Shop small - Small Business Saturday is November 29

Small Business Saturday, a day to recognize and shop small businesses, is held on the Saturday after Thanksgiving during one of the busiest shopping periods of the year. Avoid the hectic crowds and fighting for parking spaces, shop in your neighborhood. Small Business Saturday activity is schedule for the Downtown El Cajon area from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. First observed in 2010, it is a counterpart to Black Friday and Cyber Monday, by contrast, Small Business Saturday encourages holiday shoppers to shop businesses that are small and local. Consider shopping locally at neighborhood businesses, not only during the holidays, but throughout the year. We also have excellent restaurants for your dining pleasure!

Inspiration

What it was, was basketball

by Dr. Rev. James L. Snyder Nowards the end of last week, the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage presented me with a rather fascinating proposition. My attitude in life has always been, when she speaks I will at least listen.

I want you to know I am not easily propositioned. I am very suspicious of anything that has the appearance of being good for me. I do not believe everything I hear or see. I guess I am just a skeptic.

A telemarketer recently called with the news that the government had randomly chosen my name to receive $8400. If this was the government calling me, it would not be to give me $8400 but to solicit $8400 in taxes.

Like my father used to say, "Son, there ain't no free lunches." He was right.

So when my wife propositioned me, I was rather skeptical.

"How would you like to go with us to the kid's basketball game on Friday night?"

So, I thought to myself, where is the catch? Somewhere along the line in this proposition is a catch. Now. where was it?

As it turned out, there was no catch and I did not even have to drive to the game. To make the proposition even more appealing, my granddaughter was to play in this basketball game. So, with a great deal of enthusiasm I accepted this passionate proposition and prepared myself for a wonderful evening.

I have not been to a basketball game since the Harlem Globetrotters played in the Hershey arena in Hershey Pennsylvania. My favorite player was Meadowlark Lemon.

I was off to the little kid's basketball game anticipating an enjoyable evening.

We finally got to the right place where my granddaughter and her teammates were playing basketball.

I am not complaining, but it has been a long time since I sat in bleachers. I had forgotten how narrow they really are when you set on them. I am not sure who invented bleachers like this, but I am positive they never sat on one during a game. I could only get half of my posterior on the bleacher at any one time. The trick of the game for the evening was appropriately rotating my posterior.

Getting settled, I noticed some activity out on the floor. First off, one little girl was refusing to play. Come to find out she did not like the team, she was on, particularly the shirts they were wearing, and wanted to play on the other team because she liked their shirt better.

After 20 minutes of negotiating the little girl won and was put on the other team.

I turned to my wife and asked, "When will the game began?" I thought it a rather innocent question.

She looked at me, laughed and said, "Silly boy, it started 20 minutes ago."

"Who is winning and what is

I was informed that in these games, they do not keep score and nobody wins. I thought I would not resume anymore questioning on this subject. I just went back to rotating my posterior and trying to watch the game.

I noticed one little girl (why do little girls do this?) was dancing all by herself ignoring the rest of her teammates. I do not know what basketball has to do with dancing, but she was enjoying herself and I was enjoying watching her enjoy

I noticed all of the shirts

on each team had the same

Rev. James L. Snyder is

number. The only difference between the two teams was one side wore blue on the other side wore white. It would not be appropriate, so it was explained to me, for the children to have different numbers.

Then the coach blew his whistle and announced they would have a bathroom break. All those who needed to go to the bathroom should go at this particular time.

Nobody went and in a moment or two, the game resumed with the whistle-blowing coach.

Within five minutes, three on one side and two on the other side came up missing. When the coach inquired as to where these kids were he was told that they had all gone to the bathroom. Furthermore, he was told that he planted the idea in their head and so it was not their fault.

As I watched the activity on the floor, I realized the Harlem Globetrotters had nothing on these miniature basketball players. One trademark activity in a Harlem Globetrotter game is in the middle of the game they would begin playing baseball with the basketball.

Something like that happened out on the floor as I was watching. It was not baseball. and I am sure it was not basketball, at least the kind I am familiar with. What it was, was anybody's guess

What it was, so I came to find out, was just plain old fun.

As I sat there rotating my posterior, I was thinking about how competitive our world has really become. People will do anything and everything just to win a game. Sometimes it is good just to quiet down, relax and enjoy the surround-

I wonder if that is what David had in mind when he wrote, "Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth" (Psalm 46:10).

When we step out of the world of competition and quiet ourselves a bit, we begin to appreciate the reality, especially the reality in Jesus Christ.

pastor of the Family of God Fellowship, PO Box 831313, Ocala, FL 34483.

Dear Dr. Luauna — Prepare your foundation

Dear Readers,

When you build a house there are things one must do first: prep work, vision, blueprints, location, surveying, plumbing, power source, foundation; on and on. Each step must be done in order to build. Pioneering a church, is the same, groundwork must be done. Many think people will just come in because we are there, and we have our sign up. Luke 7:47-48; "Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like; He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not shake it, for it was founded on the rock.

You must go out, (boots on the ground) to reach lost souls. Let people know about Jesus, and their need for Him. Not just a new building.

Last week, before our Friday service, four of us went out fishing, (fishing for men / women) for about three hours. Five people were saved, people who had never heard about Jesus. These five people are the type of people to build a pioneer church with. Our first month, over 20 people received Christ. Jesus said, "Make disciples, and teach them the things I have told you." Because we have reached out for them, in time they will reach out for others.

Yes, it's hard work when you have a baby Christian. It's just like a newborn baby; they mess in their diaper, sometimes throw up all over you, fall down, cry and get mad. It's OK; these are the kind of people who turned the whole world upside down. Acts 17:6; "But when they did not find them, they dragged Jason and some brethren to the rulers of the city, crying out, "These who have turned the world upside down have come here too." Jesus took a group of wild, common, bad tempered men some wild women, and trained them for three years

Pioneering a church is hard work, but the reward in great! Pray, obey, love people, and don't be afraid to do a little work, you see the end is worth the meaning

Jesus pioneered, Paul pioneered, John the Baptist pioneered, and we to must work as they did, "Come follow Me." Jesus was out among the people, at the shore, sitting at the well, and walked throughout the cities. "Come follow Me!"

Don't think people just come in because you're on location. "We must Go Forth; we are called to be fishers of men. Pioneering! Yes its work, but I love it! It's exciting to see what the Holy Spirit will do in the life of each person who walks through those doors.

We are now getting ready for an amazing, live drama, musical production, "What is Christmas Anyway?" Held December 19, 20, & 21 at 7 p.m. nightly, tickets are available on our website. 1805 Main Street, San Diego, CA. (Next to the Glass Haus) Bring someone who needs Jesus! There are so many people lost and hurting, especially during the Christmas season. Please pray for us as we reach out with the love of Christ through our drama production.

Great IS our reward. I really do love you.

Local program brightens the holidays for seniors

his season, many seniors in portions of Central and all of East San Diego County who are alone or impoverished will receive some holiday cheer thanks to the Be a Santa to a Senior® program. Sponsored by the local Home Instead Senior Care® office, the program brings together area nonprofits, retailers, numerous volunteers and members of the community to provide gifts and companionship for lonely and in-need seniors.

"It is heartbreaking to think of the senior members of our community spending the holidays all by themselves, without gifts or a way to celebrate the season," says Leslie Bojorquez, owner of the Home Instead Senior Care office serving portions of Central and all of East San Diego County. "But all too often, that's what happens when seniors live alone. It can be a really tough time of the year for them."

Home Instead Senior Care has partnered with a local Walgreens store to help with the gift collection and distribution. Beneficiaries of the gifts will be seniors from the Granite Hills Convalescent Hospital in El Cajon and other seniors inneed. Program officials hope to collect more than 110 gifts in order to help area seniors this holiday season.

From now through December 19, the Be a Santa to a Senior Christmas tree will feature ornaments with seniors' requests. Holiday shoppers can pick ornaments from the tree, buy the items listed and return them unwrapped (with the ornament attached) to the store.

The Be a Santa to a Senior tree is located at Walgreens on 8766 Navajo Rd., San Diego, CA 92119.

On December 22, program partners and volunteers will wrap the gifts from 3-5 pm at the Home Instead Senior Care Office at 5360 Jackson Dr., Suite 120, La Mesa. Volunteers are welcome to come and help out. The gifts will be distributed to seniors on December 24.

"During this season of giving, we encourage shoppers to buy a little extra for a local senior," said Bojorquez. "Your gift - and more importantly the visit that comes with the delivery – could make their holiday season."

For more information about the program, visit BeaSantatoaSenior.com or call 619-460-6222.

Bolts get a pretty-ugly win over the Raiders

by Chuck Karazsia

mproving their record to (6-4) the San Diego Chargers coming off a BYE halted a three-game losing streak at Qualcomm Stadium. Getting their first win in 34 days, defeating the (0-10) Oakland Raiders 13-6, and handing them their 16'th consecutive loss dating back to last season. One game out of first place in the AFC West chasing Denver and Kansas City both (7-3), the Bolts may need four more wins in the stretch run to entertain any playoff aspirations.

Four Chargers players returned to action from the injured list, OLB Jerry Attaochu and Melvin Ingram, ILB Mantai T'eo, and RB Ryan Mathews.

"With the rest of the guy's coming back I'm happy to see them playing again. Glad to see them back on the practice field and moving around. We're not expecting those guy's to come in and carry us to victory. We want them to come in and get their feet wet and help us in their roles," Chargers GM Tom Telesco said.

With three players returning to the lineup for the stretch run, this helps shore up a Bolts defense that was lights out earlier in the season, but faltered in the losing streak. Veteran OLB Dwight Freeney and Jarret Johnson practically played every down, but can now get a breather in between series and be more effective in their roles of stopping the passer and the opponents running game.

"This is what it's all about. It's not always going to be pretty. Just find a way to win," said Chargers head coach Mike McCoy. The Chargers defense rallied to the occasion dominating the Raiders offense, allowing no touchdowns, sacking the Raiders QB twice, hitting him five times, giving up just two field goals.

OLB Jerry Attaochu fully recovered from a lengthy hamstring injury who had one sack Sunday. "It was definitely fun to come out and help my teammates knowing everybody has a role on this team and it's important to have all our guys. It's great to ILB Kavell Conner led the Bolts 'D' with nine tackles and a sack followed by Marcus Gilchrist with six.

The Bolts defense looked sharp and played an awesome game limiting the Raiders to nine first downs and 233-yards of offense, allowing Oakland just three third down conversions in fifteen attempts, 71-yards rushing on 19 carries, 162-yards passing causing two fumbles. The Raiders held onto the ball nearly ten more minutes less than the Chargers in the game.

While the defense looked sharp, the Chargers offense appeared out of rhythm even with the return of RB Ryan Mathews with 16 carries for 70-yards, a 4.4 average per carry. He did appear to be confident running the ball.

Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers nursing some sore ribs, nevertheless took a pounding from a relentless Raiders front seven pass rush. Beat-up and bruised Rivers was under duress all game and was seen with his face cringed, doubled-over with the team trainers and doctor on the sideline

As it was, the fierce competitor battled throughout completing 22-of-34 passes for 193-yards, one touchdown, no interceptions. In case you missed the only touchdown of the game, it came in the first quarter on a 22-yard pass to Malcolm Floyd 53 seconds into the game.

A big key to the Chargers victory came from the foot and leg of punter Mike Scifres. Having an All-Pro performance, Scifres boomed nine punts with five of them pinning the Raiders back deep in their territory. Credit his skills and the special teams coverage for keeping the Raiders on a long field throughout the contest.

Putting the Oakland game behind them the Chargers concentration focuses on St. Louis who the Chargers will play on Sunday at Qualcomm Stadium. This after St. Louis blew out the Denver Broncos 22-7.

— great talent and direction 'Foxcatcher'

Previews by James Colt Harrison

n the biographical crime drama Foxcatcher, wrestler Mark Schultz (Channing Tatum) has won a Gold Medal at the Olympics in 1984. A few years later he was down on his luck and living in poverty. A huge opportunity came his way with an offer from billionaire industrialist John DuPont (Steve Carell) of the famed DuPont chemical family.

DuPont, a wrestling enthusiast, wanted to start up a new state-of-the-art training facility for some of the greatest wrestlers in America. It was built at his Foxcatcher Farm in the beautiful rolling hills of Pennsylvania. Schultz moves onto the farm and trains there for the 1988 Olympics in Seoul, Korea.

DuPont is obsessed with winning and having credit go to him for allegedly "coaching" all the wrestlers. He's particularly interested in having Schultz continue his gold medal-winning streak. It is not directly shown and only subtly implied, but DuPont may have had either emotional or sexual feelings for the much vounger and handsome Shultz.

Much has been said about Carell's performance. His appearance is completely changed, and he wears what looks like a version of the Groucho Marx Halloween nose without the glasses. Personally, his performance to this writer seemed zombie-like and listless. He stares into space and speaks his lines quietly with no verve or vitality. It's a step away from comedy for Carell to bravely try drama. He does a decent job but nothing will knock you out. Only in a few scenes do his intentions seem menacing. One gets the feeling director Miller went easy on DuPont in deference to his family.

On the other hand, Tatum is the best he has ever been. He completely captures the naiveté, confusion, and angst of his Schultz character. He has even developed a bull dog-like stance and bow-legged walk as one would imagine a musclebound wrestler to have. He has transformed his jaw to jut out and look massive and dangerous as a pit bull. Tatum has the opportunity to run the gamut of emotions here. He's moody, combative, and giddy.

essary and is angry over his rivalry with his wrestler older brother David, played beautifully by Mark Ruffalo.

David is invited to come to Foxcatcher Farm to train the other men. At first he is a best buddy of DuPont, but gradually the two men have disagreements. Young Mark wanted to get out from the shadow of his older brother's achievements. DuPont desperately wanted Mark to win at all costs. Perhaps he saw David as an obstruction, and that may have led DuPont to go off the rails and solve things with a gun.

Foxcatcher is sure to be an Oscar-contender, with Tatum and director Bennett Miller being singled out. Miller has already won the Best Director Award at the Cannes Film Festival this year and Channing Tatum won the International Cinephile Society Award as Best Actor.

Review by Diana Saenger

he last three months of the year are when the studios start sending out the big Oscar-potential films. The Theory of Everything, the life story of Jane and Stephen Hawking, is one of these films now playing in theaters. Adapted by screenwriter Anthony McCarten, the film is based on Jane Hawking's 2008 memoir, Travelling to Infinity.

It's hard to imagine that at one time or another everyone has not heard about Britain's Stephen Hawking, a cosmologist and conjectural physicist who some have called a genius. He had a passion for quantum physics and Einstein's theory of relativity.

The movie starts as Hawking (Eddie Redmayne) is beginning his college career in the 1960s at Cambridge. His days are typical, spending some time with classmates, playing a sport, most of all diving into his class work and normally astonishing teachers with his thoughts and theories.

When Hawking meets Jane (Felicity Jones) they are immediately infatuated with each other. They start dating, can't keep their hands off each other, and there's a lovely scene at a school dance when they dance together on a bridge. Jane is mesmerized by Stephen's knowledge. At the dance he points out to her why the men's white shirts standout in the nightlight better than women's dresses -- and it all has to do

Sadly, happily ever after is not in their future, well not as most would expect. Hawking begins to stumble, walk awkwardly and when finally seen by a doctor is diagnosed with "motor neuron disease," amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), commonly called Lou Gehrig's disease.

At first Hawking takes this illness in stride even though doctors give him only two years to live. He concentrates on his classes, and continues to delve deep into the subjects that interest him. The harder it is for him to walk and do things while becoming disfigured, the more he's determined. His friends help when they can; and luckily Jane is by his side every step of the way.

Hawking survives because his brain is not affected by this disease. He concentrates on his theories of time, the black hole and what happens in the universe and continues to amaze professors at the school.

Finding the right actor for Girl; The Good Shepherd and many others. In Theory, he submerges himself into a misconfigured body and yet manages to capture the deep soul of Stephen Hawking and his desire to understand everything he thinks about and assumes. He really embodies Hawking saying, "There should be no boundary of human endeavor.'

Redmayne is also great at hiding what hurts him the most -- that he's not the man Jane married. Yet she attends him and wants him as if he was the same as the day they married.

"When I read the script I was astonished at what this man has experienced, and done, since 1963," Redmayne said. "It was one of the most inspiring things I'd ever read. Stephen Hawking is an icon of hope.'

Jones is equally as superb as Jane. She's a strong woman and lets everyone know it and also that she will continue to love and be there for Stephen.

"I was in awe of her determination," Jones said. "She is someone who never gave up. She dedicated her life to Stephen but at the same time retained her own sense of identity. It was important for her to be recognized in her own right. which is why she continued on with her studies while caring for him and raising a family. What this woman accomplished!"

Eventually Hawkins can no longer speak, but that doesn't stop him. He learns how to use a computer to speak for him as he writes the words. He eventually writes books and has huge audiences waiting to read them. Meanwhile his body continues to be more and more disabled. The Hawking's have three children and by now Jane is getting tired of her full-time care of Stephen and the children.

About this time two other people enter the Hawking's lives. Jane starts singing at a church and becomes infatuated by Jonathan (Charlie Cox), the choirmaster who also helps both of the Hawkins with chores. And Stephen acquires Elaine (Maxine Peake), a vivacious nurse that awakens some of his lost spirit.

Director James Marsh did an excellent job in picking the perfect cast, crew and story to bring to life. The Theory of Everything is above the norm of great entertainment. The story of Jane and Stephen's life is a precious love story without end. The fortitude of Stephen and Jane to never give up on life is truly inspiring.
