Landmark victory for Digital Privacy with SB 178

In a landmark victory for the electronic privacy rights of all Californians, Governor Jerry Brown today signed Senator Mark Leno's California Electronic Communications Privacy Act (CalECPA, SB 178). The bill, jointly authored by Senator Joel Anderson, R-Alpine, protects Californians against warrantless law enforcement access to private electronic communications such as emails, text messages and GPS data that are stored in the cloud and on smart phones, tablets, laptops and other digital devices. The bill passed both houses of the Legislature earlier this year with strong, bipartisan support.

"For too long, California's digital privacy laws have been stuck in the Dark Ages, leaving our personal emails, text messages, photos and smart-phones increasingly vulnerable to warrantless searches," said Senator Leno. "That ends today with the Governor's signature of CalECPA, a carefully crafted law that protects personal information of all Californians. The bill also ensures that law enforcement officials have the tools they need to continue to fight crime in the digital age."

SB 178 requires law enforcement to get a warrant before accessing an individual's electronic information and includes thoughtful exceptions for law enforcement to use in the event of emergencies and other public safety needs. A diverse coalition of the state's leading technology companies and civil rights organizations supported the bill, and California's statewide law enforcement groups helped ensure the bill provided important public safety protections. The bill is co-sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union of California, the Electronic Frontier Foundation and the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

"Senator Leno and I helped bridge the gap between progressives and conservatives to make the privacy of Californians a top priority this year," said Senator Anderson. "This bipartisan bill protects Californians' basic civil liberties as the Fourth Amendment and the California Constitution intended."

According to recent statewide polling, voters across all age groups, geographic regions and party affiliation are overwhelmingly concerned about their digital privacy. More than 80 percent of voters support requiring a warrant from authorities before they can access e-mail and Internet activity.

"Governor Brown just signed a law that says 'no' to warrantless government snooping of our digital information. This is a landmark win for digital privacy," said Nicole Ozer, Technology & Civil Liberties Policy Director at the ACLU of California. "We hope this is a model for the rest of the nation in protecting our digital privacy rights."

With Governor Brown's signature, California now joins states as diverse as Texas, Virginia, Maine, and Utah that have already updated their privacy laws for the digital age.

"California has led the nation in technological innovation for decades, and it's finally time for its digital privacy laws to catch up," said Lee Tien, Senior Staff Attorney at the Electronic Frontier Foundation. "Californians deserve warrant protection for their sensitive electronic communications."

CalECPA has support from Silicon Valley's major tech companies, including Google, Apple, Facebook and Twitter. Many of these companies have seen a dramatic rise in requests from law enforcement for consumer data in recent years. Google has seen a 180 percent jump in law enforcement demands for consumer data in the past five years. Last year, AT&T received 64,000 demands – a 70 percent increase in a single year. Verizon reports that only one-third of its requests had a warrant, and last year Twitter and Tumblr received more demands from California than any other state.

"This legislation has important privacy implications for all Californians," said Nikki Moore, Staff Attorney for the California Newspaper Publishers Association. "We are pleased CalECPA appropriately safeguards a newspaper's ability to gather and report news by protecting journalists and their sources from unwarranted surveillance."

San Diego County continues water-saving streak in September

The San Diego region recorded its fourth consecutive month of significant water-use reductions since state mandates started in June, decreasing urban potable water use by 26 percent in September compared to September 2013, according to preliminary numbers released today by the San Diego County Water Authority.

From June through September, regional water consumption dropped by 27 percent compared to the state's baseline period in 2013, beating the regional aggregate target of 20 percent. Conservation has allowed the Water Authority to store water locally for future use – a valuable asset should drought conditions continue into 2016 or beyond – and reduce purchases of imported water supplies.

September temperatures were about 7 degrees above average for the month, and water year 2015 – which ended Sept. 30 – was the warmest ever for California, according to the state Department of Water Resources. Current projections are for temperatures to remain above average statewide during the fall and winter, potentially making it harder to conserve water and making it harder to accumulate snowpack.

Climatologists also say there is a strong likelihood – 95 percent – that El Niño conditions will continue through the winter. El Niños often, but not always, deliver above-average rainfall to Southern California. Even if California gets substantial precipitation, it almost certainly will take more than one wet winter for California to emerge from the current drought, which is among the most severe in recorded history.

"The San Diego community keeps rising to the water conservation challenge despite exceptionally hot weather," said Mark Weston, chair of the Water Authority's Board of Directors. "It's critical for our region to maintain a leadership role in conservation as we enter the fifth year of drought. While we all hope that El Niño will produce more rain and snow in coming months, there's no guarantee that will happen where we need it most – in the Sierra Nevada and Rocky Mountains."

The State Water Resources Control Board has set mandatory conservation targets for Water Authority member agencies between 12 and 36 percent below 2013 levels. Those targets are scheduled to remain in place through February.

As a wholesale water agency, the Water Authority coordinates drought response actions for the region. The regional strategy centers on decreasing ornamental landscape irrigation first to minimize the economic disruption caused by cuts to water used by industrial, commercial and farming operations. Local water-use rules generally limit landscape watering to two days a week, while state rules prohibit landscape irrigation during, and for 48 hours after, measurable rain.

For information about water-use rules by community, along with details about drought conditions and conservation-related resources, go to www.whenindrought.org.

The San Diego County Water Authority is a public agency serving the San Diego region as a wholesale supplier of water from the Colorado River and Northern California. The Water Authority works through its 24 member agencies to provide a safe, reliable water supply to support the region's $218 billion economy and the quality of life of 3.2 million residents.

Tierra Del Sol Receives $5,000 Check

Elected Council women Bonnie LaChappa and Beth Glasco, dignitaries from the Barona Band of Mission Indians, with Senator Joel Anderson presented Tierra Del Sol Middle School Drama Department with a check for $5,000. The educational grant fund will help fund the purchase of new equipment for the drama department said drama teacher Kellie Riginti.

Senator Anderson participated in a mock class play taking the part of a student who has to make decisions right or wrong and the consequences of those decisions. The students enjoyed the senator being such a good sport.

The Barona Band of Mission Indians funds educational grants throughout the State of California.

Highest-achieving freshman class in SDSU history

The numbers are in and the new crop of freshmen at San Diego State University is again the highest-achieving in the history of the university.

Classes began on Aug. 24, but a complete census could not be taken until after the final add/drop deadline. Final numbers show that among the 5,142 first-time freshmen at the San Diego Campus, the average high school GPA remained steady at 3.69 with an average SAT score of 1118, up from 1115 the year before.

The incoming class is also highly diverse, 52.9 percent of first-time freshmen on the SDSU campus are students of color and 54.8 percent are women.

"Each year the academic strength of SDSU's incoming students is more impressive than the year before," said SDSU Provost and Senior Vice President Chukuka S. Enwemeka. "It's exciting to see all of the hard work that has gone into the university's strategic plan coming to fruition as we continue to advance student success, diversity and academic quality."

SDSU's one-year continuation rates also continue to climb with 89.8 percent of full-time freshmen from the 2014/15 academic year returning to campus, up from 88.2 percent for the 2013/2014 academic year.

The application pool was more competitive than ever before, with a record 82,000 undergraduate applications received for the 2015/16 academic year.

Graduate students

This semester, SDSU also welcomes 2,096 new graduate students, including 373 post baccalaureate students, 1,586 master's students and 137 doctoral students. The class includes three National Science Foundation Fellows, four international Fulbright Fellows, five campus Fulbright Fellows and 20 Presidential Graduate Research Fellows.

For more information on SDSU's enrollment statistics, visit the university's Analytic Studies and Institutional Research webpage.

Pittsburgh steels a win at the buzzer

San Diego Chargers Tight End Antonio Gates (85) catches a touchdown pass over Pittsburgh Steelers Safety Robert Golden (21) during the NFL football game between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the San Diego Chargers at Qualcomm Stadium. by Chuck Karaszia
 In a difficult loss for the (2-3) San Diego Chargers, the Pittsburgh Steelers improved their record to (3-2) winning on the last play of the game on the stage of Monday Night Football at Qualcomm Stadium.

To the delight of the largely populated orange towel waving Steelers fans and to the chagrin of the blue and gold clad Chargers fans, Steelers running back Le'Veon Bell scored the game winning touchdown on a strong second effort from a half-yard out as time expired on the game clock giving Pittsburgh a 24-20 victory.

Steelers QB Michael Vick subbing for the injured Ben Roethlisberger made some key plays using his legs and throwing arm to help secure the win in a back and forth pivotal fourth quarter.

Completing a 72-yard touchdown to WR Markus Wheaton at the expense of CB Brandon Flowers. It took the Steelers only 20 seconds to tie the score at 17 apiece after Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers threw his second TD pass in the game to Antonio Gates (101 career) in an eight-play 60-yard drive that consumed 5:50 of the fourth quarter.

The winning drive orchestrated by Vick came after a key Heyward-Bey 15-yard third down pass completion, a 24-yard Vick third down quarterback run, and a 16-yard pass to TE Heath Miller putting the ball at the one-yard line with five seconds left on the clock.

"He's (Vick) a talented player. We had a game plan going in there but didn't make enough plays," confided Bolts head coach Mike McCoy.

Gaining 155-yards rushing the ball, 111-yards of them to De'Veon Bell, McCoy said this about the Steelers star runner,

"He's an explosive great player that has great patience week in, week out."

The Chargers run defense continues to be their Achilles heel. Monday night it came back to bite them.

Starting out explosively San Diego's offense led by their ace starter QB Philip Rivers scored on their first possession. Tossing a 12-yard pass to his favorite target Antonio Gates caught the 100'th touchdown pass of his career in the first game played for him of the regular season after completing a four-game suspension. He later caught his 101'st in the fourth quarter. He led all Chargers receivers with nine catches.

"If you would have seen him in practice running around, he came back in phenomenal shape which is what you expect of a great player like that," quipped McCoy.

FOR HEALTH'S SAKE

Lutein: The antioxidant that protects your eyes and skin

Lutein, nicknamed “the eye vitamin,” is a type of carotenoid antioxidant that is most well-known for protecting eye health. Ask yourself this question: How many colors are in your favorite foods? The answer will tell you how much lutein you’re getting. Just like many other types of antioxidants, lutein is found in brightly colored foods like fruits and vegetables — especially leafy greens and types that are deep orange or yellow.

Along with another vision-boosting antioxidant called zeaxanthin, lutein is abundant in anti-inflammatory, cancer-fighting foods including kale, broccoli and many other green vegetables, eggs yolks and citrus fruits — all of which help protect the eyes from oxidative stress.

The average person who eats the Standard American Diet is likely running low in lutein, in addition to other important antioxidants. The human body cannot synthesize lutein or zeaxanthin on its own, which means we must obtain these important nutrients from our diet (or in some cases, supplements). You already know that filling up on plenty of fruits and veggies is good for you — and here’s just another example of why that is.

Although it’s best to get enough lutein naturally through a healthy diet high in anti-inflammatory foods, nutritional supplements or fortified foods and beverages can also be used by some people in order to help increase lutein levels. Are supplements really necessary to achieve benefits? Likely not, but overall we still have a way to go when it comes to understanding the full potential of lutein in terms of disease prevention, bioavailability, metabolism and dose-response relationships.

How does Lutein work?

When we eat foods with lutein or take lutein in supplement form, it’s believed to be pretty easily transported around the body, especially to the parts of the eyes called the macula and the lens. In fact, there are more than 600 different types of carotenoids found in nature, but only about 20 make their way into the eyes. Of those 20, lutein and zeaxanthin are the only two that are deposited in high quantities into the macular portion of the eyes.

The antioxidant abilities of lutein help to fight free radical damage caused by blue light or sun exposure, a poor diet and other factors that increase the risk of developing age-related vision loss or disorders like macular degeneration and cataracts. In the process, antioxidants like lutein protect healthy cells while halting the growth of malignant cells.

Within the eyes, one of the most important functions of the lens is to collect and focus light on the retina, which is exactly why the lens needs to remain “clear” and free from the cloudiness that is indicative of cataracts. The major reason the lens becomes cloudy is damage due to oxidation, which is why we need antioxidants to help neutralize free radicals.

Even in people who have existing eye damage, including plenty of lutein in their diet can help stop the condition from progressing and further damaging vision. But lutein isn’t just beneficial for older adults — taking preventative measures is the real key to preserving your vision and eye health. Both older and younger people should consume plenty of lutein in order to reduce the risk of oxidative damage that can lead to disorders down the road.

Although lutein and other carotenoids are extremely important for vision and your eyes, their benefits don’t stop there. Aside from protecting eyes, lutein is also used to help prevent skin disorders, several types of cancer including colon or breast cancer, type 2 diabetes and risk factors associated with coronary heart disease.

INSPIRATION

I'm so itchy I don't know where to start scratching

Dr. James L. Snyder

In our house, we have an ongoing debate. The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage claims I am the king of procrastination.

At first, I did not quite understand what she was talking about and asked if I could get back to her on that question.

She has the idea that I put things off until the last minute, then, according to her, I'm in a panic to get it done.

I am not saying she is right; she just might have a good point there. I'll get back to you on that.

Before I do anything, I like to give it plenty of thought, sit in my chair and meditate on that project until I really have it clearly developed in my mind from beginning to end.

The problem is my wife thinks my meditation is closer to taking a nap than meditation. She just does not understand the dynamics of meditation. Sure, when I am meditating on a project, it may seem like I am taking a nap.

It takes an awful lot of meditating on a subject for me to form a good plan. I like to know what I am going to do every step of the way and I do not like to get started until I have it completely fixed in my mind.

This is particularly true when it comes to the infamous "honey-do-list." Sometimes that list is so long and complicated I just do not know where to start. Starting, as you well know, is the first step in getting it done.

If you do not start a project right, it will not end up right. That is the argument I try to give to my wife who counters with, "The first step in doing the project is to start doing the project."

I am trying to get her to understand my "starting a project" begins with some deep meditation on that project. I cannot help it if that meditation period is comprehensive.

"Could it be," my wife suggested, "that you're so itchy you don't know where to start to scratch?"

Well, I could not have been more offended in my life.

When I am itchy I know when and where to scratch. In fact, right now I am getting a little itchy on the subject of procrastination. However, I will wait until tomorrow to do anything about it.

I must confess I do put things off at times. I learned one thing in life; sometimes when you put things off long enough, they do not need doing. I do not know how many times I tried doing something and by the time I got it done it was no longer necessary. I want to be very careful that what I start needs to be finished.

My wife, if you will permit me, is super ambitious. When a project comes to the forefront she wants to get it started and finished right away.

For example. Take Christmas shopping. When it comes to Christmas shopping for myself, I usually wait until Christmas Eve. That is the traditional time for me to do Christmas shopping. Then, if you shop on Christmas Eve and they run out of something you can always say, "I wanted to get you this, but they were all out at the time."

Not so for the other resident in the house. She begins Christmas shopping in the month of January. Yes, I said January!

Before we put away all the Christmas decorations she has prepared a list for next year's Christmas gifts. I really do not know how she does it. Even while people are opening their presents, she is thinking of what to get them next year.

Sitting around the Christmas tree opening our presents, I am literally amazed at some of the gifts. I never would have thought somebody would want the present my wife bought. They all thank her and are appreciative and do not know how she knows exactly what they want.

I well remember when we first got married and the first time I took her grocery shopping, I was stunned. I had never gone grocery shopping in my life.

We got a shopping cart and she began piling that shopping cart full of food. I noticed she had a two-page list of groceries that she needed to buy and little by little she cross them off.

When we got to the counter, we had a shopping cart and a half of groceries and the person behind the counter just stared with open mouth.

What my wife had done, and I have never seen it before, she bought groceries for the entire month. How did she know what we would be eating for a month?

Her motto is simply, "Never put off buying tomorrow what you can buy today."

As the cashier was ringing up the groceries, she would sneak a glance and smile at me. It finally dawned on me what she was smiling about. Not my good looks. But my checkbook that was going to have to pay for all of these groceries. I did not see that coming.

I was reminded of what Solomon said. "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun" (Ecclesiastes 1:9).

Procrastination never scratches where it really itches.

Dear Dr. Luauna — Examine yourself

Dear Readers,

A powerful verse: 2 Corinthians 13:5 Examine yourselves as to whether you are in the faith. Test yourselves. Do you not know yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you? — unless indeed you are disqualified.

As I travel out beyond the church walls to reach the unsaved, and even those who have become cold in heart towards Jesus, I meet many who haven't stepped into the church house for weeks and even years. Yet confess as I hand them a gospel tract, "Oh, yes, I'm fine with God." I find young and old men and women, rich and poor, black and white, every race today who confess they know Jesus, yet have they really examined themselves whether they are truly in the faith?

The Apostle Paul, by the Holy Spirit of the living God knew the Corinthian church needed to examine themselves to see if they were truly in the faith of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I'm reminded in the scriptures, of the great crowd who must have stood around the ark Noah was building. They knew it was made of Gopher wood, and held together tightly by pitch, and it could float indeed. Yet, did it really matter whether they knew how great and strong the ark was built? Was it not better they would have been in the ark?

You and I too must take time out and examine ourselves! As many know about Jesus, many even sing famous religious songs, sung throughout the globe. Songs like, "Amazing Grace," yet, that's all they know, the lyrics. They know not the one who they sing about. Like those who stood outside the ark, they knew it was a great boat and how it could float. Yet they missed out by not being in the ark when the rain came and flood gates of heaven were opened. How they longed and wished they would have been in the ark they knew so much about, but it was too late.

Paul tells us again in: 2 Corinthians 5:17; "Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new." It's in Him, Jesus, we live, move and have our being. If we only have religion, are we no better off than those who stood like the crowd who were looking at the wonderful, amazing, ark?

Let's not find ourselves just looking at the Cross, may we go through the cross to Jesus. Let us examine ourselves to see whether we're truly in the faith. Least we find ourselves like those in the time of John the Baptist who were so comfortable with man's religion; Luke 3:8: "Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, 'We have Abraham as our father.' For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones. And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire." So the people asked him, saying, "What shall we do then?"

The same question is asked today! "What SHALL we do?" Repent, and turn your hearts to Jesus, follow His Word, find a good Bible teaching church. A church which challenges you to read and pray so you can change daily, and prepare to stand before a Holy God. Look to JESUS, my dear readers; examine your hearts to see if you're truly in the faith of our wonderful Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. He loves you and so do I.

"For him to do what he did tonight doesn't shock me at all. Because the true pro that he is. The way he works, the way he prepares. He's the best in the business."

Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers in a valiant effort completed 35-of-48 for 365-yards, 2TD's. The one ball he threw errantly to Steelers CB Antwon Blake was returned 70-yards for a pick six. This was a costly, pivotal play in the game.

"It's never fun losing a football game regardless of what the score is. You work so hard to do so many things. You only get so many opportunities week in week out," said McCoy.

"Got to rebound in a hurry. Going on a short week on the road against a really good football team. So we got to put this one behind us and get going," said the Chargers head coach.

The team will be going to Wisconsin to play the (5-0) Green Bay Packers Sunday. Kickoff is 1:25 p.m.

At midnight, October 9, Viejas Casino & Resort officially opened the newly expanded section of their gaming floor, including the addition of 1,000 all new slot machines. The 15,000 square foot expansion includes a new state-of-the-art promotion stage and open access to an ultramodern escalator bank that leads to their new hotel tower, opening later this month.

"This marks the first step in our most ambitious plan of growth to date," said Viejas Tribal Chairman Robert Welch. "The ongoing development of Viejas continues to resonate in many positive ways for the San Diego area, both economically and in establishing a strong foundation for the future of our culture."

Thousands of guests were in attendance for the opening of the expanded casino. VIP guests were treated to a preview earlier in the evening, which included entertainment and complimentary hors d'oeuvres. On October 30, the central feature of the year-long development culminates with the grand opening of Viejas' second luxury hotel tower. The event will commence with a ribbon cutting ceremony, which features a thrilling tight-rope performance by Tino Wallenda of the world-famous Flying Wallendas. The new hotel tower will then be opened for guest tours.

Regarding the opening of the casino expansion, General Manager Chris Kelley stated, "This enhancement of Viejas Casino is the result of the hard work and commitment of hundreds of team members and skilled workers, dedicated to producing an outstanding experience for all of our guests."

Since the opening of their first hotel tower in 2013, Viejas Casino & Resort has been awarded AAA Four Diamond status consistently every year.

Located at I-8 and Willows Road east of San Diego, the AAA Four Diamond Viejas Casino & Resort features world-class gaming with thousands of slot machines, exciting table games that include Blackjack, Baccarat, and Pai Gow, a modern and elegant bingo room, and an off-track betting facility. Viejas Casino & Resort also features a variety of restaurants including the AAA Four Diamond Grove Steakhouse, The Buffet, and The Café. The beautiful Viejas

'The Walk' — a solid hair-raising thrill

Review by James Colt Harrison

It's not exactly a walk in the park, but it is a stroll you'll never forget. Director Robert Zemeckis has taken a real-life incident in The Walk and turned it into a spine-tingling adventure and thriller of an unconventional kind. It's also a career-making role for Joseph Gordon-Levitt, an actor who has been waiting in the wings for a star-making film.

French aerialist Philippe Petit Gordon-Levitt is a man who has had his dreams come true. A high-wire star in Europe, Petit had one great dream, and that was to walk a wire between the two World Trade Center towers in 1974. Naturally, it was illegal and he knew he would never get a permit to do it. He had to resort to skulduggery and nefarious schemes to pull off the biggest high-wire coup in history.

Turning to his mentor Papa Rudy (Oscar® winner Ben Kingsley), once King of the High Wire himself, Petit seeks advice and the old man's wisdom. Kingsley exudes authority in his usual take-charge way, and gives a convincing performance. When Kingsley is on the screen, nobody else seems to matter.

Petit gathered up friends and fellow plotters to overcome enormous odds and road blocks. His pal, Albert (Ben Schwartz), is terrified of heights but pitches in anyway. He's quite funny in his portrayal of a character who shrinks from heights but is compelled to help his friend -- by covering his eyes.

Gordon-Levitt must, of course, feign a French accent and, for the most part, accomplishes it with such a likeable demeanor we don't realize the off-kilter tones. He grasps his role and dives right in, metaphorically speaking. He has the taught, muscular build required and the grace to appear like a ballet swan on the wire. He is completely believable as a high-wire artist and draws us in with his humor and style.

Director Zemeckis is a master film-maker and story-teller (Forest Gump, Back to the Future, Cast Away). He has taken what is essentially a one-trick pony of a story and fleshed it out to make it compelling and gripping. Planning the walk, getting the equipment ready, throwing a line across from one tower to the other, and tightening "the screws" make for a fascinating narrative. Not once will your attention be diverted.

The ground breaking special effects and the use of the 3D and IMAX cameras by brilliant cinematographer Dariusz Wolski make it all seem so real I could swear that Gordon-Levitt is actually 1,300 feet in the air walking the wire between the two towers. That's what makes it so real and scary and gives us goosebumps.

Zemeckis has created another hit in his repertoire by creating a fascinating and never dull film about an historic event that held the world captive. Joseph Gordon-Levitt emerges as a major leading man with this role and he should be receiving acting accolades come Oscar® time.

- Janet

Nana's Jam-Jams

What You Need

- 3/4 c butter, softened
- 1 1/2 c brown sugar, lightly packed
- 2 eggs
- 2 c unbleached white flour
- 1/2 tsp baking soda
- 1/2 tsp baking powder
- 1 pinch salt
- 1 tsp vanilla
- 1 jar raspberry jam

Directions

- Preheat oven to 350.
- In your stand mixer, cream butter and sugar.
- Once creamed, add eggs. Continue to beat until smooth and very creamy.
- In a separate bowl, sift together flour, baking soda, baking powder, and salt.
- Once combined, gradually add into the cream mixture. Mix well. Add in vanilla.
- Roll dough into small balls, place on prepared cookie sheet (parchment paper lined). Then flatten with the bottom of a cup coated in powdered sugar.
- Bake for about 10-12 min. You want them to be a light golden brown. If you prefer a crispier cookie, bake for 13-14 min.
- Spread raspberry jam over cookies while they are still warm. Press another cookie on top.
- Nana wrote in her original recipe to hide 5 if you want any for yourself. They go quick!

The Hit Men offer 'Time Travel' for fans of all ages

The Hit Men will perform at Sycuan Live & Up Close on Sunday, Oct. 18. Photo courtesy

All-Star Rock & Rollers blend thrilling performances with behind-the-scenes stories

No one captures the spirit of classic hits from the 1960s, '70s and '80s like The Hit Men ... because they helped make those hits happen.

Since coming together in November 2010, this incomparable quintet has made songs by Frankie Valli & The Four Seasons, Elton John, Sting, Carly Simon, Carole King, Tommy James & The Shondells, Barry Manilow and many other superstars come to life like no other group.

The reason is simple: The Hit Men are great players, world-class entertainers — and, most important, unlike any so-called “tribute band,” they were there when these songs were recorded. Their licks, their solos, their grooves and their harmonies are embedded into the music and essential to the sound of these records that millions would come to love.

Meet The Hit Men Sizzle Reel: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EBMiUobU2Ds&list=PLznBYFEX2nvZzwMviQpMfUNxfj6fU9bw&index=1>

Keyboardist and group founder Lee Shapiro, lead guitarist/vocalist Jimmy Ryan, bassist/vocalist Larry Gates, vocalist Russ Velazquez and drummer Gerry Polci — the lead singer on The Four Seasons' biggest smash, “Oh What A Night” — deliver sizzling shows that combine live music, eye-popping videos and reminiscences born from their witnessing and making musical history as it happened. Audiences are stunned by the group's performances of “Crocodile Rock,” “You're So Vain,” “Let's Hang On,” “Sherry” and “Who Loves

You,” (amongst many others) and consistently come back to see The Hit Men perform time after time.

As just one of many examples, Shapiro has told the true story behind how the title and focus of “Oh What A Night” changed at the last minute before the vocal tracks were cut. “We hated it,” he recalls. “Here we are, a bunch of young guys being The Four Seasons in the '70s, telling Bob Gaudio, who had a million hits and made zillions of dollars, that we didn't like the lyric. He wasn't happy at all, but he went back and rewrote it based on our input. He could have ignored us but he didn't. And as a result of that conversation, it ended up selling multi millions of copies.”

What exactly did Shapiro and his colleagues suggest? The answer to that question alone is worth the price of admission to any Hit Men appearance.

They've also been lauded for improvising an acoustic show rather than waiting out a power failure at Isothermal Community College and even renting a van and battling their way to an engagement at Brunswick Community College when Hurricane Sandy forced cancellation of their flight.

Whether rocking venues as an eight piece band (five Hit Men members with three horn players,) or performing their own arrangements, the Hit Men consistently deliver the musical goods. In addition to their regular tour schedule, the group have created a Christmas show called “Tis The Seasons” and written a cadre of symphonic arrangements which they perform with pop orchestras and symphonies across country.

The Hit Men offer something no other act can promise. “We sell time travel and youth,” says Shapiro. “And we guarantee that you will leave younger and happier than when you arrived.”

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Christine L. Dawson, Christine L. Bishop, Christine L. Browning. A Petition for Probate has been filed by Kimberlie Swartz in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO. The Petition for Probate requests that Kimberlie Swartz be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The Petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court on OCTOBER 22, 2105 at 1:30 P.M. in Dept. PC-2 located at 1409 4th Avenue, San Diego, CA 92101-3105 Central Division/Madge Bradley Building. If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Attorney for Petitioner: Thomas C. CITY OF EL CAJON

REVISED NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The El Cajon City Council will hold a public hearing at 3:00 p.m., Tuesday, October 27, 2015 (instead of 7:00 p.m. as previously advertised) in City Council Chambers, 200 Civic Center Way, El Cajon, CA for the following item:

AMENDMENT OF EL CAJON MUNICIPAL CODE – ZONING CODE OMNIBUS UPDATE (CITYWIDE). This is a City-initiated proposal to amend Title 17 (Zoning) of the El Cajon Municipal Code to address the need for minor technical changes to improve clarity and consistency. Notable among the proposed changes are edits to the Zoning Code elimination of obsolete land use categories; modifications to the land use tables to reduce permit review levels; creation of a Minor Use Permit to provide an administrative review process for uses that are minor in nature and, have generally no impact on surrounding uses; and the creation of performance standards for microbreweries. The draft amendments are posted to the City's website at: <http://cityofelcajon.us/home/showdocument?id=4642> and available for review at the Planning Group office, 200 Civic Center Way El Cajon, CA.

The public is invited to attend and participate in this public hearing. The agenda report for this project will be available 72 hours prior to the meeting of the City Council at <http://cityofelcajon.us/your-government/calendar-meetings-list>. To download a copy, click the current agenda – full version link, then the agenda item. In an effort to reduce the City's carbon footprint, paper copies will not be provided at the public hearings, but will be available at the Planning Group and City Clerk counters upon request.

If you challenge the matter in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice or in written correspondence delivered to the Council at, or prior to, the public hearing. The City of El Cajon encourages the participation of disabled individuals in the services, activities, and programs provided by the City. Individuals with disabilities who require reasonable accommodation in order to participate in the public hearing should contact the Planning Group at 619.441.1742. More information about planning and zoning in El Cajon is available at <http://cityofelcajon.us/your-government/departments/community-development/planning-division>.

If you have any questions, or wish any additional information, please contact Lorena Cordova at 619.441.1539 or via email at lcordova@cityofelcajon.us and reference "Zoning Code Amendments" in the subject line.

Pet of the Week — Henry

"Hello, friends. My name is BABAR. Like Babar the Elephant, I, too, went on an adventure. I wish I'd been able to find my way back home, like he did. I'd like to tell you a little bit about myself, then maybe you'll want to come visit me and get to know me better. I'm a very handsome pit bull/Mastiff mix, and I'm about eight years old. I have a mellow demeanor and an easy-going temperament. I have an impressively large Mastiff head, and some good-looking markings on my chest. My amber-colored eyes are soft and loving. I'd need to have a yard in my new home, and I'd love to go on a daily walk. I've already been house trained, and I'm very well-mannered. I sit on command and I don't jump up on people because I'm a good boy! I'd do best in a home with older kids who'll treat me with respect and kindness, and I'd do best as the only dog in my new home. Also, MY ADOPTION FEE IS ONLY $30. That includes my microchip, neuter surgery, and current basic shots. I sure hope you'll stop by the El Cajon Animal Shelter to meet me. They've got a great play yard here where we can hang out and get better acquainted. Love, Babar" Kennel #49
