A well-deserved Star in Hollywood

by Chuck Karazsia

One of the best ever to speak into a microphone, San Diego native "Shotgun Tom" Kelly left a legacy on the corner of Hollywood and LaBrea Boulevards on April 30, 2013.

Hundreds of fans witnessed the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce awarding Kelly his Radio Star on the prestigious Hollywood Walk of Fame, sitting alongside the star belonging to the late "Real Don Steele, whom Kelly succeeded at K-Earth 16 years ago.

"I'm humbled and honored to receive the 2,496th star on people from San Diego were there at the ceremony," Kelly said.

Primary Residential Mortgage is a nationwide lender

by Diana Saenger

Headquartered in Salt Lake City, Utah, Primary Residential Mortgage, Inc. is a national, independent, full-service, residential mortgage banker in business since 1998. As a direct lender it's their knowledgeable staff that controls the loan from start to finish. The company's mission is; "to be a nationally respected, locally known home loan company whose purpose is to finance your homeownership goals through a positive and personal experience."

Chris Wiley has 22 years of experience in the mortgage business. He wanted to work in a small town and close to home where he knows the people they would work with and they might know him. He became the Branch Manager of Primary Residential Mortgage, Inc. in 2004. He's chosen a staff he can trust and who are knowledgeable about the loan process and know the community.

We're not a mortgage banker or a broker," he said. "Brokers shop for the best deals, but the best deals are on Wall Street and the closest you can get to Wall Street is a mortgage banker. Brokers look for the best deal for them not the best deal or rate for the customer. They were about 70 or 80 percent of the market during the heyday when it all fell apart. Now they're less than five percent so there's been restrictions and regulations they can't enforce or put into place.

Wiley said consumers need to be aware of the lenders that don't keep up with regulations or follow the rules and be aware of what those regulations are.

"But even though a company meets all the regulations it doesn't mean they can't cheat their customers. You can't regulate morality and a broker that's not licensed – and there are some – will never get audited because they're not licensed. Primary Mortgage sometimes gets clients that went to a broker that couldn't come through on their loan or re-fi."

Primary Residential Mortgage has been around since 1998 and is privately owned and has no debt. They handle purchases and some re-finance transactions. Their biggest purchase transactions are FHA, VA and USDA clients. They do only one to four bedroom units and realize a home is a client's largest and most complex financial investment, and they strive to provide clarity and ease to the home loan process.

"We do only the financing and clients can get pre-approved first to see which program best suits them," Wiley said. "Then they know what they can spend and when they find a property they come back to us and everything is ready to go."

In addition to figuring out

what price range a client can purchase Wiley's team also figures out what mortgage price suits them. "We quote everything like tax and insurance so the buyer knows exactly what his payment will be, and not all lenders do that. Then the client can end up with a total payment he can't make. It's also important to find out up front what the closing cost will be because they can be a make or break deal."

Wiley prides himself on his team's honesty and core values.

"I don't care for companies that take people down the wrong path," he said. "During the heyday I never did any subprime loans because I don't think they are good for clients. If someone has that many credit problems maybe they should stop for a second and see where there are at. Those mortgagees had huge commissions so they were popular in those days to lenders, and it wasn't only the brokers responsible it was the industry all the way down the line."

Wiley's team works with local agents and is open to agents of clients that want to use their services. He has two loan officers in Alpine and additional staff in other offices.

In addition to being proud of his team and working in a community he enjoys, Wiley also gives back to the community. He's a donor on the Alpine Wall of Honor, supports local schools and the annual Jr. High School play, and he oversees the weekly youth group at the Community church.

Rates are currently low and Primary Residential Mortgage, Inc. closes loans in typically 30 – 45 days. They are located at 2124 Arnold Way, (619) 722-1303.

Don't Let Your Bank FOOL YOU Into Believing They Are Bailing You Out...

If you're like most homeowners that have been hurt by the housing downturn, it may not be in your best interest to keep your underwater house. Many Homeowners are unaware that the best solution may be a Short Sale. Your lender may offer to "work" with You and offer a loan modification. Unfortunately most loan mods are slanted in the lenders best interest not yours, if paying your house payments, seems like a losing battle with no equity in sight, you may need to move in a different direction. Don't give up until you have read this New special report entitled

"Short Sales & Loan Modifications," which has been specially prepared for homeowners like you. You will learn about different options and how each will affect you in the future. Inside this report you will find information on current CASH incentives available for homeowners when closing a short sale and the affect the sale will have on your credit. # A new leader, a new era for the San Diego East County Chamber

Eric Lund

The regional San Diego East County Chamber of Commerce has hired a new leader for their team, an industry champion for San Diego County Business development and community collaborations!

After an extensive search, Eric J. Lund, currently VP of Community Relations, Member and Visitor Services at the San Diego Tourism Authority, will take the helm at the San Diego East County Chamber of Commerce. Eric has a long history with the San Diego region, a third generation native to San Diego; Mr. Lund grew up with his family in El Cajon. He has worked in a leadership role with numerous non-profit organizations and private sector businesses including for the past three years with the San Diego Tourism Authority and fourteen years at the San Diego East Visitors Bureau. He is also a business department instructor at Grossmont & Southwestern Colleges, participates with many of the regions business organizations on their boards and committees and regional charitable organizations including the Grossmont & Cuyamaca College Foundation and Stoney's Kids.

"I am very enthusiastic about working with so many of my friends, colleagues and associates in the region where I have such strong roots and a broad foundation of knowledge about our local economy, terrific communities and businesses. I look forward to working with our team in building new collaborations and partnerships with our members, regional groups and community partners. We should anticipate a bright future for the San Diego East County Chamber of Commerce", commented Mr. Lund.

According to Marcel Becker, the Chairman of the Chamber Board; "We are excited to have attracted Eric from the Tourism Authority where he has a proven record of building and collaborating with so many of San Diego's regional leaders, communities and businesses. Our search committee reviewed and interviewed many qualified and excellent candidates but Eric stood out clearly as the most experienced and talented professional with established relationships within our region. The Board and I look forward to working with him to lead our Chamber and the region into a new and rewarding era."

Mr. Lund plans to start with the Chamber in the latter part of May as he completes his work with the San Diego Tourism Authority. He stated that "a strong representative Chamber, with a healthy and vibrant marketing program and membership base, will result in supporting new jobs and robust business growth in the region. The Chamber will continue to provide strong leadership, expertise and value for our industry partners and we will build upon ways to benefit the region's communities. We look forward to our partners joining our team in this new journey; this is an exciting time for the San Diego East County Region. I look forward to meeting with our local members, partners and leaders to form a strong coalition and execute a new and effective strategic plan."

The San Diego East County Chamber of Commerce has been serving the San Diego East region for over one hundred years and has over five hundred active members.

Congratulations Eric Lund!

of incorporation, we would like to honor those who volunteer in our community through the 100 Hours Honoring 100 Years Volunteer Program. As we celebrate our Centennial Year and reflect on our rich City history, it is important to recognize that it is the people who make El Cajon the "Valley of Opportunity," including our volunteers. The 100 Hours Honoring 100 Years Volunteer Program was developed to provide an opportunity for El Cajon residents and others involved in the community to be recognized for their service in honor of El Cajon's Centennial. Local organizations and groups are always looking for dedicated, caring individuals who want to make a difference in the community. Through this volunteer program, the City will recognize the volunteer service performed in the El Cajon community during the Centennial year (November 2012 through November 2013). All are invited to participate, whether as an individual, or in a group on behalf of an organization, community group, or business. Find out more by visiting our Centennial website, www.elcajon100.com, under "Participate" and download the forms. Completed forms will be accepted throughout the year; however, all forms must be completed and delivered, or post-marked, by December 10, 2013. For more information, please call (619) 441-5549.

please visit www.heartlandfire.org. Once an academy begins, classes are held every other Saturday, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Classes are taught by members of Heartland Fire & Rescue and Santee Fire. If you would like to register, please call (619) 441-1737.

Celebrating 100 Years as a City

Don't forget, you are welcome to share your memories and photos of growing up in El Cajon on our Centennial website at www.elcajon100.com. Also on the Centennial website you will see photos and a video from the November 12, 2012 event! Join us as we celebrate the people of El Cajon – it is the people that make our City The Valley of Opportunity!

Note: If you have an event in the City of El Cajon that you would like to share, please send it to: Monica Zech, Public Information Officer, City of El Cajon, 200 Civic Center Way, El Cajon, CA 92020, or via e-mail at mzech@cityofelcajon.us.

El Cajon Centennial Moments

Sharing a piece of history

Centennial Moment: New Police and Fire Buildings

Below is an excerpt from a brochure published in 1961 in honor of the City's 50th anniversary of incorporation: "50 Years of Progress." The brochure chronicles events in the City by each year, from incorporation in 1912, through present day, at that time, in 1961. This Centennial moment focuses specifically on the year 1945

A new modern building was erected at the corner of East Douglas Avenue and Highland Avenue for the housing of the City Police and Fire Departments at a cost of $74,824.

Representative of Lemon Grove visited the City and started a study of the El Cajon City Government to better understand the problems of the community and prepare themselves for incorporation.

The El Cajon Post Office

moved from its location on Main Street to a new building on the corner of Douglas Street and Magnolia Avenue. In July, Postmaster Jackson Roether announced that his office had been adjudged a first class office.

From a census taken by City officials toward the end of the year it was learned that better than 1,000 new homes had been constructed within the City limits.

The El Cajon Theater, located across the street from the new post office, was burned down. Mr. G. Gallagher, the owner, announced that a new theater would be built on West Main Street. It will cost $100,000. In the meantime the location of the old theater was to be used as an open air theater. G. Gallagher, the theater man, donated $300 to the Volunteer Fireman's building fund for their efforts at the burning of his theater.

Grossmont, Cuyamaca colleges' summer class offerings up sharply

Students signing up for summer session classes at Grossmont and Cuyamaca colleges have more than three times the number of sections to choose from compared to last year, thanks to voters who passed a statewide tax measure last fall increasing education funding.

With more than 250 sections to select from at the two East County colleges compared to just 74 last summer, students will have greater certainty of getting the classes they need to graduate, transfer to a university or to make career advances. However, the fuller summer schedule is still a long way from the college district's offerings of nearly 700 summer course sections in 2008, before state budget cuts whittled down the summer program.

"This is the best we've seen in four years, when the state budget crunch really started hammering us," Governing Board President Bill Garrett said. "We still are far short of where we were at our peak in 2008, but this summer, we're opening our doors wide. We're excited to welcome back those students who have been turned away because of a shortage of classes."

Registration begins April 29 for the six- and eight-week classes starting June 10.

November's passage of the statewide tax measure, Proposition 30, prevented further catastrophic budget cuts to education and allowed the colleges to increase their course offerings. Between 2008 and 2012, state funding to the Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District was slashed by $16 million, requiring the two colleges to eliminate 1,600 classes. Thousands of students were placed on waiting lists and unable to obtain the courses they needed for their education.

Robust summer schedules

Summer classes are a great way for students to enroll in hard-to-get prerequisite classes like Principles of Biology or Intermediate Algebra or those quick to fill in the fall, including Astronomy. Many students also appreciate the luxury of focusing on one course, instead of several courses during a semester.

Both colleges are offering several sections of general education classes in history, biology, chemistry, sociology, math, music and psychology.

Grossmont College is also offering a wide range of specialized classes: administration of justice courses in criminal law; a culinary arts class in pastry skills in chocolate preparation, a business office technology course in effective job searching; and a selection of health professions classes, including those in nursing, occupational therapy assistant, orthopedic technology and cardiovascular technology.

At Cuyamaca College, students can enroll in career-technical education classes in automotive technology, computer and information science, environmental health and safety, and ornamental horticulture.

Students can register by going to WebAdvisor on the college websites, www.grossmont.edu and www.cuyamaca.edu, where summer class schedules are posted. Classes cost $46 per credit unit.

The Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District educates and trains about 27,000 students at Grossmont College in El Cajon and Cuyamaca College in Rancho San Diego. For more information about the college district, go to www.gcccd.edu

IRS warns donors about charity scams following recent tragedies in Boston and Texas

It's sad but true. Following major disasters and tragedies, scam artists impersonate charities to steal money or get private information from well-intentioned taxpayers. Fraudulent schemes involve solicitations by phone, social media, email or in-person.

Scam artists use a variety of tactics. Some operate bogus charities that contact people by telephone to solicit money or financial information. Others use emails to steer people to bogus websites to solicit funds, allegedly for the benefit of tragedy victims. The fraudulent websites often mimic the sites of legitimate charities or use names similar to legitimate charities. They may claim affiliation with legitimate charities to persuade members of the public to send money or provide personal financial information. Scammers then use that information to steal the identities or money of their victims.

The IRS offers the following tips to help taxpayers who wish to donate to victims of the recent tragedies at the Boston Marathon and a Texas fertilizer plant:

Donate to qualified charities. Use the Exempt Organizations Select Check tool at IRS.gov to find qualified charities. Only donations to qualified charitable organizations are tax-deductible. You can also find legitimate charities on the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Web site at fema.gov.

Be wary of charities with similar names. Some phony charities use names that are similar to familiar or nationally known organizations. They may use names or websites that sound or look like those of legitimate organizations.

Don't give out personal financial information. Do not give your Social Security number, credit card and bank account numbers and passwords to anyone who solicits a contribution from you. Scam artists use this information to steal your identity and money.

Don't give or send cash. For security and tax record purposes, contribute by check or credit card or another way that provides documentation of the donation.

Report suspected fraud. Taxpayers suspecting tax or charity-related fraud should visit IRS.gov and perform a search using the keywords "Report Phishing."

More information about tax scams and schemes is available at IRS.gov using the keywords "scams and schemes."

Lakeside Round Up

Lakeside Community Planning Group - Public hearing outcome

Laurel Street apartment's site plan (STP13-006). No one present. Jackson Ridge (Settlers Point), site plan and preliminary grading plan (STP13-0002) located on State Highway 80, southwest of Los Coches Rd. The proposed project consists of 184 new units and 449 parking spaces (Approximately 2.44 sp/unit), and two drainage basins on a 2.19 acre site with an approved tentative map (TM5423 RPL3). The project proposes a new public street to connect Wellington Hill Dr. with State Highway 80. The approved tentative map entitles the property to the subdivided into 4 lots with mass graded pad for future multi-family developments. The site plan proposes 52 courtyard units, 132 duplex units and all units will include a fenced private backyard.

The Proponent answered questions from the Planning Group and audience. He advised traffic impact has been fully studied. One person asked about the mention of a streetlight, he explained that it needs to be confined curbs; gutters and storm drains will be to County regulations. The speed limit will be per County standards. Parking will meet three zoning ordinance. Several board members felt parking would be an issue. Board member Linda Storm advised she had been on a board of a Home Owners Assoc (HOA) and parking issues would be solved by the HOA. The proponent was asked if the old Olive Trees on the property would be saved. There will be no attempt to save the trees, but if anyone is interested, the proponent would talk to them. Neil Rodvold from Alpine Rock and Block expressed interest in the trees. Alpine Rock and Block is located next to the proposed project, and the trees would help provide a buffer between properties. ## Oh for a memory like dear old mom's

by Dr. Rev. James L. Snyder

In growing up one of the outstanding things in my relationship with my mother had to do with her memory. She could remember everything.

All I had to do was ask dear old mom and she knew the answer. She knew everything. No matter the topic, she had an opinion about it, which truly amazed me as a young person.

Before I went to school, my mother was my entire world. From the time I got up in the morning until she tucked me in bed at night, she was the master of my world. Whatever I could do, she was the one who allowed me to do it.

Looking back, I can remember when my father got home from work in the evening he gave my mother a little break from looking after me and my brother and sister. If memory serves me correctly, my father watched us by lying on the couch snoring. I never could figure out how he could do that but it was his way of watching us and helping mom.

As a young person, anything I wanted I had to requisition it from dear old mom. The thing that always amazed me was that she always had what I needed. I have often wondered how she could do that. But then, she was mom.

My weekly allowance came from my mother. It took me a long time to realize the money for my allowance came from my father. I always believe mom had all the money there was.

I remember coming home from the second grade with homework to do that just baffled me. All I had to do was ask mom and she could explain it to me like nobody else could. Mothers are like that.

They know everything and remember everything. What my mother knew only my mother could know. It was as if she could read my mind. It was as if she had eyes in the back of her head.

It was so bad that I could not get away with anything. Believe me; I tried very hard to get away with something. For some reason my mother knew what I was going to do days before I actually thought about doing it.

I am not sure who is credited with designing the first memory board for computers, but I know who designed the memory board for people. I firmly believe that mothers were the first computer designed and wired by God. Why in the world do you think they call it the "motherboard?" It is no accident that they come up with this term.

My mother had a tremendous memory. This is the difference between mothers and fathers. Mothers cannot forget anything and fathers cannot remember anything. Together they make an invincible team for raising children.

It was not until I became a teenager that a little click developed between my mother and me. I began to realize that my memory did not always harmonize with hers on some issues. As I got older, the harmony was less and less.

For example. My mother would tell me, "You must be home by 10 o'clock."

At least, that is what she said she told me after the fact. When I came in at 11 o'clock, she reminded me of what she told me. For the life of me, I could not remember her telling me to be home by 10 o'clock.

"I told you to clean up your room."

Searching my memory board, I could not find any indication that she told me this. I am not saying that she did not; I am just saying that our memories did not coincide on a variety of issues when I became a teenager.

What struck me about my mother was she could remember conversation she had with me three years ago word for word. As I get older, I began to doubt the accuracy of her memory. The problem with that was, I had no memory of anything and so I had to rely upon her memory.

Now that I am a parent, it is apparent to me that memory is a rather funny thing. I am not sure that my mother was in this category, but my memory is of such a nature that I can remember things that never took place. Not only that, I can describe it in detail.

As a teenager I remember coming into the room and my mother sitting there looking out the window with a little smile on her face.

"What are you thinking about?"

She just looked at me, smiled and said, "Oh, I was just remembering some things." Then she turned and looked out the window again and I left her to her memories.

In celebrating Mother's Day, I cannot help but think of the many wonderful memories each mother cherishes. Their children will always be children. No matter how old their children get, they will always be their little babies.

Memory is a delightful thing and sometimes can be very selective. I am sure, when a mother engages in the fine art of memory, they are all good memories.

Solomon was probably thinking about his mother when he wrote, "Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all" (Proverbs 31:28-29 KJV).

You cannot put a price on a good memory.

Dear Dr. Luauna — Complete in Him

Dear friends, Today is just a bit cloudy, the mist of rain is in the air. I love the fresh smell of the morning when the ground has dew covered on it from heaven. I like to sip a good cup of coffee and take a moment to thank God for all his blessings. Every day is a gift from heaven, to know Jesus, to love Him, to preach His Word, and see people change little by little by God's amazing Word. It's like planting a garden. I love gardening. I have learned so much from planting different kinds of plants, trees, flowers, vegetables, and vines like wisteria and grapes. I think every minister, and every person should try his hand at gardening, even if it's just a little garden. For the preacher, the Holy Spirit has a way to speak a thousand sermons to your heart, and for you, you will definitely learn patience.

Years ago I had cancer. Hearing those words, "you have cancer" in one's ears for the first time is numbing. Oh Jesus, what's going on? A million questions go through our mind all at once. But what is truly important? Learning to live every moment we have on this earth. To live a life in fear from day to day, or filled with worry, is not God's plan no matter what is thrown our way. Wrap our lives around Jesus, His love, amazing grace, and promises. I love to reach those who are broken inside, to help those who have allowed another gospel to distort the truth of God's love in their lives. There is victory for a Christian, death on this earth is not death at all, death from this body is to live forever, and ever with Jesus.

Death to the unbeliever is another terrible ending, damnation, darkness, torment, and separation from God forever. What is our hope? Jesus is hope! The hope of glory, love unlimited, joy unspeakable, and a complete victory is our hope. What if today was the last day on this earth? How would we spend it? His Word brings healing, freedom from fear of tomorrow, and answers when there seems like there's none. Jesus in us sends out his love to those around you, a love deep enough to tell them the truth, because one day all our lives on earth will all be over. And our desire should be to spend eternity together with our wonderful Lord and Savior JESUS Christ.

We are just passing through on this earth. I Peter 2:9-12; But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvelous light; Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul; having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation.

LIVE for JESUS as if it was the last day on Earth. Everyone is important, when we go through something that was not planned remember; Isaiah 40:28-31; Have you not known? Have you not heard? The everlasting God, the LORD, THE CREATOR OF THE ENDS OF THE EARTH, NEITHER FAINTS NOR IS WEARY. His understanding is unsearchable. He gives power to the weak, And to those who have no might He increases strength. Even the youths shall faint and be weary, And the young men shall utterly fall, But those who wait on the LORD SHALL RENEW THEIR STRENGTH; THEY SHALL MOUNT UP WITH WINGS LIKE EAGLES, THEY SHALL RUN AND NOT BE WEARY, THEY SHALL WALK AND NOT FAINT.

What will really make you happy?

The idea of a happy and meaningful life has become unnecessarily complicated in some circles, says author and certified positive psychology coach Lynda Wallace, who left a high-powered executive career with Johnson & Johnson to pursue her real passion – helping individuals and groups achieve greater happiness and success.

“Happiness has been appropriately cited as a goal in political debates on issues from taxation to the social safety net to marriage equality, but the debate is often confused,” says Wallace, author of “A Short Course in Happiness: Practical Steps to a Happier Life,” which topped Amazon’s Self-Help Best Seller list.

“Some people claim that happiness is all in your DNA or bank account. The truth is that happiness is largely a matter of everyday choices and actions. There are straightforward, well-researched and effective things every one of us can do to create greater happiness in our lives and in the lives of those we care about.”

The essential elements of a happy life are not mysterious, she says.

Research shows that the happiest people do four basic things that make the difference: they focus on what is good and positive in their lives; cope effectively with life’s inevitable challenges; develop strong relationships; and pursue meaningful goals.

“We can all become happier by putting our efforts into these areas,” Wallace says.

One of the first steps we can take is to get past some of the common misperceptions about happiness that can stand in our way. Wallace offers these four examples.

Dead penguins

Did you ever wonder why there are no dead penguins on the ice in Antarctica? Where do they go?

Wonder no more !!!

It is a known fact that the penguin is a very ritualistic bird which lives an extremely ordered and complex life. The penguin is very committed to its family and will mate for life, as well as maintain a form of compassionate contact with its offspring throughout its life.

If a penguin is found dead on the ice surface, other members of the family and social circle have been known to dig holes in the ice, using their vestigial wings and beaks, until the hole is deep enough for the dead bird to be rolled into, and buried.

The male penguins then gather in a circle around the fresh grave and sing:

Special bench dedication at Rady Children's Hospital

Debbie Jackson giving message sent by International President, and Bob Jackson, Master of Ceremonies. Photo Credits: Diana Saenger

by Diana Saenger

On Saturday, May 5, a special Miracle Mile of Quarters event took place at Rady Children's Hospital with a Bench Dedication to Oscar E. Knight III. The Bench, strategically placed in a common area where guests and patients at Rady can find respite, was unveiled at a ceremony at 10 a.m.

Bob Jackson, past Division 31 Lieutenant Governor from the Alpine Club, was the Master of Ceremonies. Several opening remarks from local and visiting Kiwanis officers opened the ceremony with comments after a pledge and invocation.

A message from the Kiwanis International President Thomas DeJulio was read by Division 31 Gov.-Designate Deborah Jackson. He stated, "The 600,000 members from the International Kiwanis Clubs will miss his presence. Oscar stood tall and proudly wore his Kiwanis pin. 'Thank You Oscar for your service.'"

Frank Peterson offered a little history behind the MMQ – Miracle Mile of Quarters. Four lieutenant governors came together to follow through on Curly Collier's idea; Joe Deggendorf, Shelly Johnson and him – Frank Peterson and Oscar Knight.

"Oscar saw a need at the hospital and with the help of these four men's club's the fundraising was set in place," Peterson said.

After the East County fires in the early 2000's Knight realized that the most asked for item by those who lost their homes were for shoes. The Alpine Kiwanis kicked in $8,000 to help those in need, all carried out by Knight.

Hazel Wooten (left), Bob Jackson and Gladys Knight unveil the bench at Rady Children's Hospital dedicated to Oscar Knight III.

"He was such a dedicated person that even when he got pneumonia one time, the only way his wife Gladys could make him rest was to put him on a cruise ship," Jackson said. "Oscar had a broad vision and the attitude of, 'this needs to get done, so let's do it.'"

Interim Senior VP and Executive Director of the Rady Children's Foundation expressed gratitude to all the Kiwanians for their generous support of the hospital and the Miracle Mile of Quarters.

Gladys Knight thanked everyone who attended the ceremony and for their concern and support since his passing in 2012. "Thank all of you for coming today," she said. Kiwanis is truly a family. No matter where I am in the world someone always mentions Oscar to me about the project or service he was involved in.

Knight was elected to a three-year term as a Kiwanis International Trustee in June 2010, at the 95th Annual Kiwanis International Convention in Las Vegas. As a member of the Kiwanis Club of La Mesa for 23 years, he served as its president in 1992-93. He served as governor of the California-Nevada-Hawaii District in 2007-2008 and prior to that was lieutenant governor for Division 31 in San Diego's East County. Knight received city and state awards for helping raise more than $1 million for victims of wildfires in San Diego's East County

A mortgage banker, Knight held a degree in business administration from Central State University, Wilberforce, Ohio, and a master's degree in finance from National University, San Diego. He was active in his community, volunteering for the American Red Cross, San Diego County YMCA, Grossmont College Foundation, and the Girl Scouts of America.

A life member with 28 years of perfect attendance, Knight-also was a former member of the San Diego Kiwanis Club and a charter member of the Division 100 Miracle Mile of Quarters Club.

More than 100 people honored Oscar Knight for his service at the Bench Dedication Ceremony.

Kiwanis Miracle Mile of Quarters scores once again

by Diana Saenger

The May 5th annual Kiwanis Miracle Mile of Quarters fund raising event benefiting Rady Children's Hospital in San Diego drew a huge crowd. Kids eager to enter their designs with quarters in the competition along with dozens of Kiwanians to help with the event and spectators who enjoy seeing this spectacular event turned out.

The Quarter Art Competition started at 8 a. m. as Kiwanis SLP (Service Leadership program) youth Clubs and other youth organizations prepared to compete for prizes with quarters by creating art sculptures on the red carpet.

By 10 a.m. when the judging began, the nearly $24,000 in quarters were more than a mile on the red carpet and participants were already getting anxious. New this year was the Kiwanis Adult Competition – Kiwanis divisions and Hospital Staff were allowed to compete in the awards for the best quarter art.

Art that reflected the hard work of the kids in the Kiwanis Key Clubs and Builders Clubs expressed words such as hope, cure, and togetherness reflect that the kids understand how each quarter can help find a cure.

There was plenty of things to do while waiting for the noon deadline to announce the winners. A Pancake Breakfast/ Interclub was free for the kids registered to create art. Free Hospital tours were available. A Special dedication of a Bench to honor Oscar Knight began at 10 a.m.

Service Project kept younger kids active creating cards for the military and for hospital patients, and Kiwanis trauma dolls.

The 73 teams that competed in quarter art included approximately 320 students; and 200 adults attended the event. Approximately $24,000 of quarters was given out on the carpet for quarter art Awards given in; Open class, K-Kids, Builders club, KEY club and Circle K classes. The Alpine Kiwanis club contributed $6,000 worth of quarters to the fund.

All the money raised from the events goes to Rady's Pediatric Trauma Unit to help kids of San Diego, Imperial and Riverside Counties get the care they need. Totals this year included approximately $750 from the Toll Booth in front of the hospital; funds raised for the event - approximately $35,000 (not a final count) in quarters and cash/checks. Nearly 50 volunteers worked the event to make it possible.

The 2013 Quarter Art winners were:

'Gatsby' has highs and lows

Leonardo DiCaprio and Carey Mulligan star in The Great Gatsby. Photo Credit: Warner Bros.

Review by Diana Saenger

My how time changes things. That was my first impression of director, producer, co-writer Baz Luhrmann's The Great Gatsby. That was the result of watching the first 25 minutes of the new movie and sitting through an extravagant scene of a party at Jay Gatsby's (Leonardo DiCaprio) pretentious mansion. The volume of the film shot up to "Rolling Stones concert level." I had to hold my ears closed several times.

The guests at the party were exquisitely dressed like the 1920s – the era in which F. Scott Fitzgerald wrote the famous book. However, they were dancing styles of today – jumping up and down (almost gangman style) and for a short while to hip hop music. Add in the special ridiculous 3-D glasses they passed out because Luhrmann wanted to, "heighten the dramatic and visual sense of what we were trying to achieve" and I was underwhelmed. The cumbersome glasses did nothing to enhance the already beautiful set and in many instances – when I took my glasses off – had actually dulled the screen. All of this instantly lowered my enthusiasm of wanting to see this movie.

The story mostly stays true to Fitzgerald's novel, but there are always a few screenwriters who want to change a few things to leave their own mark on the film; and that happens in a few places. The entire cast is perfectly matched with its characters. There's Nick Carraway (Tobey Maguire), a wannabe writer new to New York. But he does have a cousin who just happens to be Daisy (Carey Mulligan), a beautiful girl who happened to meet Gatsby years before and left his heart beating for her ever since. When Gatsby befriends Nick it's only so he can get back into Daisy's life. That's not easy since she's married to Tom (Joel Edgerton). Even though he ignores her and is a philandering husband, she can't seem to break the bond and let go.

For most of the movie DiCaprio is solid as Gatsby. He's mysterious, charming and very loving when he and Daisy spend time together. He's an exceptional actor and only in a few scenes where he's angry at Daisy does he jump out of character. Mulligan could play a piece of pizza and win an Oscar. She melts every whim of Daisy's topsy-turvy emotions into an engaging and alluring character that's hard to take one's eyes off of. Mulligan and DiCaprio have great chemistry together.

Maguire has found the perfect role for him in Nick. There's never a moment that doesn't feel real when he's frozen with fear that something bad will happen to Daisy. Or when he can see through a plot of Gatsby's but is so intrigued by the man he doesn't react. It's a wonderful performance, even the hypnotic way he recites the story from the writer's view point. I really believed him when he said about Gatsby, "He's the single most hopeful person I ever met." Edgerton is great as a man we love to hate. There's a lack of emotion in Tom that only roars when he's about to lose something he wants to possess not cherish.

Catherine Martin's delectable costumes are already screaming Oscar and there's a reason she's a Two-time Academy Award®-winning production and costume designer for Moulin Rouge. Beverly Dunn had a huge challenge as set director to fill the mansion with just the right objects in Gatsby's world; and she did a splendid job.

I give the story and acting elements of Gatsby high marks. But very low ones and disappointment by Luhrmann's (Moulin Rouge) thinking he can bring a new audience into a 1925 story by adding retro music and dance styles and a making the film 3-D where the only thing I remember that was in 3-D was a short scene of snowflakes. I don't see a contemporary story as Luhrmann strived for; I see a classic with tattered edges. It's like taking a bowl of homemade soup and adding rose buds on top to liven it up. It ends up spoiling them both.

Chocolate Mousse Pie with a Touch o' Irish

"This pie is so simple ... your guests will think you went to great lengths to make it!"

Sweet or savory - the ultimate snacking question.

Recipe creator Scott Anderson has the answer with his Chocolate Mousse Pie.

Anderson layers a chocolatey Irish liqueur mousse made of chocolate chips and mascarpone (a mild, creamy cheese) on top of savory crunched up pretzels with divine results. Now the only question is one slice or two!

See step-by-step photos of Anderson's recipe plus thousands more from home cooks at:

Mousse Pie

What You Need

4 c pretzels
1/3 c brown sugar
1 stick unsalted butter, melted
4 1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips, divided
4 c mascarpone cheese, room temp
1/4 c Irish cream liqueur
1 tsp pure vanilla extract
whipped topping

Directions

• Preheat oven to 325 degrees F.
• Pulse pretzels in a blender or crunch up in resealable bag until they are in very small particles, then place into pie plate. Add brown sugar and melted butter and blend together. Press crumb mixture evenly into pie plate. Bake for 6 minutes; set aside.

• Meanwhile, melt 4 cups of chocolate until smooth and creamy.

• Blend liqueur and vanilla into mascarpone, mix until incorporated. Gradually add in melted chocolate and whisk together or use a hand mixer on low until smooth.

• Spread mixture into the still warm pie crust, pressing lightly to bind.

• Sprinkle chocolate chips on top and refrigerate for 1-2 hours.

• Slice, and serve with whipped topping.

Weekend fun in eastern East County — wine tasting and garden tours

Last weekend the Sage and Songbirds Festival was held in Alpine along with their annual Garden Tours. In addition to these events, the Alpine Kiwanis held their annual Wine Tasting event at Summers Past Farms. Here is a peak at the events through the eyes of the camera.

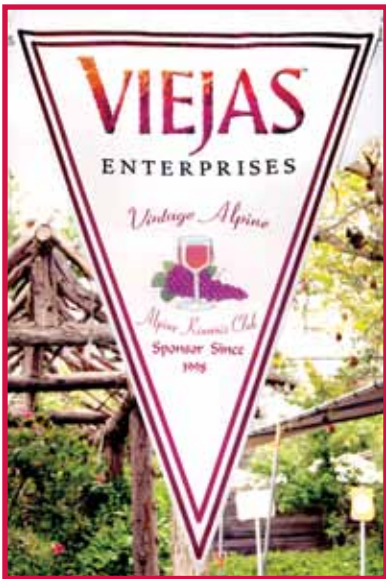

Sky Hunters, a bonus stop on the garden tour where visitors could see a Gyrfalcon (left), a Bald Eagle (below), Golden Eagle, owls, falcons, hawks and more. Definitely a hit on the garden tour. If interested in visiting call (619) 445-6565 or visit www.skyhunters.org

This garden on the tour was a treat as it had a waterfall, old fashion wagon, seats overlooking the valley, a pond, barn and so much more.

Blake added that the May 18 race will have an added feature. Each driver's finish time will be displayed in digital lights over their lanes, giving an extra thrill to family and friends at the top of the hill.

"Having their race times in digital lights over their lanes will give the scorekeepers—as well as the families and friends— instant awareness of the times of each driver," he said, adding that this is the first time the La Mesa Derby will use the digital display.

To sponsor a race car or enter the derby, contact Blake at (619) 461-1608.

May 18, 2013 – Walt Baranski Memorial Scholarship Fund Tournament will be held at Cottonwood Golf Club, 3121 Willow Glen Drive, El Cajon. Proceeds from the four-person best drive shamble tournament will benefit East County School's Top Student Athletes. Entry fee is $110 per player or $440 per four-some. Entry fee includes 18 holes of golf, cart, food and beverages on the course, and corned beef and cabbage dinner. Registration begins at 12:15 p.m. with a shotgun start at 1:30 p.m. Call Pat Riley (619) 715-3030 for donations and sponsorships.

June 21: SHE & HIM, Volume 3 at the Open Air Theatre at San Diego State University. Tickets on sale now. Since the release of the band's album Volume Two in 2010, much has happened to both She and to Him. Deschanel, whose television show New Girl has cemented her status as a sitcom star, continued to hone her songwriting skills, writing the theme song for her new show, in addition to being nominated for a Grammy for Best Original Song for the movie Winnie the Pooh. Together and separately, the duo has sold over a million albums domestically.

Saturdays: The Lakeside Museum is open every Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. or by appointment. Many antiques were donated by Lakeside pioneer families. The museum is located next door to the Historical Society's Olde Community Church, 9906 Maine Avenue. You may call the History Center for more information at 561-1886.

ONGOING

Through Dec. 31: Ripley's Believe It or Not! returns to San Diego for the first time in nearly 80 years—new one-of-a-kind special exhibition at the San Diego Air & Space Museum opens Friday. Exhibit explores the weird and wacky world of Ripley - a real-life Indiana Jones. This is the first time a Ripley's exhibition has been to San Diego since the California Pacific International Exposition in 1935, the same year the Museum's Ford Building was built. The Ripley's Believe It or Not! Museum, in collaboration with the San Diego Air & Space Museum, created this special exhibition specifically for San Diego. This exhibition is the only one of its kind in the world. For over 40 years, Robert Ripley - a real-life Indiana Jones - traveled the world collecting the unbelievable and the inexplicable. His vast collections, praised as "amazing," "ludicrously strange," and "extremely amusing" are on display at the Museum for visitors to see. The Ripley's Believe It or Not! special exhibition is a self-guided, self-paced interactive tour that is fun for the whole family and allows guests to fully enjoy San Diego's most bizarre attraction. Admission to Ripley's Believe It or Not! is only $5 (with general admission) and includes entrance to the general Museum galleries. For more information and pricing call (619) 234-8291 or visit www.sandiegoairandspace.org.

• Misconception #1: Happiness is about getting the big things right. It's natural to think that if we were suddenly rich, beautiful and living on the beach somewhere, we'd be happy. But that type of good fortune turns out to have a surprisingly small impact on happiness. The happiest people are most often not those in the most enviable circumstances, but those who cultivate positive emotional outlooks and actions. So how can we do it? "Take concrete steps to practice optimism, gratitude, kindness and self-compassion in your everyday life," says Wallace. "The cumulative effect of those everyday choices can have a tremendous impact on how you experience your life."

• Misconception #2: Happy people suppress negative emotions. Happy people actually experience sadness, grief, worry and other so-called negative emotions nearly as frequently as unhappy people do. The difference is what happens when those feelings occur. Happier people are generally able to experience negative feelings without losing hope for the future. "They give themselves permission to feel sad, angry, or lonely, but they remain confident that things will get better. As a result, their sadness progresses into hope and action rather than regressing into anxiety and despair."

• Misconception #3: Pursuing happiness is self-centered. The strongest of all conclusions drawn by researchers into emotional well-being is that our happiness is determined more by our relationships with other people than by any other single factor. The happiest people build their lives around good, trusting relationships. "If other priorities are getting in the way of your relationships," says Wallace, "take steps to shift the balance back to where it will really make a difference."

• Misconception #4: I'll be happy when I achieve my goals. Have you ever noticed that when someone wins the Super Bowl or an Academy Award, or when you achieve a long-sought ambition, that wonderful sense of accomplishment and happiness seems to fade faster than you'd expect? "That's just the way our brains work," says Wallace. "Committed goal pursuit is one of the keys to a happy life, but most of the happiness we get from striving for goals comes while we're making progress toward them, not after we achieve them. That's why it's so important that we choose goals that are in synch with what we love and value, and that we make a conscious effort to enjoy them along the way."

After twenty years as a highly successful executive with Johnson & Johnson, where she was responsible for a $1B portfolio of businesses including Band-Aid, Neosporin and Purell, Lynda Wallace chose to change careers to pursue her passion. She now helps individuals and groups apply proven insights and techniques to achieve greater happiness and success in their lives, families, careers, and businesses. Lynda holds an MBA from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and is a certified positive psychology coach. She is also a sought-after speaker and the author of the #1 Amazon Self-Help Best Seller "A Short Course in Happiness: Practical Steps to a Happier Life." # HOLLYWOOD WALK OF FAME from San Diego who were in attendance.

"I think the road to the Hollywood Walk of Fame is paved through the I-5 freeway," Prescott said. "I listened to Shotgun's show for three hours the day before the ceremony. He nailed every set. It was thoughtful, concise, and well done. Propelling on talent, initiative, the willingness to succeed and to promote himself, Shotgun is a professional's professional. He's always kind and receptive to everyone he meets. Which gets you the star.

Not appearing to have aged much in 40 years of radio broadcasting, Kelly is easy to identify with his familiar ranger hat sitting squarely on his head. His voice is unchanged having the un-mistakable friendly but deep "set of pipes" resonating with the familiar, "You better believe it baby!"

Radio began for Kelly at the age of 10. His first exposure was from his mothers' suggestion to visit a radio show doing a remote broadcast at a nearby shopping center.

KCBQ at Seventh and Ash streets then became the place to hang out. From the street level he and his friends could watch the famous "Hit Paraders" DJ's doing their shows live from their second floor glass windowed KCBQ studios, spinning records, entertaining the public, inspiring the youth.

His first job in radio as a young teenager was an internship at local radio station KGB. He was given the opportunity from his mentor "Sunny" Jim Price.

Bouncing around different stations (KPRI, KGB, KFMB, KFRC) in his career, Kelly found

Always a favorite with the youth, from 1973 to 1978 Kelly hosted a locally televised children's game show called "Words-a-Poppin' from which he won an Emmy Award." After that it was the KUSI Kids Club.

An extremely successful voice actor, Kelly is second to none when it comes to recording and producing national and local spots.

His voice can be heard at Chargers games on the giant Jumbotron video screen speakers announcing game day information.

Community service is what sets this man apart. For many years he hosted the Jerry Lewis Telethon helping to raising millions of dollars for Muscular Dystrophy. He donates a lot of his time at local functions supporting the community.

Neil Ross, a former KCBQ

his niche at the legendary KCBQ. "With fifty thousand watts of living sound" KCBQ was a trend setter for the nation featuring "family radio" a Top 40 format, and a cast of legendary, disc-jockeys, newsmen, and engineers setting the tone for radio in the 60's 70's and 80's.

disc-jockey who also found success in Los Angeles, is a close friend of Kelly's.

"I think it's the crowning moment to a wonderful career," Ross said. "It's such a pleasure to see a nice guy win.

It's not an act with Tom. He is absolutely nice. This is a guy who was lucky enough in life to find out what he wanted to do, went ahead and has been doing it successfully and wonderfully for 40 years. He'll continue to be successful, and this is a great honor that he richly deserves."

Having his favorite celebrity Stevie Wonder in attendance that day speaking and (singing) on his behalf was the icing on the cake to a most memorable 'star-studded' event.

Pet of the Week

"Hello to all of you kind people! My name is BAILEY, and I'm a mellow, loving Terrier-mix fellow who's looking for a new forever home. I'm about two years old, and I have those warm and expressive eyes that show just how sweet I am. I have a sensitive nature, and I'm a bit overwhelmed here at the shelter. Once I get to know you and trust you, I'll snuggle in close to you and we'll be great friends. I'll roll over on my back for a belly rub, and I'll look into your eyes with all the love of the world. I get along nicely with other dogs, and I'd do best in a quiet, adult home. The shelter staff isn't sure yet if I've been house trained, but I think I can get the hang of it quickly under your patient and loving guidance. I really am a wonderful boy, so please come to the El Cajon Animal Shelter so we can get better acquainted in our lovely, shady play yard. I just need a chance to get to know you, then I know we'll fall in love. Love, BAILEY" Kennel #20
