor and model for athletic clothing and swim wear.

Friends seemed pleased with my enthusiasm to get started! The club encouraged me to keep a diary to chart my progress.

MONDAY: Started my day at 6 a.m. Tough to get out of bed, but found it was well worth it when I arrived at the health club to find Christo waiting for me. He is something of a Greek god — with blond hair, dancing eyes, and a dazzling white smile. Woo Hoo!!

Christo gave me a tour and showed me the machines... I enjoyed watching the skillful way in which he conducted his aerobics class after my workout today. Very inspiring!

Christo was encouraging as I did my sit-ups, although my gut was already aching from holding it in the whole time he was around. This is going to be a FANTASTIC week!!

TUESDAY: I drank a whole pot of coffee, but I finally made it out the door. Christo made me lie on my back and push a heavy iron bar into the air then he put weights on it! My legs were a little wobbly on the treadmill, but I made the full mile. His rewarding smile made it all worthwhile. I feel GREAT! It's a whole new life for me.

WEDNESDAY: The only way I can brush my teeth is by laying the toothbrush on the counter and moving my mouth back and forth over it. I believe I have a hernia in both pectorals. Driving was OK as long as I didn't try to steer or stop. I parked on top of a GEO in the club parking lot.

Christo was impatient with me, insisting that my screams bothered other club members.. His voice is a little too perky for that early in the morning and when he scolds, he gets this nasally whine that is VERY annoying.

My chest hurt when I got on the treadmill, so Christo put me on the stair monster. Why would anyone invent a machine to simulate an activity rendered obsolete by elevators? Christo told me it would help me get in shape and enjoy life. He said some other crap too.

THURSDAY: Butt hole was waiting for me with his vampire-like teeth exposed as his thin, cruel lips were pulled back in a full snarl. I couldn't help being a half an hour late-- it took me that long to tie my shoes.

He took me to work out with dumbbells. When he was not looking, I ran and hid in the restroom. He sent some skinny witch to find me.

Then, as punishment, he put me on the rowing machine-- which I sank.

FRIDAY: I hate that jackass Christo more than any human being has ever hated any other human being in the history of the world. Stupid, skinny, anemic, anorexic, little aerobic instructor. If there was a part of my body I could move without unbearable pain, I would beat him with it.

Christo wanted me to work on my triceps. I don't have any triceps! And if you don't want dents in the floor, don't hand me the darn barbells or anything that weighs more than a sandwich.

The treadmill flung me off and I landed on a health and nutrition teacher. Why couldn't it have been someone softer, like the drama coach or the choir director?

SATURDAY: Satan left a message on my answering machine in his grating, shrilly voice wondering why I did not show up today. Just hearing his voice made me want to smash the machine with my planner; however, I lacked the strength to even use the TV remote and ended up catching eleven straight hours of the Weather Channel.

SUNDAY: I'm having the Church van pick me up for services today so I can go and thank GOD that this week is over. I will also pray that next year my husband will choose a gift for me that is fun-- like a root canal or a hysterectomy. I still say if God had wanted me to bend over, he would have sprinkled the floor with diamonds!!!

Lakeside Community Planning Group meeting

The Planning Board approved a request submitted by Wade Ennis for industrial designation on Moreno Ave. Ennis said that during the General Plan re-zoning his property was not zoned industrial, which was an oversight since all the surrounding properties are zoned industrial. Residents on the south side of Moreno Valley expressed concern over industrial zoning worried Moreno Ave will become filled with big trucks like Vigilante Rd.

A request submitted by Bob Turner was approved by the Board to remove the horse trails on Johnson Lake Rd. #107 and High Meadow Loop #44. Discussion was shared over concerns on how narrow Johnson Lake Rd. is and the concern over horses crossing Hwy 67. It was reported by Chair W. Allen there have been 13 deaths on 67 during the past year and expressed concern about crossing at Johnson Lake Rd.

Let these great spring tips spruce up your garden with amazing eats!

San Diego gardens are perfect for producing some of the best edibles available, and March is the ideal time to plant many things for your kitchen garden. This month will keep most gardeners busy with not only salad staples for the spring and summer, but also some long term additions that will integrate well into a San Diego landscape.

In addition to March as a prime planting time for tomatoes, this is also the time to get artichokes, corn, green beans, cucumbers, and both summer and winter squash into the ground. For that summer salad, this is as good a time as any to plant carrots, radishes, beets, and chard.

One of the things that makes San Diego so ideal for backyard gardens is the sunshine. Vegetables love sunshine, so a few tips from Armstrong's Cordero can help to make this a more successful season for your garden-to-table growing. "Sunshine is comes from the south, so plant your tall crops to the north and short crops to the south. If you're planting rows, have the rows run from north to south so you will capture the sun from side to side across the garden. If you don't have full sun, try planting lettuce, potatoes, asparagus and herbs in partially shaded areas. If you're looking at tomatoes with partial sun, make sure they will get at least the midday sun and are in an area where they get protected heat to help grow and nurture then."

For gardeners with long term plans, March is also a great time to plant citrus, avocado and macadamia trees, all available now at Armstrong Garden Centers. And for a fun Saturday outing, why not make sure your tomatoes actually grow well this year by joining a free tomato growing class at any Armstrong Garden Center on March 3, 17 or 31. Armstrong also offers a free class on "Gardening for Beginners" on March 17.

Armstrong Garden Centers has been taking the guesswork out of gardening since 1889. AGC is the largest California independent retail nursery company with 31 locations throughout the state. For more information on Armstrong Garden Centers and more great gardening tips, visit their website at www.armstronggarden.com or visit any of San Diego's seven locations.

renters. Their success has given FBS Property Management a prominent place on the list of rental services in San Diego County.

As president of the San Diego County Apartment Association (SDCAA), Fjellestad worked closely with DeMarco, who was chairman of the SDCAA education and trade show expo. The company acquired and managed thousands of properties in California and Arizona. By the late 1980s FBS' management aspect needed a total revitalization.

DeMarco suggested that Fjellestad hire him. "We enjoyed each other's view on San Diego real estate and passion for property management. The rest is history," DeMarco said about their partnership.

Early on, the partnership identified a specialized niche of offsite management of single homes, individual condo rentals and smaller apartment rental properties. FBS has been involved in almost every aspect of management, including HOAs, commercial, industrial and multifamily units. "Chris had the tenacity and ability to be that operational leader and has been ever since," Fjellestad said. "We became good at this niche and gained a singular reputation."

The company has grown and now includes property management of a strip mall and commercial office buildings. FBS has adjusted well to the pendulum swing in the needs of both owners and renters. The biggest recent change for renters is paying 35-60 percent of household income for rent, compared to only 15 to 18 percent in 1972.

The Internet has changed how both the owner and resident access information. In the past, the majority of the information on laws and guidelines favored the property owners, while the residents struggled to obtain information on their own rights. "The residents were at the mercy of the landlord," Fjellestad said. "That has all changed. The residents now have almost too much information; mostly incomplete or very generalized."

Adding to the information imbalance has been the shaky economy. FBS has responded by encouraging owners to continue to invest during flat times. Some of the success as a company for 40 years is because FBS relates to its clients as a family. Sometimes it means that DeMarco and Fjellestad keep longer hours, even though employees are expected to work only by appointments on weekends. Other times it's about always having a live person answer the telephone.

DeMarco's daughter Melissa DeMarco also works with FBS. She recently earned a degree in Psychology from SDSU and said her counseling techniques often come in handy.

"I learned to listen to people when they need to talk about their situation. Often people are at the point of being evicted and are panicked. That's why we always make sure someone is here to help them."

FBS operates rental properties in 65 zip codes throughout the San Diego region. The company's central location is in Del Cerro. Another office is located in Rancho Bernardo. For more information contact FBS Property Management, 6398 Del Cerro Blvd. #8, (619) 286-7600.

'W.E.' – she took away the British throne

Review by James Colt Harrison

Madonna's new film W.E., which she directed, intertwines the story of the greatest romance of the 20th century, and a modern girl's infatuation with it. Wally Winthrop (Abby Cornish) is a lonely New Yorker who is obsessed with the love story and how it influenced the world. She is having an embryonic affair with Russian Evgeni (Oscar Isaac). She researches the story of King Edward VIII's abdication of the throne for a divorced woman he loved, an American commoner named Wallis Simpson from Baltimore, Maryland.

One misconception is this film is the only story of the King and Simpson, but it's not. So it becomes confusing at the beginning because it's not apparent who the character Wally really is. Is she Mrs. Simpson as a young woman, or is she a character who is impersonating her?

With Madonna responsible for the script along with Alek Keshishian, the credit, and blame, must be put on her as sometimes the story is muddled and totally confusing. Intertwining the two stories of young Wally Winthrop and Wallis Simpson and the King takes a bit of getting used to and sorting out the details is a bit daunting. But once you figure out who is whom, it's kind of a revelation to realize who the characters are and how they connect.

Naturally the "romance of the century" is easy to follow as it has taken on the aura of a myth by now. In 1936, King Edward gave up the throne for "the woman I love," and astonished millions around the world. Brits were almost apoplectic, and the Royal Family was aghast. Not only was Mrs. Simpson a "commoner," but she was an American (horrors!) and divorced three times.

With no King to his title, Edward and Wallis became the Duke and Duchess of Windsor forevermore. In their disgrace, they soon became the toast of Europe and then America – two prize guests at any party and were the jewels in society that openly welcomed them. The Royal Family, of course, dealt with them with a ten-foot pole, and would only invite them to Buckingham Palace on rare occasions.

Andrea Riseborough plays Simpson as though she were Simpson herself. She's a dead-ringer for the woman who nearly caused the downfall of the British Empire. She's very chic as was Mrs. Simpson, and she even captures those rare humorous moments with restraint and dignity. James D'Arcy plays the former monarch a little more sprightly than one would ever imagine he was. In his photos he always looked rather dour, but in the film he seems to have come alive and became a lively and humorous human. Not that he was like the beer-swilling guy next door, but he did have his warm moments.

The best parts of W.E. are the flashbacks to the 1930s with some use of vintage film, plus the newly filmed scenes that capture the flair and style of the era. Being a sucker for more or less scandalous stories, the film pleased this reviewer to no end to see yet another version of the pampered lives of Wallis and Edward.

Madonna may be just getting her directing wings, and it may take a few more films before she really knows what she's doing. The film is not bad, but it looks like it needs a little polishing and a little guidance for the director.

St. Patrick's Day

As the nation celebrates this St. Patrick's Day on March 17 with frothy pints of Guinness, many will raise glasses to recognize the hal-lowed patron saint of Ireland (who is actually British!).

While those glasses are raised, consider cheering a few other Irishmen who made contributions to the world. Did you know an Irishman, John Philip Holland, invented the submarine? Color photography was invented by Ireland's John Joly. And guided missiles, the modern tractor, and even a cure for Leprosy were all invented by Irishmen.

So as you search for that elusive four leaf clover, remember that Ireland has given us much more than just good beer!

Discussion and Action

VI. Organized / Special Presentations:

1. Carl Stiehl, County of San Diego will be sharing that the County Department of Planning and Land Use will be doing a rezone to C34 General Commercial / Residential which used to be a Mixed Use Commercial zone on APN #'s: 403-262-26 and 403-271-45. One of the parcels used to be the old Barber Shop and the other is the dirt lot across the street next to the Liquor store. These rezones will be in line with the new Village Core zones that are being proposed. Presentation, Discussion and Action (if needed)

2. A representative from SDG&E will give a construction update on the Powerlink Project, the Streetscape Improvements and 20-A undergrounding of the utilities. Presentation and Discussion

3. Michael Long, County of San Diego will be asking the Community of Alpine to decide on one of three options in moving forward with 2nd Phase Streetscape Improvements which are to be completed along Alpine Boulevard. These improvements will entail adding drainage underground and digging up the Boulevard again in a few areas to do the underground work. These improvements are not tied to 1st phase Streetscape improvements that are being paid for by SDG&E accept option #1 below. The three options are: Discussion and Action (we need Community input)

Construction Schedule Options:

#1 - Expedite Storm Drain Design by the County.

Delay SDG&E paving in the downtown area (Tavern Rd to South Grade Rd).
SDG&E will repave west of Tavern Road and East of South Grade Road along Alpine Boulevard in Summer 2012.
Install drainage improvements to prevent 100 year flood issues.

SDG&E will remobilize to pave (Tavern Rd to South Grade Rd), which is part of 1st Phase Streetscape improvements to be paid for by SDG&E.

#2 - Construct Phase 2 Streetscape improvements in Summer 2013.

SDG&E maintains current schedule to repave Alpine Boulevard in Summer 2012. The County will then come back in Summer 2013 to trench into the newer repaved street in various areas. Install drainage improvements to prevent 100 year flood issues. The County now pays to repave the road in the areas trenched and has to abide by the new rules that go into effect should one choose to dig into Alpine Boulevard during the 3 year moratorium (County paving policy).

#3 - Construct Phase 2 Streetscape improvements after the County 3-year moratorium (County paving policy) in the Summer of 2015.

4. Bob Citrano, County of San Diego will be presenting a summary of the workshop meetings that have taken place with the residents of East Alpine and will let us know where County Staff is at in the process. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are, or may be, responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy, to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, call (619) 466-6530 or fax 619-698-4912 or visit the internet website at www.statewiderecon.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet web site. The best way to determine sale results and/or postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. P929228 3/15, 3/22, 03/29/2012

El Cajon Animal Shelter PET OF THE WEEK

"Hi everyone...hurry on over to the El Cajon Animal Shelter, and meet one of the sweetest, nicest, mellowist, and cuddliest Cocker Spaniel ladies in the entire world. My name is Princess, and I feel like a Princess too, because I visited the groomers and just wait until you see my wonderful haircut and see how beautiful I am. I'm soooooo cute too! More than anything else, I would love to have a new forever home with you, where I could snuggle, cuddle and go for walks. I'd love to have a little yard where I could enjoy myself, and then at night of course, have a cuddly dog bed in the house, where I could curl up, so I can be close to my person or my family. I'm just 6 years old and still a youngster. Cocker Spaniels are really wonderful dogs, so I am hoping that you'll come to our shelter and ask our great shelter staff to introduce us. We have great exercise yards where we can meet, and then you'll see what a great Cocker lady I am. Help make my dreams come true for a new "fur"ever home with you. It's almost Spring time and the weather is beautiful, so I'll be waiting to hear the sound of your footsteps near my kennel gate, and waiting for you to call my name, and then I will know for sure that you have come to meet me. I'm the ultimate snuggle bunny and one, special lady! Love, Princess" Please visit her in kennel #28.
