Traditional Dancers

On Saturday, Aug. 24 the Viejas Band of Kumeyaay Indians gathered for a day of traditional Peon games, Bird Singing and crowning of Miss Kumeyaay Nation. This year Destinee Morales from San Pasqual reservation was chosen. Miss Kummeyaay is chosen by her knowledge of tribal history and tribal dancing. Viejas has been hosting this event for the last 13 years.

Peon is a Native American game of the Indigenous tribes of Southern California. The ancient Native American gambling game is played with pieces of white and black bones, sticks and blankets. The history of the games dates back thousands of years.

Bird Song singers are a vital element in the Kumeyaay custom and tradition within the local Native American social structure. Early in life, potential singers are introduced to established lead singers. During these associations young singers are evaluated to determine: commitment, capacity to learn, and qualities essential to group singing as opposed to individual performance.

Alpine Kiwanian receives regional award

by Diana Saenger

Carol Lewis, member of the Alpine Kiwanis Club, was recently awarded the Bert Shoemaker Award, established by the Golden Gate/Pacific Club in memory of its exceptional member. The award is presented annually at the Cal - Nev - Ha (California, Nevada, Hawaii) District Convention to a Kiwanian who has best exemplified the spirit of Kiwanis.

Lewis has been a member of the Alpine Kiwanis Club for seven years. She's won awards for being the editor of the Alpine Club's newsletter, "The Yodeler." Lewis is on the Club's Board of Directors and Foundation Board. She has coordinated or assisted with the Alpine Blood Drive; Relay for Life; Rady Children's Miracle Mile of Quarters; Vintage Alpine; and more.

Being very humble Lewis said about the award, "I don't know why I got it. My creed is When and Where...I'll be there!"

Herbert (Bert) O. Shoemaker, Sr., was a Charter Member of the Kiwanis Club of Golden Gate/Pacific (Division 17). He was one of those exceptional individuals for whom Kiwanis was a way of life, and he was quick to extol the virtues of being a Kiwanian to anyone with whom he came in contact. He had a record of perfect attendance for more than 55 years; participated in building four new clubs in Division 17; was active in club projects of every kind; brought innumerable new members into Kiwanis; and avidly supported interclubbing, mid - year conferences, and District and International conventions. He participated in chartering in Europe with the first club chartered outside North America. He had the kind of enthusiasm that gave inspiration, encouragement, and direction to officers and members of his club and division.

She became a member of the Alpine Stagecoach Lions Club in 1998 and has served twice as Club President, Secretary, Treasurer and Tall Twisted. Mary later transferred to the Rancho Santee Lions Club.

In 2008, Rynearson and husband Randy moved to the West Shores of the Salton Sea in Imperial Valley and formed the West Shores Lions Club. She had the honor of being Charter President.

Mary was joined by Alpine Stagecoach Lions Club members, Jan Morse, Debbie and Dave Norman and Roger Garay Saturday to honor her success.

In July, Debbie Norman was installed as the Alpine Stagecoach Lions Club President, Roger Garay as Vice President, Heidi Johnson as Secretary and Larry LaBrack as Treasurer.

Volunteers In El Cajon - We'd Like To Honor You!

As the City of El Cajon continues to celebrate 100 years of incorporation, we would like to honor those who volunteer in our community through the 100 Hours Honoring 100 Years Volunteer Program. During this Centennial Year, as we reflect on our rich City history, it is important to recognize that it is the people who make El Cajon The Valley of Opportunity, including our volunteers. The 100 Hours Honoring 100 Years Volunteer Program was developed to provide an opportunity for El Cajon residents and others involved in the community to be recognized for their service in honor of El Cajon's Centennial. Through this volunteer program, the City will recognize the volunteer service performed in the El Cajon community during the Centennial year (November 2012 through November 2013). All are invited to participate, whether as an individual, or in a group on behalf of an organization, community group, or business. Find out more by visiting the Centennial website, www.elcajon100.com, under "Participate" and download the forms. Completed forms will be accepted throughout the year; however, all forms must be completed and delivered, or post-marked, by December 10. For more information, call (619) 441-5549.

Drivers please be extra alert as children head back to school

Walk, bike, drive safely – now and in the coming weeks students are heading back to school. The El Cajon Police Department encourages both children and adults to remain extra cautious, not only during the coming weeks, but every month throughout the year. It's important to remind your kids how important their safety is to you and that they need to stay alert as they travel to and from school. Drivers, especially those in school zones, need to also do their part to observe posted speed limits and watch for children. Let's do all we can to make our roadways safer!

Keeping kids safe

by Patt Bixby

State Senator Joel Anderson and District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis joined together for a public safety town hall meeting at West Hills High School in Santee. Dumanis said the community plays an important role in helping law enforcement to protect public safety and Town Hall meetings are a great way to provide information to concerned citizens and families. Nearly two hundred people listened to a panel of law enforcement experts share the latest information and strategies to protect children.

The San Diego Highway Patrol, San Diego County Sheriff's Department, San Diego probation Department, El Cajon Police and La Mesa police gave expert advice and listened to community concerns. A panel member told the audience the average age when children are offered cigarettes, alcohol, marijuana, and heroin is in Middle School. Heroin is cheap and easy to get. Be involved and check cell phones, children's rooms and Instagrams. Protect your children from their own bad decisions.

There are signs to recognize these decisions -- a change in behavior, change in sleep patterns, abnormal color of the skin, hygiene and change in speech.

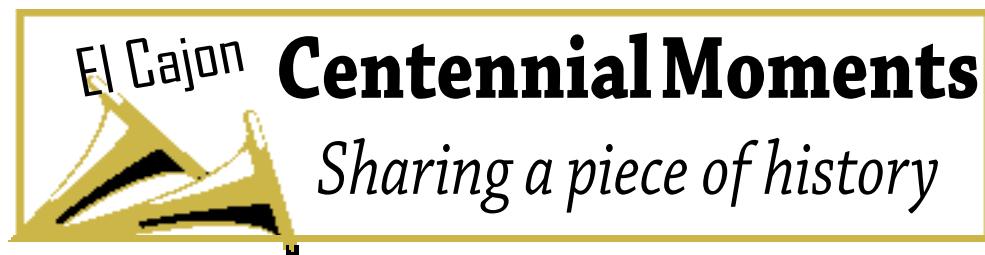

Driving and texting is a deadly combination. If one beer is consumed; three hours later it will register on a test. Bullying is a power imbalance. You are your children's most important advocate.

The DA's office is very aware of Human Trafficking. Gangs join together to force young girls into prostitution.

Tell your kids to walk in groups and watch each other's back.

Senator Anderson and Dumanis consider children a top priority. Senator Anderson flew in from Sacramento to attend the meeting. He has introduced a number of bills in Sacramento to protect the children of California. "Public safety is important. We don't want to wait until something horrible happens," Anderson said.

Dumanis is in charge of the second largest District Attorney's office in the State of California, which serves 4,000 square-miles compiled of about three million residents. The D.A.'s office fills out about 40,000 cases a year and maintains a 9490 felony conviction rate.

Centennial Moment: Plans to build City Hall in 1953

Below is an excerpt from a brochure published in 1961 in honor of the City's 50th anniversary of incorporation: "50 Years of Progress." The brochure chronicles events in the City by each year, from incorporation in 1912, through present day, at that time, in 1961. This Centennial moment focuses specifically on the year 1953

Plans for the first City Hall, built for the specific purpose to house the City government offices, were accepted by the Planning Commission and approved by the City Council. The entire exterior and interior design was to conform to the recently constructed Police-Fire Department buildings. The Riha Construction Company was awarded the contract for the building of the structure at 270 Highland Avenue.

The City acquired a new fire truck, with the purchase price being split between the City and the Federal Government. To make the Fire Department more efficient, Street Department employees were trained to assist the regular firemen in case of big fires.

The first Mother Goose Grand Ball was held this year, with considerable success.

The picture here was taken in the mid-fifties. Main Street and Magnolia Avenue has now become the heart of a bustling and busy community. A special census of the City showed that 11,097 people were living within the City limits, almost 4,000 more than had been counted in a special census in 1952, and 6,000 more than were here in 1950. El Cajon could no longer be called a community, it was now a City.

Inspiration

Some mysteries are tough to solve

by Dr. Rev. James L. Snyder

For my wife's birthday, I surprised her with round trip tickets to her family reunion in upper New York State. Out of courtesy to her, I elected not to include myself in her little vacation.

One difference between men and women, or maybe I should say husbands and wives, is the notion of cleanliness. Wives have the idea that cleanliness is next to godliness. If true, ours is the godliest house on the planet. Even God must wipe his feet before coming into our home.

If godliness is related to happiness, then I am in heaven when I am in the midst of hodgepodge — the podgier the better.

Along about Friday afternoon I was absolutely in heaven. The house was a complete wreck and I could not have been happier.

I was about ready to take a shower when I noticed the soap and shampoo in my shower were gone. I knew reserves are somewhere in our house but for the life of me; I could not put my fingers on any of it.

Notwithstanding, and I was standing in my birthday suit, I needed to take a shower. Then a brilliant idea struck me. Since my wife has not been home all week, the shampoo and soap in her shower should be in great supply.

One thing I noticed in my wife's shower was the variety of bottles. Not wearing my glasses, I could not read the labels on any of them.

I turned on the shower, adjusted the water temperature and began my shower. I reached for the nearest bottle, which I assumed was shampoo. After dousing my hair with a generous portion, I began scrubbing my head. I noticed, however, no suds. I grabbed another bottle and repeated the procedure with the same results.

I remember thinking to myself, what does my wife do with all these bottles in her shower that do not do anything? Nevertheless, in a moment I forgot the whole incident, stepped out of her shower and toweled off.

I made a cup of coffee and settled into my easy chair to watch a little television. As I sat there, I noticed a strange fragrance. This is the difference between men and women. A man enjoys strange smells. A woman, on the other hand, enjoys fragrant aromas.

I got up and walked around the house looking for a bowl of fruit. No matter what room I was in, I could smell the fruit. It was the strangest thing I ever experienced.

Then something hit me right between the eyes. The fruity bouquet was coming from me!

I took several healthy sniffs and discovered I smelled like a bowl of fruit. I could not understand this phenomenon. Then I remember the bottles in my wife's shower.

I went back to investigate and discovered my wife had bottles of fruity concoctions of every variety.

A verse from the Bible came to mind. "But I have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well pleasing to God." (Philippians 4:18 KJV.)

The only fragrance worth dwelling on is a life well pleasing to God.

Metamorphosis a transformation

Dear Readers,

Walking outside the other morning I noticed my first butterfly this year. It had beautiful, amazing, bright yellow colors in all different shades, with black lines so carefully lining its wings. I watched this butterfly fly from one tree to another, graceful and free as it flew through the air high above the trees, higher and higher until it was out of sight.

Thinking about that butterfly in its beginning stage, made me smile. It's fuzzy little body with what seemed like a million legs. Its colors looking like a little blob. Barely making it across the sidewalk in hopes that no one would step on it, taking what seems like a lifetime it finally makes it to the bottom of a tree trunk. Can you imagine the view from the caterpillar's eyes as it looks up from the bottom of that tree? How big that tree must have seemed? Making its way up that tree with its hundreds of little tiny legs, trying not to trip over one another or slip and fall off, it inches its way up to a branch high above the ground. On its way up to that branch, it hopes that some bird doesn't take notice of it and decide to have him as a meal.

Days later it makes it to the branch, and just waits, something begins to happen. In time, it's hanging from that branch, only this time its tiny, fuzzy body starts to change, wrapped in a hard little shell type membrane it hangs for what may seem forever. Through the wind, rain, and hot sun, its dark, yet something is happening inside of that cocoon. A metamorphosis, a transformation, this once little fuzzy worm looking creature with hundreds of legs, is now in a transformation station. Hidden away in that cocoon something wonderful is happening. A miracle working power, amazing to the human mind, and yet a gift from above is happening inside that dark, cocoon.

A miracle change and it takes time, one must never speed up the process. If human hands try to help and open up that cocoon ahead of time it dies. Development, change, and transformation is taking place in that cocoon even though you can't see it with your human eyes, and it must work its way through the process even if it's painful and long. When the time is right, this little guy wiggles, struggles, and pushes its way out until, little by little the cocoon is open all the way. In the struggle what we don't see is it's building its little muscles, and forming those wings. He is preparing for takeoff. Once the whole process is done one will see that once fuzzy, little million legged worm-like creature become a beautiful, amazing butterfly, flying high above the sky. Looking down and maybe even thinking, the pain was worth it all.

Are you going through a transformation? Is God trying to help you change your life? Is it painful right now? Trapped in a dark place, does height seem too hard to achieve? Take one little step at a time. Pray! Ask the One who created you in His image to give you the strength to be all He created you for.

He's the architect and holds the blueprints to our lives. Surrender! And in time you will soar like an eagle. Isaiah 40:31; "But those who wait on the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles. They shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint."

For Health's Sake

Five ways to stay slim while indulging

With the recent declaration from the American Medical Association that obesity now should be considered a disease, the United States officially becomes an even more afflicted union. Obesity, which affects 78 million adults and 12 million children, causes a plethora of other illnesses, including cardiac disease and diabetes.

damental paradigm shift in lifestyle is needed for an enormous swath of the U.S. population – but there are also Americans who have already reshaped their eating and exercise habits, and they're looking to not only maintain their health, but also take it to the next level," says Dr. Susie Rockway, a veteran nutritional and biochemical expert in the U.S. health industry.

"It's clear that a really fun-

"These are often busy, professional people who make an effort to eat healthy with most meals and make time throughout the workweek to move their body and get their blood pumping."

Still, they also want to be able to enjoy an indulgent meal every once in a while – birthdays, family barbecues or date night with the spouse. Dr. Rockway offers tips for people who want to maintain their weight while still enjoying the occasional burger, chicken wing or greasy pizza slice:

- Food diary: So, nine times out of 10 you eat healthy, eh? That may not really be true, but a food diary can help clear up any confusion. How much fattening mayo was used to make that tuna salad? If you've sworn off meat, are you getting enough protein and are you eating too many carbohydrates? What kind of carbs are they? Are you eating a diverse diet that provides all the necessary nutrients? A food diary will help challenge your assumptions and make you more aware of everything you're eating, how much and where you might make healthy adjustments.

- Stay hydrated: Whether you've upped the ante on your workouts or you're consuming too much salt or too many caffeinated beverages, which act as a diuretic, doctors and researchers believe as many as 75 percent of Americans experience dehydration throughout the day. Dehydration can make you confuse thirst for hunger, cause fatigue and a fuzzy memory.

- Lineatabs www.lineatabs.com: This meal supplement has been popular in Europe for 11 years and recently became available in the United States. Lineatabs contains Solusitan, an all-natural fat-binding complex. Unlike other fat-binding supplements, Lineatabs dissolve in water to become an effervescent citrus flavored beverage that users consume before or while eating a fatty meal. Since the dietary fibers in Lineatabs are dispersed in water are not compressed into a tablet, they're immediately available to bind with fats, turning them into an indigestible liquid mass. The tabs are perfect for people who follow a healthy diet but occasionally eat a greasy-fatty meal. The ingredients in Lineatabs are clinically proven to help reduce body weight, in combination with a calorie-restricted diet, and can also help maintain healthy cholesterol levels. Additionally, Lineatabs encourages hydration, as it makes you drink more water.

- Relaxation: If you're always on the go, chances are you may be suffering from excessive stress, which according to the American Journal of Epidemiology, raises levels of cortisol, a hormone that can make you feel hungry. Stress can also make busy people more prone to comfort eating, including excessive amounts and foods filled with fat, sugar and salt. Consider breathing techniques, yoga or meditation for handling a busy schedule.

- Slightly increase/mix-up cardio: It's easy to get into a routine in your workout. After a certain point, however, your body gets used to the exercise and you get less of a workout.

You don't have to drastically alter things though; increasing the incline on your treadmill by just 5 percent can help you lose 15 percent more calories during your walk/jog/run. If you want more muscle definition, consider trading a walk for a shorter jog, or a jog for a shorter sprint.

Dr. Susie Rockway, Ph.D., C.N.S., is a veteran nutritional and biochemical expert and is a multi-decade industry expert. She has worked for multiple companies in executive capacities, including as an executive director of product development, a director of research, and a manager for science developing health and wellness products, where she communicated nutrition and new science updates to consumers. She has also designed testing strategies for clinical efficacy studies.

Wrong boots

A teacher was helping one of her kindergarten students put his boots on. He asked for help and she could see why. With her pulling and him pushing, the boots still didn't want to go on. When the second boot was on, she had worked up a sweat. She almost whimpered when the little boy said, "Teacher, they're on the wrong feet."

She looked, and sure enough, they were. It wasn't any easier pulling the boots off than it was putting them on. She managed to keep her cool as together they worked to get the boots back on - this time on the right feet.

He then announced, "These aren't my boots."

She bit her tongue rather than get right in his face and scream, "Why didn't you say so?" like she wanted to do. Once again she struggled to help him pull the ill-fitting boots off.

He then said, "They're my brother's boots. My Mom made me wear them."

She didn't know if she should laugh or cry. She then mustered up the grace to wrestle the boots onto his feet again.

She said, "Now, where are your mittens?"

He said, "I stuffed them in the toes of my boots..."

At the Movies

'Closed Circuit' - lacks follow through, good acting and suspense

Eric Bana and Rachael Hall star in Closed Circuit. Photo Credit: Jay Maidment /Focus Features

Review by Diana Saenger

After so many explosive and let's-kill-as-many-as-we-can, movies this year I was ready for a good mystery. John Crowley's Closed Circuit seemed promising. Unfortunately, just taking a rest in the dark, quiet theater was more rewarding than this international suspense thriller.

In London, a busy outdoor market place has delivery trucks coming and going. When one driver seems to ignore a warning by a man in the crowd that he's too close to the merchandise, the driver ignores him. Seconds later the truck explodes and many die.

Farroukh Erdogan (Denis Moschitto) is the Turkish terrorist bomber accused of the action. That the English legal system is very different than ours becomes painfully clear in this drawn out, boring plot.

The defendant is given (not a lawyer as we call them) a solicitor and a barrister. However, because the government has evidence so secret that neither the solicitor nor barrister will see, Erdogan is assigned a special advocate – actually, two of them.

What the officials don't know is that the advocates, Claudia Simmons-Howe (Rebecca Hall) and Martin Rose (Eric Bana) are former lovers. They are not allowed to speak to each other or share information as both try to clear this man as the bomber. Talk about confusing!

When Claudia uncovers some key information that might clear Erdogan she tries to keep to the stipulations of not discussing the case with Martin. Yet, even though there is as much chemistry between the two as an ice cube and a blow dryer, they do secretly get together often and question their relationship.

If all of this isn't enough maze's to get through there's another element that blurs the plot even more. It's the Attorney General (Jim Broadbent) who assigned the advocates to the case. His instructions are more warnings than advice and soon have Martin and Claudia are in fear of their own lives. Julia Stiles is a New York Times reporter who seems thrown in for name talent because her character never seems to fit in this plot.

The idea of Closed Circuit might have been a better movie if not for a humdrum script and direction that clearly missed the mark. The talents of Bana, Hall and Stiles are clearly wasted as written for these characters. There isn't one minute of Claudia and Martin's quiet face to face meeting that I believed they were ever romantically involved. Stiles character slips in and out of the film and never makes an impact. The only character that delivers any kind of intrigue in Closed Circuit is Broadbent. But one interesting character does not make a movie, and this one is a real yawner.

'The Mortal Instruments: City of Bones' delivers the action

Review by James Colt Harrison

Darkness has become a favorite theme of modern movies. The darker the better it seems. Demons, dragons, witches, werewolves, vampires and bats seem to be all the rage in today's movies. Whatever happened to happy movies with Munchkins and dancing flowers? Movies have darkened and so have the plots. No more colorful gardens of singing plants. What we have now are wild monsters jumping out from behind the scenery to scare the daylights out of you. And scared you get in director Harald Zwarts' spectacular version of the hit book series The Mortal Instruments: City of Bones.

Author Cassandra Clare (born Judith Rumelt in 1973 in Tehran to American parents) has written a series of adult-fantasy books that have sold in the millions. This is the first movie version of her books, and there promises to be more. That could be scarier than the books.

Beautiful little Clary is confused as to who she is and why she has powers nobody else has. Clary is played by newcomer Lily Collins, daughter of musician Phil Collins. So that none of her real-life friends at high school know she is in the movie, she wears two fuzzy black caterpillars above her eyes. She gives a close impersonation of Groucho Marx.

Really bad guys come in and kidnap Clary's mother and wreck the place for good measure. They rip out walls, throw doors through windows, and turn over old-fashioned davenport. This shows us that her mother Jocelyn (played by the beautiful Lena Headley, who looks younger than her daughter) put up a good fight and probably has a Black Belt in the closet.

Interestingly set in modern day New York, the picture is much brighter and lighter than most "horror" pictures. Clary meets the dashing handsome blond hunk Jace (Jamie Campbell Bower). He explains she is a Shadowhunter, and a descendant of warriors who are here to protect the human race from demons. Voila! Clary is now special and can follow every word of Jace because he's hot and tall and can wear leather pants like nobody else and get away with it. Besides, he was in other hit movies such as Harry Potter and all those incessant Twilight sagas.

Jace shows Clary the way to the Downworld, populated by demons, vampires and warlocks, all of which she must learn to fight off without messing up her hair. Fights break out and demons are stabbed and mysteriously turn to dust. Clary is thrown around on her head, and bounces back with her Beyonce Knowles foundation that has nary a scratch. Somehow she has been transformed into a black leather-wearing Miley Cyrus clone, but she still looks fetching.

Clary relies on Simon (Robert Sheehan), her best friend forever. He's somewhat nerdy but transforms into a handsome curly-haired dude when he takes off his glasses (just like Superman!). He's hopelessly in love with Clary but she can't see him for cellophane. She opts for the dangerous bad

Chargers win one in pre-season

by Chuck Karazsia

The San Diego Chargers improved their exhibition record (1-2) after defeating the Arizona Cardinals 24-7.

Obviously pleased about the performance of his players last Saturday evening in Tempe, head coach Mike McCoy said, "That's what this business is all about; it's about winning football games."

In the third game of the exhibition where the starters play more minutes than any of the four, San Diego gained ground. Executing better than in the first two games, the Chargers were even with the Cardinals in give-away, take-aways, with both sides giving the ball away twice.

Setting the tempo early was Chargers special teams play. Darrell Stuckey blocked a punt setting the Bolts up with great field position on the 35-yard line. Kicker Nick Novack missed a 51-yard field goal (wide left). After the punt block, the Bolts special teams blocked a field goal, and returned a punt 47-yards. All of this occurred in the first half of play.

The Chargers offensive line, an Achilles heel in the last few seasons in 32 pass attempts in Tempe, gave up only one quarterback sack. That's attributed to better blocking, and a balanced running attack. The Bolts number one offense unit behind Rivers outscored the Cardinals on lengthy drives executing mistake free drives — 12 plays, 92-yards, 14 plays 73 yards, 7 plays, 70-yards.

boy, Jace. Being a loyal friend, Simon and Clary help each other when things get rough. However, in an interview with Hollywood.com, Collins explained her romantic situation: "I didn't want Clary just to be a girl between two guys; I wanted her to propel the story forward, and not allow the romance to define her."

British actor Jonathan Rhys Meyers, still in tip-top shape, comes in for a few flashy scenes as Valentine, the baddy. He chews up the scenery as only a classically trained stage actor can do. But we don't hate him even though he's evil. We marvel that he can be as flexible as he is while being squeezed like a grape press in those tight, but gorgeous, costumes.

Director Zwart keeps the action moving along and throws in some humor and plenty of scary scenes for those who love getting jolted out of their seats. It's a rather likeable film, filled with wonderful production values and imaginative costume designs. Leaving the credibility meter at home, the film is 130 minutes of sheer entertainment. The cast is young, shows great potential and getting their feet wet taking on leading roles. The Mortal Instruments: City of Bones is a non-stressing, way to pass the time.

ORDINANCE NO. _____

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EL CAJON REPEALING CHAPTER 17.210 OF TITLE 17 OF THE EL CAJON MUNICIPAL CODE AND ADDING A NEW CHAPTER 17.210 OF TITLE 17 OF THE EL CAJON MUNICIPAL CODE.

This ordinance repeals currently adopted Chapter 17.210 of the El Cajon Municipal Code, which sets forth requirements applicable to the establishment and conduct of alcohol sales in the City of El Cajon and adds a new Chapter 17.210 which sets forth more comprehensive regulations, standards and procedures applicable to alcohol sales activities and the establishment and conduct of alcohol sales in the City in order to protect the general health, safety, and welfare of the residents of the City, to prevent nuisance activities where alcoholic beverage sales occur, and to address the secondary effects of such nuisance activities.

This ordinance continues to require land use permits for newly established alcoholic beverage sales activities, provides standards for the operation of new and existing alcoholic beverage sales establishments, confers deemed approved status for all existing permitted, conditionally permitted and legal nonconforming off-sale alcoholic beverage sales activities not already meeting the newly-adopted standards, sets forth grounds for the modification, revocation and termination of conditional use permits and deemed approved status for establishments violating this ordinance, and provides a hearing process to review violations of the standards contained in this chapter.

This ordinance alone does not allow or permit alcoholic beverage sales activities, but only applies to these activities where otherwise allowed or permitted within an involved applicable zoning district. The provisions of this ordinance are intended to complement the state of California alcohol-related laws. The ordinance does not replace or usurp any powers vested in the California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

The El Cajon City Council will hold a public hearing and consider adoption of Ordinance No. _____ at the regularly scheduled meeting of September 10, 2013. This ordinance becomes effective 30 days after passage.

Pet of the Week

"Who's the fun-loving and personable dog that's looking for a new best friend? It's me, ROSIE! I'm a four-year-old Australian Cattle Dog-mix with a healthy, soft coat and a happy face. I LOVE to play fetch and romp around the play yard, and I enjoy going for walks. I'm a smart dog, so I bet you could teach me all sorts of fun tricks. I'd want a yard in my new home, and I'd need a daily walk so I could get my exercise and spend time with you. I need to be in an adult home, and I'd want to be the only dog in my new home. The shelter staff is fairly certain that I've been house trained, but they're still watching me to be sure. If you want a loyal dog and a good buddy, then I'm your dog. Won't you please come visit me at the El Cajon Animal Shelter so we can get better acquainted? Let's hang out in the play yard so you can feel my soft fur and look into my sweet face. It will also give me a chance to show-off my excellent fetching skills! Please hurry on over! Love, Rosie" Kennel #51 ID#15959
