Junior Achievement Day at Anza Elementary School

Senator Anderson's Corner

by Oscar A. Dueñas Legislative Intern Office of Senator Anderson

unior Achievement of San Diego County hosted Junior Achievement (JA) day at Anza Elementary School in El Cajon on February 20. Established in 1950, the non-profit organization encourages students to be aware of their economic surroundings by educating children K-12 in financial literacy, work readiness and entrepreneurship.

Volunteer teachers, from various backgrounds, taught students at the elementary level about the local economy, how money flows, job creation and how taxes are generated to pay for public services.

Alyssa Thompson, the Executive Legislative Intern for State Senator Joel Anderson, was one of the volunteers at JA Day. Thompson and the rest of the volunteers received proper training before working with the students.

"I loved seeing the excitement on the students' faces every time I would ask if they were ready for another story or activity," said Thompson. "They are so enthusiastic about learning the materials. You know that even though you are only with them for a day, you are making an impact on their lives."

Anderson provided volunteer teachers with certificates of recognition and said, "I am grateful for these volunteers who share their knowledge and help these students build toward financial literacy for a lifetime."

National surveys indicate that only 21 percent of children believe it is important to keep track of money or open a savings account. Junior Achievement teaches students about the importance of saving money and encourages them to do so.

"San Diego's greatest resource is the next generation of young people," said Joanne Pastula, president and CEO of Junior Achievement. "We must make sure they are ready."

Do you want to be a volunteer teacher at the next JA Day? Contact Laura Keller at (619) 906-4917 regarding JA Days at Chase Elementary, on March 20, or at Naranca Elementary on March 27.

Born with a screwdriver in my hand

Dr. James L. Snyder
ome people understand compliments and take them as they come. Other people, like myself, wouldn't know a compliment if it hit them in the face like a pie.

For a long time I had been under the impression my wife was giving me compliments. It takes a husband a long time to understand his wife and by the time he understands her, she has morphed into the next level of womanhood. The man who thinks he knows his wife needs a psychiatrist, preferably a woman psychiatrist.

For a number of years my wife said to me, which I thought was a compliment, "You must've been born with a screwdriver in your hand."

I never thought of myself as a handyman, but these kinds of compliments gave me a little bit of confidence in my incompetence. Nothing is more dangerous than confident incompetence.

I try to do a little bit of work around the house, like fixing things and improve things. However, every time I start to fix something, something happens to make it worse.

Last week, for instance, the front door latch came loose. Some screws had come loose and it was to the point that you could not shut the door. Well, being the bungling handyman that I am, I grabbed the nearest screwdriver I could find and tried to screw the screws back into the door and fix the problem. Usually, the first screwdriver I pick up does not fit the screw I am trying to screw in. I have come to discover that there is a screwdriver for every conceivable screw. Who knew?

I memorized a phrase to help me along that line; Lefty Loosey, Righty Tighty. Every time I use that phrase I need to think it through a little bit to understand or at least try to understand what it means. If I turn the screwdriver left, I am loosening it and if I turn it right, I am tightening it. What that means I have no idea.

I grabbed my screwdriver firmly in my right hand and used my left hand to guide it to the screw that needed to be tightened. However, the more I turned it to the right the looser it became. It is not supposed to work that way. Either, I do not know my right from my left or somebody has messed up this project. Thank goodness, there was no mirror handy.

Just as I was about ready to rip the door from its hinges and throw it across the street the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage appeared and said, "Another proof that you were born with a screwdriver in your hand."

At the time, I was not in any frame of mind whatsoever to receive a compliment.

She simply said to me, "May I have the screwdriver and would you go in and see if there's any coffee left in the coffee pot?"

Since I had come to the end of my rope, I handed her the screwdriver and headed for the kitchen mumbling incoherently. By the time I got to the kitchen, I turned around and there she was following me.

"What about the door?" I said in a rather grumpy tone.

"Oh," she said rather cheerfully, "it's fixed."

Several other projects I started ended up the same way. My wife would cheerfully come to me and say, "You must've been born with a screwdriver in your hand." Then she would laugh most heartily and I would smile not quite getting what she was saying.

One Christmas the truth of this really hit home. I was opening a Christmas present from someone named "Guess Who" and discovered a brand-new screwdriver with my name engraved on the handle. The note inside the card said, "Here's a screwdriver to help you in all the things you screw up."

I must confess it took several days for me to process this Christmas gift. Then, just before New Year's, the whole thing unfolded for me.

Whenever my wife says, "You must've been born with a screwdriver in your hand," she is not complimenting me as I originally thought, but rather in that secret code that all wives know was saying that I was a major screwup.

At first, I was a little upset by this. To think that my wife thought I was a screwup was a very hard to swallow. She did not say I was a screwup, but she laid all the groundwork for me to come to that awesome conclusion.

To know what you can do is important, but to know what you cannot do is more important. Every time I look at the screwdriver, I realize there are a whole lot of things that I cannot do. I need to focus on what I can do. That is the message of the screwdriver.

We have now come to a basic understanding in our house that when there is ever a project that needs fixing I will always look at my wife and say, "Would you like to borrow my screwdriver?"

I think the apostle Paul understood this when he wrote, "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall" (1 Corinthians 10:12).

I think the biggest compliment I could ever receive or give, for that matter, is what Paul is implying here. Simply put; think before you fall.

Dear Dr. Luauna — God answers prayer

Dear Readers,

have received many emails, letters, and phone calls from amazing people with heart gripping problems. Husbands whose wives have left them with children to raise, parents whose children are facing serious illness, others have received devastating reports from the doctor.

In the middle of a crisis, brokenness, or a horrendous unexpected trial what are you to do? It may seem like you're thrown off guard to hear someone say, "Let's pray." You may NOT even feel like praying.

In your darkest hour, and in your weakness, Jesus is your strength; He will carry you through the impossible. You may even feel like you're dying inside. First, you must understand the love of Jesus is far beyond our natural understanding. There is comfort in the Psalms, the songs of those who cried out to the Lord in their distress:

Psalm 30:10; Hear, O Lord, and have mercy on me; Lord, be my helper!

Psalm 32:7; You are my hiding place; You shall preserve me from trouble; You shall surround me with songs of deliverance.

God answers prayers, no matter what you go through, Jesus is waiting to help you in your time of trouble. I am reminded of Daniel who was thrown into a cave of hungry lions, because he was living in the palace of the Babylonian king, serving the government and the people. His enemies tried to pressure him, challenging him to compromise his faith in God. This was not his first trial, Daniel knew what to do because it was his custom, he cried out to God. In Daniel 6:22; the Lord came and closed the mouths of the lions, and gave him victory. His strength through the crisis led the king to believe in God; the Lord dealt with Daniel's enemies.

The Lord hears when we cry out to Him in prayer, just like when He delivered three Hebrew boys, captives in the Babylonian kingdom, from a fiery furnace. He caused water to flow out of a rock for over two million thirsty people, the children of Israel traveling across the middle of a hot desert to the Promised Land. God made the sun and the moon to stand still, until the victory was won in battle for Joshua when they went in to possess the Promised Land.

Jesus multiplied a few fish and a few loaves of bread to feed over five thousand hungry people. He heard a blind man cry out on the streets, and Jesus healed him and gave him his sight. Jesus met a woman at a well; He reached across the cultural barriers to give her a second chance, to give her a brand new canvas to start her life anew. Need a new start? Jesus is reaching out for you today!

Nothing is too hard for the Lord. When you are hardest hit, is when you mustn't quit! Run to Jesus, pray, cry out, He will hear you! How do I know? Through every crisis in my life, Jesus has never let me down. In the darkness of a trial, I lifted my hand to His, He carried me through. There is victory, there is healing, there is peace, there is hope, there is joy in every circumstance, hold onto Jesus! Align your life and faith in the One who has the power to change every situation for His glory. Read Psalm chapter 17, it is very powerful. You are loved!

Neurosurgeon recommends building muscle as best protection again 'the Disease of aging'

Offers 5 exercises for a solid strength-building regime

you want good health, a long life and to feel your best well into old age, the No. 1 most important thing you can do is strength-training, says Dr. Brett Osborn, author of "Get Serious, A Neurosurgeon's Guide to Optimal Health and Fitness," www. drbrettosborn.com

"Our ability to fight off disease resides in our muscles," Dr. Osborn says. "The greatest thing you can do for your body is to build muscle."

He cites a large, long-term study of nearly 9,000 men ages 20 to 80. After nearly 19 years, the men still living were those with the most muscular strength. (BMJ, formerly British Medical Journal, 2008).

Muscle is all protein – "nothing but good for you," Dr. Osborn says.

Laughter is the Best Medicine

Taxi driver

A taxi passenger tapped the driver on the shoulder to ask him a question.

The driver screamed, lost control of the car, nearly hit a bus, went up on the footpath, and stopped inches from a shop window.

For a second, everything was quiet in the cab. Then the driver said, "Look, mate, don't ever do that again. You scared the living daylights out of me!"

The passenger apologized and said, "I didn't realize that a little tap would scare you so much"

The driver replied, "Sorry, it's not really your fault. Today is my first day as a cab driver — I've been driving a funeral van for the last 25 years."

Fat, however, is an endocrine organ, meaning it releases hormones and other chemicals. When a person has excess fat, he or she also a disrupted flow of excess biochemicals, which can increase insulin resistance and boost risk factors for stroke and high blood pressure, among other problems.

"Increased cytokines, an immune system chemical, for example, are associated with increased risk for cardiovascular disease," Dr. Osborn says. "You're only as old as your arteries!"

Strength-training has health benefits for everyone, he adds, no matter their size.

"Some fat is visceral fat – it's stored around the organs and it's even more dangerous than the fat you can see," he says. "People who look thin may actually be carrying around a lot of visceral fat."

So, what's the workout Dr. Osborn recommends?

"Back to basics," he says. "These five exercises are the pillars of a solid training regime."

• The squat is a full-body exercise; it's the basic movement around which all training should be centered. Heavy squats generate a robust hormonal response as numerous muscular structures are traumatized during the movement (even your biceps). Standing erect with a heavy load on your back and then repeatedly squatting down will stress your body inordinately – in a good way -- forcing it to grow more muscle.

- The overhead press primarily activates the shoulders, arm extenders and chest. Lower body musculature is also activated as it counters the downward force of the dumbbell supported by the trainee. From the planted feet into the hands, force is transmitted through the skeletal system, stabilized by numerous muscular structures, most importantly the lower back.
- The deadlift centers on the hamstrings, buttocks, lumbar extensors and quadriceps, essentially the large muscles of your backside and the front of your thighs. As power is transferred from the lower body into the bar through the upper body conduit, upper back muscles are also stressed, contrasting with the squat, which is supported by the hands. Deadlifts are considered by some to be the most complete training exercise.
- The bench press mostly targets the chest, shoulders and triceps; it's the most popular among weightlifters, and it's very simple trainees push the barbell off the lower chest until the arms are straight. This motion stresses not only the entire upper body, but also the lower body, which serves a stabilizing function. This provides a big hormonal response and plenty of bang for your buck.

stress upper body musculature into the body. A pull-up is done when hands gripping over the bar; a chin-up is where hands are gripping under the bar. Nine out of 10 people cannot do this exercise because most simply haven't put in the effort. It's also been called a "man's exercise, which is nonsense," he says. There are no genderspecific exercises. Women, too, should aspire to enjoy the health benefits entailed with this pillar.

"There are no secrets to a strong and healthier body; hard work is required for the body that will remain vital and strong at any age," Osborn says. "Always practice proper form and safety. Otherwise, the result will be the opposite of your goal, an injury."

Brett Osborn is a New York University-trained, board-certified neurological surgeon with a secondary certification in anti-aging and regenerative medicine, Diplomate; American Bard of Neurological Surgery, Diplomate; American Academy of Anti-Aging Medicine. He holds a CSCS honorarium from the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

Arts are Alive!

What does the word art mean to you? Art is what someone does creatively to share their view of the world with other people. Their expressions may be shown through painting, drawing, poetry, dance, sculpture, acting, music or other art forms.

Music is the art of making sounds. It can be created by making sounds with your voice or by playing instruments. You can keep a piece of music "alive" by writing it down or recording it.

Dance is created by moving the body. Many of the actions or movements are repeated. People in all parts of the world enjoy dance. It is kept in memories and on film. It is passed on from one person to another.

Art lets us create using materials. Paint, charcoal, clay, paper and glue are just a few things you can use to share your ideas Free and express your feelings. Stuff!

LaDainian Tomlinson inducted into Breitbard Hall of Fame

s former Charger, and emcee for the evening, Jim Laslavic stepped up to the podium, he introduced a man who needs no introduction with a simple message. "When I think of class in the NFL, I think of two letters – LT"

With those words, LaDainian Tomlinson's induction into the San Diego Breitbard Hall of Fame was officially underway. A seminal figure in Chargers history and one of the most accomplished running backs the NFL has ever seen. LT is the Bolts' all-time leader in career touchdowns (153), rushing yards (12,490) and attempts (2,880). Spending nine seasons in San Diego, he was a five-time Pro Bowl selection, a four-time first-team All Pro Selection and was named both NFL MVP and Offensive Player of the Year in 2006. LT owns 53 NFL records, most notably his 31 touchdowns in a single season also set in 2006.

Already enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame, and expected to be a slam dunk first ballot inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame when eligible in 2017, Tomlinson explained why this particular honor into the Breitbard Hall of Fame is meaningful.

"I've always said San Diego is my professional home, and I became a man in this city," he explained. "I had to grow up fast coming here as a rookie not knowing anyone. Having to start all over and learn how to be a professional. So I really feel like tonight is about being honored in my professional home and being a San Diego Hall of Famer. It's a great honor."

Prior to his induction, Tomlinson emphasized the night was a reflection of everyone who played a part in his success, yet don't nearly get enough credit.

"Really for me, it's about all the people who have helped me get to this point," he said. "All the people that have sacrificed the time in the San Diego Chargers building – trainers, equipment managers, massage therapists –all the people who have helped me become the person I became, which is this Hall of Champions Hall of Famer. I think that's what tonight is about. There's really nothing special I want to say personally; I just want to say thank you."

Sure enough, LT spent a significant portion of his speech giving those individuals their proper dues, from members of the Chargers front office to those who helped train him away from Chargers Park. While he gets all the credit, he stressed how it wouldn't be possible without each and every one of them.

"There are people behind the scenes often times that are pushing us to be the person that we become," he said. "And I want to acknowledge some people tonight, because I believe tonight is all about the thank you's that I'm going to give out."

Tomlinson also grew emotional talking about the support of his wife, LaTorsha, whom he met in college. Married in 2003, she spent his entire journey by his side, so he began to end his speech by singling out her support.

Now that he's retired, that present has become a past chockfull of noteworthy memories. So which is his favorite?

"I think it has to be the touchdown record," he said. "To me, that was a Championship moment. The reaction of the fans, the reaction of my teammates and the reaction of the executives with the Chargers I'd seen jumping on the sideline up and down because of that record; I truly think if we had won a super bowl, I think it would have been similar to that moment. To that celebration."

'Focus'— has its moments

Review by James Colt Harrison

will Smith in the charm and charisma department in the comedy caper Focus? Maybe newcomer Margot Robbie. She does and she sears the edges of the film with her man-eating personality and sense of humor to rival Smith's well-known grasp of comedy. Robbie plays Jess, an amateur con-artist who is taken under the master con-artist's wing of Nicky Spurgeon (Smith).

Nicky is an accomplished con-artist/thief who almost meets his match in Jess. She's an amateur lifter of watches and wallets off unsuspecting tourists in New Orleans. Nicky looks a tad bored about all this, but he takes pity on Jess and decides to show her the ropes about big-time heists. Jess is all sparkly and enthusiastic and even funny in some scenes. Nicky has seen it all and is getting dangerously close to being world-weary about the whole thing. In this sense, Robbie has become the better actor over Smith and steals the picture right out from under the former box-office champ

Although Robbie is a native Australian, she captures an American accent with ease. Smith has that winning combination of appeal for both men and women. Supporting actors pop up who are, themselves, scene stealers. Asian actor B.D. Wong, always good whether on TV or film, plays Liyuan, a shady character with a big bruiser of a bodyguard (Steve Kim) who keeps him from getting rubbed out.

Comic foil Adrian Martinez plays Farhad, a bumbling character who adds laughs to the light-hearted film. I wish he had been used more.

The ultimate eye-magnet is veteran old-timer Gerald McRaney, who gained fame and popularity on the TV show Simon and Simon. Audiences cannot look away from him. Playing the nastiest of thugs, he chews the scenery, spits it out, and leaves Smith with egg on his face. McRaney's character of Owens plays a very significant part in Nicky's life, which isn't revealed at first. There won't be any spoilers here, but McRaney's thug proves the theory that what you see may not necessarily be what really is in front of you. He's terrific in his role and could be sighted for honors later in the year during the next awards season.

Getting back to Nicky and Jess finds them not only partners in crime, but partners in various luxurious hotel bedrooms as well, and really not unexpected. Unfortunately, Nicky shows boredom in the relationship and the two go in separate directions crime-wise. But fear not; their separation lasts only two or three years and they are back to planning new capers. Robbie plays her Jess character like a young girl merely out for an adventure. Nicky is more serious about the quality of his heists.

They move from New Orleans to Buenos Aires where the stakes are higher in the race car circuit. Latin star Rodgrigo Santoro plays an ace driver who is into nefarious professions that make additional money. We don't really get to know his character in depth, so we can't empathize with his plight in the crime game.

The scenes in Buenos Aries are colorful as many events take place in the arts colony which contains brilliantly hued houses overlooking the promenades. Cinematographer Xavier Grobet gingerly captures the bustling movement of colors in this dazzling district. Other technical kudos go to costume designer Dayna Pink for creating attire for Robbie that is barely there, and Production Designer Beth Mickel for bringing together two different design concepts in New Orleans and Buenos Aires, and finally to Nick Urata for creating custom music for the caper.

Focus is as light-hearted as a crime drama/comedy can be, so it's a pleaser. It's not the greatest movie ever made, but it's not the worst, either. As the cliché goes, it has its moments. Robbie, age 24, is definitely a find and should have a long career ahead of her. She's a stunner, that's for sure.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: FRANCES ELLA JAFFE

A Petition for Probate has been filed by JAMES JAFFE in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO. The Petition for Probate requests that JAMES

The Petition for Probate requests that JAMES JAFFE be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The Petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on March 19, 2015 at 1:30 pm in Dept. PC-2 located at 1409 4th Avenue, San Diego, CA 92101-3105 Central Division/Madge Bradley Building.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Noticeform is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner: Henry T. Rau, Rau Law Firm, 10435 Brooktree Terrace, San Diego,

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF GEORGE R. WALLS CASE NO. 37-2015-00005361-PR-LA-CTL ROA #: 1 (IMAGED FILE)

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: GEORGE

A Petition for Probate has been filed by DIANE J. PETERS in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO.

The Petition for Probate requests that DIANE J. PETERS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on 4/7/2015 at 11:00 a.m. in Dept. PC-1 located at 1409 4th Avenue, San Diego, CA 92101-3105 Central Division/Madge Bradley Building.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined ion 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner: Scott Cole, 8264 University Avenue, La Mesa, CA 91942, Telephone: (619) 460-2080 2/26, 3/5, 3/12/15

Rattlesnake Avoidance Training clinic for dogs

ne San Diego chapter of the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association (NAVHDA) is sponsoring a Rattlesnake Avoidance Training clinic for dogs March 28 at the Jamul Veterinary Hospital in Jamul.

Every year dogs are bitten by Rattlesnakes in San Diego County requiring vet bills that range from $1,500 to $5,000. Avoidance training teaches your dog to identify the sight, smell, and sound and thus stay away from Rattlesnakes. If you live near one of our canyons, or take your dog on hikes in the canyons or back country your dog could encounter a Rattlesnake. Avoidance training could save your dog's life.
