City of El Cajon implements new Downtown District

by Diana Saenger

The El Cajon CDC (Community Development Corporation) began in 1996 to improve neighborhood services, but due to many problems was dissolved in 2011. The city implemented a new PBID (Planned Business Improvement District) at the beginning of 2012 titled Downtown El Cajon Promenade District.

The Promenade District is funded through taxpayers of the district who voted to have an additional tax on their property. The Board of Directors include; Daryl Priest, President; Cathy Zeman, Treasurer; Bobbi Pearson, Secretary; Jeff Davies, Executive Director; Gabriel Marraujo, Member; Martin Samo, Member; Mario Tilaro, Member; Rob Turner, Member; Rick Sweeney, Member; and Deborah Bailey, representative for County of San Diego.

Jeff Davies was chosen by the Board of Directors as the Executive Director due to his experience. Davies has a Marketing degree from San Diego State, is a Real Estate broker, and owned his own advertising firm for more than 20 years working special projects with the Union Tribune and North County Times. Over the last few years Davies had a vision of how the Downtown district could be improved.

"I read an article about the PBID in the paper and Daryl Priest listed ideas he had for improving property values in the area such as the Clean and Safe program, which I understood because then people will want to come there to do business and people will want to buy property there," Davies said. "The article talked about building on the car show and concerts with things like a farmers market and bringing in someone with commercial real estate experience. I also have a commercial real estate business with experience in this business district. This position really felt right for me."

Officially incorporated as the Downtown El Cajon Business Partners, Inc., the Board Members DBA'd a second name as Downtown El Cajon Promenade District for marketing and identity purposes. Davis likens the Promenade District to a homeowners association but with stakeholders (property owners). The District encompasses Main from the transport center to Claydelle and Magnolia from Lexington to Hwy 8.

"Our goal is to raise the identity of this district with new plans and capitalize on the branding of the area with our highly recognizable arch to say who we are and create a destination that attracts visitors countywide," Davies said.

One main focus of the District is the Clean and Safe program. An independent contractor handles the duties of cleaning up the streets as well as making them safe. The original program had an Ambassador program that is currently being revamped.

Because he has a limited budget Davies is focused on running a lean and tight regime that gets the work done but is also able to zigzag. "In other words, be able to handle more than one task at a time," he said. "Most people are looking at where they are walking and they don't see that a mile ahead there's a giant rock in their path. If you look at your destination – the mountain – you'll see the rock, but not if you're just looking where you're walking. We've got 10 mountains we're heading towards, but each has its own time frame."

When asked about the East County Performing Arts Center, Davies replied that ideas and questions have been raised, but no definite decision has been made about its future as of yet.

Additionally the District will oversee the Wednesday night Cajon Classic Cruise car show starting April 25, with the popular Charger Steve back to coordinate and promote that event. Concerts on the Promenade begin May 4 with Bill Nobel as our promoter and coordinator. Cajon Classic Cruise and Concert schedules will appear in the East County Gazette soon.

Other events are in the works as well as plans for the 100th year centennial and the November Mother Goose Parade. Davies also has a vision of how to create more awareness of downtown businesses and bring more visitors to the Downtown District.

Davies believes good things are in store for the Promenade District. "I'm working toward reaching the mountain within the management plan which involves many things and agencies," Davies said. "The Board of Directors has been insightful in getting the ball rolling and saw the value in creating a new focus."

The Downtown El Cajon Promenade District is located at 155 W. Main St. Ste 101, (619) 334-3000.

Downtown El Cajon Promenade District's Clean and Safe program

by Diana Saenger

One of the main focuses of the Downtown El Cajon Promenade District is the Clean and Safe program. Under Director Davies management the program has been revamped to be more efficient and maintain its goals to make the District clean but also safe. Davies has had several meetings with the El Cajon Police Department in meeting the needs of the program.

To better communications between the District's stakeholders (property owners), Davies is implementing a call list that will be distributed to all stakeholders. "Here's where you call for an obstruction in the street, this number for a problem with a homeless person, and etc.," Davies said. "That starts a direct communication line with them. We are also in discussion with the Police Department about starting a neighborhood watch program."

Part of the details of the clean program – directed by the management plan provided by the City – includes power washing the streets. This is handled by the ECTLC (East County Transitional Living Center). "These workers do exceptionally good work," Davies said. "They are in a program and overseen by supervisors who were in the same position as their workers. Previously when a homeless encampment was discovered it was cleaned out right away. That might have been harsh, so now we post a notice with legal statues and that next time through it will be cleaned out."

With the community hotline, once graffiti is reported to the hot line it should be abated within 48 hours. "If that doesn't happen we want our stakeholders to let us know so we can follow up on it," Davies said. "We also report any graffiti we see directly ourselves. Another improvement is that the City wants us to take pictures and send them to their database so they can track it as a lot of these tags are marking territories."

"The new revised Clean and Safe program is the best way to effectively use stakeholders' funds we receive and really make it work," Davies said.

Boulder Oaks Career Day unites kids with future careers

by Diana Saenger

On Wednesday, March 21, Boulder Oaks held the 2012 Career Day outside in front of the school on Tavern Road in Alpine. Teachers and school employees worked hard to put the event together and arranged for 15 professionals to show up and talk about their careers.

Remember back when baby boomers thought about their futures and most of the options were a cowboy, policeman, nurse and teacher. Three of those career choices have advanced to new heights and make excellent opportunities, and children today are already beyond the education level of their grandparents who were in the same grade level. Today exciting career choices are off the charts.

"I thought our Boulder Oaks Elementary School Career Day was a great success," said Moana Miller, Principal of Boulder Oaks Elementary School. "The presenters were an excellent representation of a wide variety of career opportunities."

Class by class teachers escorted their students in front of the individual tables set up by the Career Day presenter.

Scheduled to be Presenters were:

April Geelan – Accident Investigation

Brad Rushing – Alpine Fire Department (but several firefighters showed up)

Patrick Palmer – Aerospace Engineer

Ed Sanchez – Software Engineer

Jared Michaels – EMT Officer – Border Patrol

Kevin Cadora – Lawyer

Rachael O'Gorman – Deputy Probation Officer

Greg O'Gorman – Firefighter

Larry Adair – Police w/K9

Brenda Holmes – Physicians Assistant

Diana Saenger – Newspaper writer, Entertainment Editor

Corey Cooper – Lawyer

Chris Newcomb – Nuclear Engineer

Law enforcement and fire sciences are always popular with the kids and a police car, fire engine, and ambulance on the curb drew big crowds of excited kids to find out about these careers. Michael Slater, President and CEO of Nik

Software along with Executive VP Edward Sanchez, are co-founders of Snapseed, a company that has new photo imaging software available as mobile apps for phones and digital SLR cameras. "Our kids go to this school so we wanted to be here to show kids some of the exciting doors that can open in this field," Sanchez said. "We are business entrepreneurs but also teachers about our products so this is fun for us to be here."

Kate Brabosky, Christian Soria, Kathryn Dean and Ian Winfield had some interesting items on their Goodrich table. They talked about aerospace – even handed out small wooden airplanes – becoming an engineer and explained some of the cool looking items on their table. "We support teachers and are partners in education," Winfield said.

Chris Newcomb, Alpine resident and an Alpine Kiwanian wowed the children with details about being a nuclear engineer which involved everything from submarines and aerospace to managing Alpine firefighters talk to one of the classes.

Brenda Holmes details specific tasks of a physician's assistant.

software systems. Newcomb is a systems engineer/program manager at the Space and

Naval Warfare Systems Command. He is also the founder and a board member of the Alpine Education Foundation. "I'm involved in helping the kids to learn all they can," he said. "We're also working hard on bonds that will keep our bond money here locally to support Alpine schools."

This journalist was also happy to talk to kids about the exciting career of writing. Not only is it fun to be a film critic and interview celebrities, but more importantly to be a historian in our community in documenting those who live, work and play here.

"The feedback that we received from parents was that their children couldn't wait to share the details of things that they had learned while visiting the presenters' booths," Miller added. "The presenters were also impressed by the students' focus of attention on their presentations and to the content of the questions that the students asked of them."

Some things seem too good to be true

by Rev. James L. Snyder

Recently I discovered something. The more I tried to keep up with the latest trend the further behind I get. I am not a complete technical idiot, but I'm not too far off. The only thing I can say about me is that I at least try.

The best example of all of this has to do with my cell phone. Is there anybody on the planet today that does not have a cell phone? And, the most important question, is there anybody driving a car that is not at the same time on that cell phone? Who in the world are they all talking to?

My guess is they are all talking to each other. At least, they are not talking to me.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage finally convinced me to go into cahoots with her and get cell phones. The plan was this. She got to pick out the cell phones and I got to pay the bill. I must say I beat her on this one.

She only got to take the cell phone once but I, get to pay the bill every month. I was chuckling to myself that I finally pulled one over on her until I realized that I get to pay the bill every month. Every month! This is the last time I will try to pull something over on her. I never win.

Consequently, we now are in the cell phone industry. I am not sure it is all working out for the good.

I have yet to master the technological skill associated with successfully using my cell phone. Although my cell phone is rather small, it has more buttons on it than Bozo the clown's costume. Not only are there more buttons than I can count but each button is smaller than I can see. Who in the world designed such small buttons?

I really think that my cell phone was designed for some midget.

At this point, I cannot tell the difference when my cell phone is ringing or when I am receiving a text message. When a text message comes in I try to answer the cell phone and nobody seems to be on the other end. When I try to read the text message there are only letters instead of words. It takes me a half hour just to figure out one text message. Where is James Bond when you need him?

I may not be the brightest letter on the keyboard but I do know how to spell words. It seems that in order to use a cell phone today you have to throw out words and start using letters. I will never get the hang of that.

When somebody is on the phone and I am talking, all of a sudden the phone goes dead. I can talk for three minutes before realizing nobody is on the other end. I find this most frustrating.

I am not sure that the convenience of the cell phone is worth the frustrating elements associated with having the cell phone.

In a crowded restaurant the other day, my cell phone went off. Not thinking too much of my environment I answered the cell phone. It was a friend calling me.

The conversation started rather jovial for all practical purposes. Suddenly I became conscious I had an audience. There are times when I really prefer not to have an audience. This was one of those times.

I realized some of the people around me were eavesdropping in on my conversation. Then the unthinkable happened. My cell phone suddenly went dead. It went dead in the middle of a rather humorous joke I was telling. Now what was I to do?

It really was not my fault that the phone went dead. I did not plan it that way. Besides, I hate it when somebody stops in the middle of a joke and you never get to the punchline.

For a few seconds I was not sure what the proper protocol is when your phone goes dead and you have an audience. I had to do some very quick thinking and come up with, what I thought was, a brilliant plan.

I understand that when you do have an audience you have a certain responsibility with that audience. So, not to disappoint my audience, I continued my conversation on the cell phone as though somebody was actually on the other end. I was able to finish my joke and then I paused, not knowing what else to do. I merely continued the conversation I was having with my friend who really was not on the other end of this time.

Sometimes it is good just to keep up a good front. From the snickers of the people around me in that restaurant, it was well worth finishing that joke. I hate to waste a good joke. After all, they are so hard to come by these days.

Many things are just too good to be true and many of them I probably will never really get the hang of it. One thing I never really will fully understand is God's love for me.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16 KJV).

Although this sounds too good to be true, it is true nevertheless.

New treatment for heart disease lets patients get the exercise of running while they sleep

A new treatment for heart disease is allowing patients to get the exercise they need to improve their cardiovascular health even while they sleep, watch TV, talk or listen to music.

Called "EECP® therapy", the painless procedure has the patient lie down on a comfortable padded table while three sets of inflatable cuffs, similar to blood pressure cuffs, are wrapped around their calves, thighs and buttocks. Triggered by the patient's own heart beat, the cuffs are inflated with air during the heart's resting phase, gently squeezing the lower body and pumping extra blood throughout the body, especially to the heart and coronary arteries.

"By enhancing blood flow when the heart is at rest, EECF provides even more benefits than exercise, stimulating blood vessels throughout the body so they grow, become stronger, and become better able to deliver more blood, oxygen, and nutrients to the body's cells and organs," says Dr. Ozlem Soran, Associate Professor of Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh, and one of the world's foremost experts on EECF therapy.

Dr. Soran says the FDA-cleared therapy is good news for the millions of heart disease sufferers who are so physically limited by their heart disease symptoms that they cannot engage in even the most basic physical activities, such as walking or climbing steps.

"EECP therapy gives millions of patients suffering from angina and heart failure the benefit of vigorous exercise despite the patient's limitations; it is exercise for those who cannot exercise," says Dr. Soran.

Dr. Soran says patients who don't feel like napping can read, listen to music, or chat with other patients during the non-invasive treatment, which is delivered on an outpatient basis in a series of daily one-hour sessions.

"The additional blood flow through the arteries stimulates the cells which line the arteries, improving their health and actually reversing arterial inflammation and the hardening of the arteries often associated with cardiovascular disease," says Dr. Soran

According to the American Heart Association, heart disease is the leading cause of death in the United States. It kills 2,200 Americans every 24 hours and costs the nation more than $444 billion in medical expenses and lost productivity annually.

Dr. Soran says EECF therapy's safety and effectiveness have been documented in over 160 publications and peer-reviewed medical society journals, showing 75 to 80 percent of patients who receive the therapy obtain relief of symptoms associated with heart and circulatory problems for up to 5 years. Some physicians familiar with EECF therapy say it could eventually replace some of the drugs and invasive surgical procedures currently used to treat cardiovascular disease.

Dr. Soran says EECF therapy is typically prescribed by cardiologists whose patients have already undergone prior invasive procedures, like stenting and coronary bypass, but still suffer from chest pains and other angina equivalent symptoms (fatigue and shortness of breath) which are also the related symptoms experienced by heart failure patients.

"EECP therapy can relieve pain and return mobility to patients who are ineligible or not good candidates to receive invasive procedures, but we investigators believe that EECF therapy can be an effective first option for millions suffering from certain/selected types of coronary artery disease prior to any other interventional procedures," says Dr. Soran.

EECP therapy is covered by Medicare and most private insurers.

Dr. Ozlem Soran, MD, is an Associate Professor of Medicine and Associate Professor of Epidemiology Research and Director of the EECF Lab at the University of Pittsburgh's Heart and Vascular Unit. A Fellow of the European Society of Cardiology and of the American College of Cardiology, Dr. Soran is one of the world's leading authors in the field of Enhanced External Counterpulsation, and has published more than 75 peer-reviewed articles and studies on EECF Therapy.

Flying directions

A helicopter pilot is flying to Seattle, and hits a pea-soup-thick fog bank. He's completely disoriented, and flies blindly around until he spies the top few floors of an office building. He pulls up real close to it, and gets the attention of a woman sitting at her desk.

"Excuse me ma'am!" he yells to the woman. "Where am I?"

"You're in a helicopter," she replies.

The pilot pulls off sharply to the left, takes one or two crisp turns through the dense fog, and then does a perfect blind landing at the Seattle-Tacoma Airport.

"That was amazing!" says a passenger. "How did you know from that woman's answer where you were?"

"Easy," says the pilot. "Her answer, while correct, was absolutely useless."

So I immediately knew the building had to be Microsoft Tech Support."

Navy commemorates new building to honor Lt. John W. Finn

by Diana Saenger

On March 26, 2012, the U. S. Navy held a Dedication and Ribbon cutting for the Lt. John William Finn Hall built on the Naval Base Coronado to commemorate his heroic actions while serving on Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii on December 7, 1941. Finn, a Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, was a resident in Pine Valley. He passed away on May 27, 2010 at age 100, and was the oldest surviving recipient of the nation's highest honor for valor and among the first to receive the award during World War II.

The Congressional Medal of Honor is awarded for extraordinary heroism, distinguished service and devotion above and beyond the call of duty. The March 26 ceremony was to honor Finn by naming new living quarters after him. The John W. Finn Hall is part of the Navy's Homeport Ashore Initiative designed to improve the quality of life for young single sailors by living ashore while they are in port.

"It's been a long dry spell for new single junior shipboard sailors in Coronado," said Captain Yancy Lindsey, Commanding Officer Naval Base Coronado, in his welcoming speech. "Thirty two years ago was the last time we cut the ribbon on a new barracks here. The second reason we are here today is to honor a Naval war hero and Congressional Medal of Honor recipient, Lt. John W. Finn."

The crowd, including Finn family members, military officers, Pearl Harbor Survivors and invited guests stood for the Parade of Colors and national anthem. Guest speaker RADM Dixon Smith, Command Chaplain, Naval Base Coronado, took the podium to speak about Finn.

"Today marks a very important day for the Navy and Naval Base Coronado," Smith said. "We open up another 1,000 rooms for our sailors assigned to our ships. These rooms have microwaves, stoves, refrigerators, washers and dryers and a bed bigger than a rack, and they can sit up in bed and not hit their heads. I had the privilege to meet Mr. John Finn. In addition to this building his name was on one of our white boats in Hawaii that we use to ferry all the visitors that come to the Pearl Harbor visitor center and go out to the Arizona memorial. All five boats were named after Medal of Honor recipients. Approximately two years ago John was able to come out and spend some time at the now Marine Corp base Kaneohe Bay to walk the ground he walked many years ago on that infamous day. He then came over to Pearl Harbor to see his namesake – his boat – and the big grin that he had was ear to ear and he probably shed several years of tears."

Captain David Lepard, Force Weapons Officer Commander, Naval Air Forces, who was Finn's friend for many years, took the podium next. "This is a fantastic facility for the Navy and Marine Corp team to be able to come to every night while ashore with their own parking spot and be able to go in watch TV, do their laundry and relax."

Lepard recounted some early facts about Finn – how he joined the Navy at age 17, and at only 5'5" tall took a lot of ribbing from his comrades. After boot camp he was stationed at NAS North Island working on planes but really liked guns and wanted to be an Ordnanceman. He eventually got his wish. He would serve in Panama, and the Asiatic Pacific where 600 miles up the Yanjing River he bought a 1923 BMW motorcycle and brought it back to San Diego. Finn also served in the Philippines and Hawaii.

"The Navy recognized John was a leader and his hard work paid off because he made Chief Petty Officer in just nine years," said Keadar who also noted John's insistence on a real house while stationed in Hawaii and a garage because he collected everything. "If it wasn't nailed or glued down it ended up in John's garage."

In addition to more personal stories about Finn and his property back in Pine Valley, Lepard noted more facts about Finn's duty including reading from a speech when Finn received his Congressional Medal of Honor. "Finn's magnificence courage in the face of almost certain death helped repeal the Japanese attack on Naval Air Station Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii on December 7, 1941. This complete disregard for his own life and staying with his machine gun, although many times wounded, was the kind of American spirit necessary to victory."

A sculpture of a soldier in battle was unveiled. It's on loan from an artist whose father also was awarded the Medal of Honor. "Even though he was only 5' 5" he was like 7 feet tall; he stood for so much," Lepard said about Finn. "He was a true inspiration to the Ordnancemen in the Navy, and on the end of this sculpture it says, 'Don't Give Up the Ship.'"

Both other speakers offered final remarks about Finn. "John Finn was a remarkable role model and to name this building after him, there is no better choice," Command Chaplain Smith said.

"Finn Hall will keep his (John's) fighting spirit alive for all those that call this place home," Captain Lindsey said.

Just before the ribbon cutting Lepard approached AO Ulloa Black, the first sailor to be assigned a room in Finn Hall. He presented her with a special John Finn coin and advised her to always remember Finn's courage and to carry on his tradition of service.

The John W. Finn Hall is a spacious building with recreation rooms, a lobby with videos about Finn and memorandums of him on the walls. Two outdoor gathering decks on the 7th floor offer a nice place to relax and take in the beautiful view of the San Diego bay side.

‘Mirror Mirror’ — a hilarious spoof

Review by Diana Saenger

If you are one of those saying “no” to Mirror Mirror before seeing it, don’t be so quick to judge. The comedy has some good elements going for it, and I walked away entertained by this bizarre Snow White adaptation.

Snow White (Lily Collins) has been locked away in a castle tower by her wicked stepmother (Julia Roberts) for years. Snow’s father (Sean Bean), the king, has died and left her to be raised by the Queen. While much of the household staff is on Snow’s side, they know not to cross the Queen or they’ll be harshly dealt with by one of her spells.

The Queen is always on a tangent to be lavish, so when her servant Brighton (Nathan Lane – not as funny as usual) informs her that the kingdom is broke, she goes on a wicked warpath, demanding even more taxes from the small improvised villagers.

Meanwhile, Snow has turned 18 and is determined to attend the upcoming ball at the castle. Looking beautiful from head to toe, she sneaks in and even manages a dance or two until she comes face to face with a tall handsome stranger (Armie Hammer.) The Queen already knows the Prince of Valencia is attending and plans to ensnare him into marriage to save her village. But when she sees the sparks exchanged between Snow and the Prince, she plans her revenge.

Snow must flee – and ends up caring for and being protected by a group of seven unlikely little men. Their names fit the mischievous thieves perfectly. Half Pint (Mark Povinelli), Napoleon (Jordan Prentice) Chuckles (Ronald Lee Clark), Butcher (Martin Klebba), Grimm (Danny Woodburn), Grub (Joe Gnoffo), and Wolf (Sebastian Saraceno). All of these actors are great in their roles, especially when they shift from robbers to caregivers.

Mirror Mirror, which gives the tip of a hat to fairy tales as we know them today, looks spectacular. The costumes by Eiko Ishioka (Immortals) – hopefully – will surely be remembered at Academy Award time. The Queen’s gowns are extraordinary. In an interview with Roberts, the star remarked that some of the outfits weighed 60 pounds. Roberts does a great job enjoying herself as the vain Queen. Her smile appears almost as big as her dresses. Her conversations in the magic mirror with her real sister, Lisa Roberts Gillan, who plays a kind of psychic, are extremely funny.

Cinematographer Brendan Galvin captures the beautiful production and scenic designs of the story so well they look real. Watching the Prince hanging upside down from a tree in his undies or the beast twining itself through the trees offers a great mix of fear and humor. Whether barking like a dog or valiantly fighting to save Snow, Hammer is the new Cary Grant – believable and charming in every scene.

There couldn’t have been a better pick for Snow than Collins. Although she’s only starred in three films (four others are in production), she comes across as the Snow White kids want to be, the stronger-willed and innovative daughter parents want, and the romantic princess who deserves the handsome prince.

Warning to parents: this film is not the Disney version of Snow White. Some very small children (age 3-5) who sat behind me at the screening I attended were bored and disruptive the entire time. However, older children will enjoy the laughs, and adults will like the visuals, acting and creative parody.

— ON THE MENU —

Café 67 a popular gathering place

by Diana Saenger

With its nostalgia décor, large menu choices and exceptionally friendly wait staff, Café 67 is where diners fill the booths for breakfast and lunch seven days a week. Most passerby's laugh at the billboard at the corner of the property on Hwy 67 and Maplevue Rd. in Lakeside that says we have famous food. That laugh is no joke because the food is so good it could be famous.

Whether choosing a seat at a comfortable booth, roomy table or getting a big group together the view of classic toy cars and trucks, old movie posters or airplanes hanging from the ceiling stirs a lot of conversation in this restaurant. A large banquet room available for meetings, events of large gatherings feels festive with its Hot Rod theme.

It might take a few minutes to scan through the menu sections of Eggs, Favorites, Omelettes, For the Sweet Tooth, Role & Muffins, Cold & Hot Sandwiches, From the Grill, Pastas and Salads. Brenda's deli menu features more than 30 specialty sandwiches, easy to pick up for call-in orders. There is also a children's menu.

California Omelette

Our diner's visiting tried several options. Clark's Frisco Burger tasted as good as it sounded. The big patty was bigger than I expected, the grilled sourdough bread with parmesan cheese was great as were the huge steak fries. My friend on the left went for the Eggs Benedict and said it was wonderful with the best Hollandaise sauce she had tasted. On my right side another friend ordered Ginger's Veggie Club, which came piled high with an assortment of veggies and made this eater claim, "it's to die for!" Another diner across the aisle went for the California Omelette and shared it with her hungry granddaughters.

Clark's Francisco Burger

"It's cheesy, has lots of veggies and very good," she said.

Brenda Asaro opened Café 67 in 2009 and has never looked back. She was part owner in another restaurant and worked in restaurants growing up. When asked what she attributes her success to, she doesn't have to think about her answer, "Determination," she said. "It takes a lot of work and more, like knowing the business, about marketing and working with the community."

It also helps to have great food. "We're all about home cooking," Asaro said. "Our fries our made fresh right here, and I use only high end cuts of meats which makes everything taste better. Our sandwiches that have beef are made from prime rib. Our waffles have real vanilla and nutmeg – we really go the extra mile, yet our prices are reasonable for high quality food."

Another plus at Café 67 is the friendly staff. Everyone wears a smile, is very friendly and exceptionally attentive. It's rare to see an empty glass or mug that needs refilled. Café 67 also does catering for big or small groups. Anyone who wants to earn brownie points should just bring a friend to eat at Café 67.

Café 67 is open 6 a.m. – 3 p.m. seven days a week, except major holidays. 12381 Maplevue Street in Lakeside, (619) 443-4100.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call or visit this Internet Web site www.auction.com, using the file number assigned to this case 11-04346-3. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligations secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of this Notice of Trustee's Sale is estimated to be $368,564.38 (Estimated), provided, however, prepayment premiums, accrued interest and advances will increase this figure prior to sale.
